PREFACE

DEAR CLASSMATES:

IT is with a great deal of pleasure that I submit this second report of the Class. Unfortunately I cannot take any credit for the efficient work which has been done, as I have been in New York for the last two months. Its issuance is due to the Harvard Alumni Association and to George Meyer, who shouldered the entire responsibility in my absence. To him I owe my sincere thanks and to him all credit is due.

The failure to issue this report a year ago was disappointing in that it was due to the lack of coöperation on the part of the Class. So many men failed to respond at all that it was decided to postpone publication until a more complete record could be compiled. Every effort was made this year to get in touch with the men and in those instances where no answer was received we gathered whatever information we could in order that no man might be listed as "Lost." I do not believe that any man intentionally neglects to answer our communications, but I do wish every man would realize that it is only by his individual interest that the unity of our Class is maintained. You can be of great assistance by coöperating in the following way:

First: Answer all communications when you receive them, thus saving not only time and trouble, but the expense of double postage and printing.

Second: Acquire the habit of dropping me a postcard from time to time advising me of any change of address or occupation, of any marriage, or enlistment, etc., which you may happen to know of.

I sincerely trust that you will see the advantage which would be derived by carrying out these two suggestions, and I shall hope to receive frequent communications from you all.

. . . . . .

This is a time when we realize more than ever how deep are our friendships. We will ever cherish the names of Harry Byng and Victor Chapman, who died on the Field of Honor, and as a united Class we should try to live up to the ideals which we have laid down for ourselves as individuals.

WALTER TUFTS, JR.,
Secretary.

TREASURER'S REPORT

To the Members of the Class of 1913:

YOUR Treasurer begs to submit the following as his second report, covering all receipts and expenditures from January 1, 1914, to April 1, 1917, together with the auditor's statement.

The Class has, as a whole, responded most promptly and generously to the notices sent them. A number of men have already paid their entire pledges in advance, thus rendering a valuable favor to the Class and materially lessening the work and cost of collection. Still, a good many members are behindhand with one or more payments, and with the expense of the Second Report coming immediately, it is essential that all payments be brought up to date if the Class is to meet its obligations without withdrawing invested funds. The condition of payments to date may be briefly summarized as follows: roughly $2500 is due yearly for five years on the pledges signed by the Class. $300 remains unpaid for 1913, $750 for 1914 and over $1,100 for 1915. Owing to the expenses which the Reunion incurred on many members of the Class, notices for payments due were not sent out last June.

Such notices of payments due for last year and for 1917 will have been issued by the time this Report appears, and it is earnestly urged that every member give these notices his immediate attention. Owing to the increase in the cost of paper and labor, the Second Report will cost more than was anticipated and this Report must be paid for at once.

A number of men did not feel able to pledge anything to the Class Fund while in College. Any of these who now wish to help in the support of the Class are reminded that any gift will be welcome.

The items enumerated in the Treasurer's report are largely self-explanatory, with the possible exception of those dealing with Class insurance. The receipts under this head represent 50% of the commissions on the policies and go as a gift to the Class. They were turned over to the Old Colony Trust Company, which is trustee for insurance money, for investment, and hence appear also as an expenditure. The other expenses cover attorney's fee for work done in the final adjustment of the insurance, and several premiums which were paid by the Treasurer, with the advice and consent of the sub-committee of the Class Committee appointed to deal with insurance matters, on policies which would otherwise have lapsed after two payments and have been entirely lost to the Class. By paying the third premiums on these, the Class is assured of the cash surrender value of the policies and the money so expended constitutes a profitable investment.

In closing my report, I wish to personally thank the Class for their courteous attention to my notices.

Respectfully submitted,

WM. M. E. WHITELOCK,

Treasurer.

April 6, 1917.

AUDITOR'S STATEMENT

MARLBOROUGH, MASS.,
April 10, 1917.

HARVARD CLASS OF 1913,

Gentlemen: At the request of your Treasurer, Mr. Wm. M. E. Whitelock, I have examined the books of your Class for the period ending April 2, 1917, as follows:

I have verified the footings of the Cash Book and Ledger and checked the postings from the Cash Book to the Ledger.

I have verified the footings in the Cheque Books, checked the deposits from the Bank Statements to the Cheque Books, checked the payments from the Cash Book to the Cheque Books and to the Cheques and find all payments supported by endorsed Cheques.

I have reconciled the Bank Account, and the Cash Balance April 2, 1917, $1,187.00, is deposited in the Metropolitan Trust Co., Boston, as per their statement.

The Receipts and Expenditures, Assets and Liabilities as per the books are given on the following pages.

(signed) C. B. RUSSELL.

AAB

Born at Bangkok, Siam, July 25, 1893.
Parents: Moen Rong Pugdi, Sut Aab.
School: Wat Tepsirin (Tutor), Bangkok, Siam.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Degrees: S.B. 1913; A.M. 1914.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Unknown.
Address: Talat, Samsen, Bangkok, Siam.

AAB wrote as follows about a year ago:

IT is some time since I left America and I feel as if I had been away three times as long. This country is altogether different from the United States and I find it somewhat difficult to take in Siamese ways now. There is not much in the line of amusement. There are only a few good theatres and few very good moving-picture houses. The social life of the people is not on a free basis as in America. There is, however, court life which America has not, but this is limited to titled men. The women hardly have any show in the social gatherings, and worst of all, boys and girls are never allowed to be together on any occasion.

"This letter was nearly finished when I got an order to proceed to the interior of the country, and I have been cut off from communication till now, so am mailing this to you to-day. I am still away from Bangkok, but will be back soon."

ALFRED TAUSSIG ABELES

Born at St. Louis, Mo., July 22, 1891.
Parents: Julius David, Emilie (Taussig) Abeles.
School: Smith Academy, St. Louis, Mo.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.

Occupation: Automobile Supplies.
Address: (home) 2 West 16th St., New York, N. Y.; (business) The Motor Car Equipment Co., 19 West 62d St., New York, N. Y.

I HAVE had a most uneventful history since leaving College in 1913. In the fall of that year I landed in New York with aspirations for a commercial career. My brother, James A. Abeles, '03, was purchasing agent for The Motor Car Equipment Co., and when his offer to take me off the streets came, I lost no time in grasping the opportunity that the automobile field then offered. James A. Abeles, '03, is now vice-president, Clifford Abeles, '08, is secretary and treasurer, and I am somewhere down at the bottom of the heap as assistant sales manager.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of New York.

CHARLES TAUSSIG ABELES

Born at St. Louis, Mo., July 22, 1891.
Parents: Julius David, Emilie (Taussig) Abeles.

Degrees: A.B. 1913; LL.B. 1916.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Lawyer.
Address: (home) 4140 Washington Boul., St. Louis, Mo.; (business) 1400 Central National Bank Bldg., St. Louis, Mo.

TOOK the three year course at the Harvard Law School. In the summer of 1914 went to England as coxswain of the Union Boat Club crew which raced at Henley. Have been practising law with the firm of Boyle and Priest in St. Louis since August, 1916.

MEMBER: University Club of St. Louis, and Harvard Club of Boston.

JAMES DONALD ADAMS

Born at New York, N. Y., Sept. 24, 1891.
Parents: James, Mary Louise (Barron) Adams.
School: Townsend Harris Hall, New York, N. Y.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Newspaper Man.
Address: 336 Benefit St., Providence, R. I.

IMMEDIATELY after Commencement, I went West and spent the summer working with the United States Geological Survey in the woods of western Washington. From September, 1913, to February, 1915, I taught English in the University of Washington at Seattle. In the spring of 1915, I returned to the East, and worked as a reporter, first on the New Bedford Standard and later on the Providence Journal. I left the Journal in September, 1916, and joined the staff of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. I have recently came back to the Providence Journal on general assignment work.

WILLIAM BRADFORD ADAMS

Born at Springfield, Mass., July 31, 1890.
Parents: William Frederick, Jennie (Strong) Adams.
School: Central High School, Springfield, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Medical Student.
Address: (home) 51 Mulberry St., Springfield, Mass.; (business) Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, Mass.

SINCE leaving College I have been attending the Harvard Medical School. I was elected secretary-treasurer of my class the second and fourth years. In April, 1917, I start an appointment as house officer at the Massachusetts General Hospital.

ROBERT MICHAEL AHERN

Born at Roxbury, Mass., Dec. 3, 1890.
Parents: Michael, Josephine Mary (Regan) Ahern.
School: Boston Latin School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Assistant Chemist.
Address: (home) 101 Day St., Jamaica Plain, Mass.; (business) Room 1104, City Hall Annex, Boston, Mass.

IMMEDIATELY after my graduation in 1913, I accepted a position as chemist with the Perfection Filler Company of Somerville, a company organized to manufacture a substitute for air in pneumatic automobile tires. I remained with that firm about a year, and then accepted the position of assistant chemist to the Bureau of Milk Inspection of the City of Boston, in which position I am at present.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of Boston.

THOMAS EVERETT ALCORN

Born at Hazardville, Conn., Aug. 28, 1890.
Parents: William Hamilton, Amy Sarah (Ryan) Alcorn.
School: Central High School, Springfield, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Atlas Powder Co.
Address: (home) Hazardville, Conn.; (business) Scottdale, Pa.

AFTER graduation I spent a few very pleasant weeks in Maine and then started work August 1, with the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Powder Company at their eastern laboratory in Gibbstown, N. J. From there I went on to the Repauno plant located at the same place. In July, 1914, I went with the Atlas Powder Company at their plant at Webb City, Mo., leaving there when transferred to a plant at Tamaqua, Pa., in July, 1916. I stayed there until December. At that time I was transferred again to a plant for the manufacture of blasting caps at Scottdale, Pa., where I am located at present.

EDWARD BARTLETT ALLEN

Born at New Bedford, Mass., Dec. 28, 1889.
Parents: James Wood, Annie (Bartlett) Allen.

Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913 (1914).
Unmarried.
Occupation: Insurance.
Address: (home) 28 Lincoln St., New Bedford, Mass.; (business) 32 Merchants Bank Bldg., New Bedford, Mass.

I WORKED in and about cotton mills for nearly two years. Since then I have been with the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company of Boston, assisting in the investigation and adjustment of claims arising under the Workman's Compensation Act.

HENRY TUREMAN ALLEN, Jr.

Born at West Point, N. Y., Aug. 11, 1889.
Parents: Henry Tureman, Dora (Johnston) Allen.
School: St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: S.B. 1913.

Unmarried.
Occupation: Packing Business.
Address: (home) c/o Col. H. T. Allen, War Department, Washington, D. C.; (business) Waycross Packing Plant, Waycross, Ga.

THE summer of 1913 after graduation I spent working as an engineer in the coal mines at McRoberts, Ky. When College opened in the fall I returned and entered the Graduate Mining School, taking a year's course there.

In 1914, I returned to McRoberts, where I remained till the fall of 1915, when on account of ill health I was forced to join my family at Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga.

I spent the winter and spring in Georgia, and among other things attended the Summer Training Camp at Ft. Oglethorpe for the month of May. The summer and fall of 1916 were spent in Washington, D. C.

On the first of the present year I came to Waycross, Ga., which I have made my home, and am associated with the Waycross Packing Plant.

FLOYD HENRY ALLPORT

Born at Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 22, 1890.
Parents: John Edward, Nellie Edith (Wise) Allport.
School: Glenville High School, Cleveland, O.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913 (1914).
Unmarried.
Occupation: Student.
Address: (home) 344 Overlook Pk., Cleveland, O.; (business) 35 Holyoke House, Cambridge, Mass.

THE summer of 1913 I spent helping my father, who was engaged in organizing and promoting companies for various kinds of business. I then taught English to freshmen, sophomores, and juniors at Glenville High School, the alma mater of my youth. Nearly all the old teachers were there, and some of them still called me by my first name in the presence of my pupils. One can't stay young and keep good discipline in a class of adolescent boys, so I changed back to business.

During the next summer I filled the role of publicity manager in a Hospital Campaign in Barberton, Ohio, where we raised $66,000. For a year following I pursued the hospital game as assistant to my father. The work was useful, instructive and pleasant.

As soon, however, as the ennui of my four or five years' academic life had worn off, I realized that mixed with the wild, adventurous spirit of youth I had a sober, scientific propensity. I remembered how psychology had fascinated me in the good, old days, so I came back to be one of those unspeakable fossils known as "graduate students." My first year of it was agreeable and reasonably successful. The second year of my progress toward the coveted Ph.D. finds me still contented, though rapidly developing, I fear, into a scientific recluse. To forestall becoming a hermit crab I took the military fever when it struck old Harvard, and am now adding to my burdens the duties of a raw recruit in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps. Whether I can wear down the rough edges sufficiently to get a commission remains to be seen.

Publications: "An Elementary Laboratory Course in Psychology," (written in collaboration with Prof. H. S. Langfeld, Harvard) Houghton-Mifflin & Co., Oct., 1916; "The Psychology of the Raw Recruit," (expected at present date to appear in The Harvard Illustrated about March 21, 1917).

✝ Harold Penn Updegraff Alsop

Born at Pittsburgh, Pa., April 13, 1889.
Parents: Edward Brown, Emma Hester (Hussey) Alsop.
School: St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Degree: A.B. 1913 (1912).
Unmarried.
Died at Washington, D. C., Dec. 10, 1914.

HOWARD COOLIDGE AMEE

Born at Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 15, 1891.
Parents: John, Jennie Robinson (Teele) Amee.
School: Cambridge Latin School, Cambridge, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–14.
Unmarried.
Address: 172 Hancock St., Cambridge, Mass.

[No report of his doings since leaving College was received. Ed.]

WILLIAM MAX APPLEBAUM

Born at Slavuta, Russia, March 28, 1890.
Parents: David, Bella (Sigilman) Applebaum.
School: Boston English High School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: S.B. 1913.

Married: Rose Miller, Roxbury, Mass., March 25, 1917.
Occupation: Attorney.
Address: (home) 852 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.; (business) 1040 Old South Bldg., Boston, Mass.

ENTERED the New England Dye House, working as manager there. At the same time I entered the Boston Y. M. C. A. Law School, studying evenings. Continued in dye house until April, 1914, and left the evening law school at the same time. Did practically nothing until the following fall when I entered the Boston University Law School, where I have been since then. I, during that time, delivered newspapers in the Back Bay as I had done ten years previous. I passed the Massachusetts Bar Examinations in December, 1916, but continued the Law School work, from which I expect a degree of Bachelor of Laws in June, 1917.

WILLIAM BIGELOW APPLETON

Born at Newton Highlands, Mass., July 2, 1891.
Parents: Samuel, Ma Belle (Spring) Appleton.
School: Boston Latin School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Principal, High School.
Address: (home) 46 Leamington Rd., Brighton, Mass.; (business) River St., Milford, Conn.

IN the fall of 1913 I accepted a position as instructor in the science department of the Norwalk High School, South Norwalk, Conn. Besides performing my duties as a science instructor I also served in the capacity of athletic director. Both of these positions I held for two years with more or less success. The thing which surprised me the most was the fact that my last football team completed a hard schedule without a defeat. Having had no football experience whatsoever I simply had to rely upon Harvard Spirit and this proved sufficient.

I decided not to accept a third term at Norwalk and came to Milford as Principal of the High School. I am now completing my second year here and also my second year as Treasurer of the Southwestern Connecticut Interscholastic Athletic League.

MEMBER: Connecticut Harvard Club and Headmasters Association of Connecticut.

LELAND ASHER ARNOLD

Born at Mt. Vernon, O., June 23, 1891.
Parents: Edward Oscar, Elizabeth (Tudor) Arnold.
School: Mt. Vernon High School, Mt. Vernon, O.
Years in College: 1912–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Occupation: Organist and Teacher of Pianoforte.
Address: 44 Fuller St., Brookline, Mass.

RETURNED to Harvard for graduate work in the autumn of 1913, remaining for a half-year. Studied piano in London in 1914 under Tobias Matthay.

Am now organist and choirmaster at the Broadway Baptist church in Cambridge, and have private piano pupils in Brookline, Boston, and Winchester.

Am director in the Madame Schard School for Girls in Brookline, Mass., a private school for girls similar to Winsor School, and one of the prime movers in its organization — incorporated in December, 1913.

Am Secretary of Longfellow Birthplace Association of Boston, formed to preserve the birthplace of Longfellow in Portland, Maine.

PERRY GWYNNE MORE AUSTIN

Born at Oakland, Cal., Dec. 28, 1888.
Parents: Charles Perry, Isabelle (More) Austin.
School: Morristown School, Morristown, N. J.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A. B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Student.
Address: (home) Roxborough, Philadelphia, Pa.; (business) St. Timothy's Church, Roxborough, Philadelphia, Pa.

MY first year out of College was spent in work at Phillips Brooks House as Assistant Graduate Secretary. The insight gained from that year together with four summer months following which were spent at hard, sweating, farm work in Canada have made the course in this Seminary full of living interest.

On reaching the General Theological Seminary in New York I found four '13 men: Cyril Harris, Taggart Steele, Charles T. Webb, and Arthur Snowdon. These men (excepting Snowdon who left for other work) were ordained last spring and are now widely separated in their work, Harris and Webb being in Michigan and Steele in Philadelphia. The common experience of four years at Harvard, in this school where many colleges and countries are represented, greatly strengthened the powerful bond that comes to men in a professional school.

The summer of 1915 meant a trip West. In August the Associated Harvard Clubs met in San Francisco — at the World's Fair. Not the least showing was made by our own Class, for at the dinner were twelve men from '13. This included Pop Lowry who came all the way from Honolulu, also eastern men who came on the Harvard chartered boat The Finland.

I would like to say in one last sentence that after three years of hard work one thing is plain: there is more in Christian faith and life than I ever thought there could be, and though there is nothing in the ministry for a man but a ringing challenge to service yet I wish I had a hundred lives instead of one to put into it.

HAMILTON VAUGHAN BAIL

Born at Dorchester, Mass., Feb. 3, 1892.
Parents: William George, Marietta King (Palmer) Bail.
School: Boston Latin School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Sales Department of Aluminum Company of America.
Address: (home) 60 Sagamore St., Dorchester, Mass.; (business) 120 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

AFTER spending the summer following graduation as one of the instructors at the Engineering Camp, I started my real work with the Aluminum Company of America in one of their mills at New Kensington, Pa. I was in the mill as an apprentice for somewhat less than a year and then in the General Sales Office at Pittsburgh for a few months. In December, 1914, I was transferred to the New York Office of the Company where I have since been located. My life has been very calm and unexciting except for the six months I have just spent on the Mexican border helping to win "bloodless victories." I served as a corporal in Troop B, Squadron A, New York Cavalry. I quite believe in military duty and so have obtained a commission in the Corps of Engineers in the Officers' Reserve Corps.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of New York Society of Colonial Wars, Squadron A Club, and Harvard Engineering Society of New York.

JOHN REA BAKER

Born at Beallesville, Pa., May 16, 1891.
Parents: James Robinson, Jane (Pry) Baker.
School: Williamsport High School, Williamsport, Pa.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913 (1914).
Unmarried.

Occupation: Gas Engineer.
Address: (home) 199 North Main St., Fall River, Mass.; (business) Fall River Gas Works Co., 145 North Main St., Fall River, Mass.

I HAVE been in the employ of the Stone and Webster Management Association, being located at Boston, Haverhill and Fall River. As a gas engineer my work has been in the manufacturing departments as an operator.

MEMBER: Junior Member American Gas Institute.

LIVINGSTON LOW BAKER

Born at Sausalito, Marin County, Cal., March 6, 1892.
Parents: Wakefield, Coralie (Thomas) Baker.
School: Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter, N. H.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Accounting.
Address: (home) 2701 Pacific Ave., San Francisco, Cal.; (business) 433 Brannan St., San Francisco, Cal.

IMMEDIATELY after graduation I sailed for Germany and spent about six months travelling about there, and in France, Switzerland, and England. With my brother I came home via the British West Indies and the Canal. From Balboa we sailed by boat to San Francisco getting home about Christmas. My father died during that year.

January 2, 1914, I started work in the firm of Baker and Hamilton, wholesale dealers in light and heavy hardware, sporting goods, agricultural implements, and creamery machinery. The stock of this corporation is largely held by various members of my family. As a result I have had the opportunity to shift from one department to another in order to learn the fundamental principles of business. I was elected a director in 1915.

Besides this I have devoted a certain amount of time to the California Building Material Company of which I am a Director and Treasurer.

Together with my duties of business to which I devote about eight hours a day I have been putting in a couple of hours on the study of corporation finance, investments, and banking. That fills up the days. In the evenings I accept all the invitations offered.

Last summer I spent the month of July at the Military Training Camp at Monterey, and expect to attend the one to be held at Santa Barbara this summer.

In case of war with Germany I shall enlist.
P. S. My nickname is still "Jeff."

MEMBER: Harvard Club of San Francisco.

HERBERT NASH BALDWIN

Born at Wellesley Hills, Mass., Aug. 11, 1891.
Parents: Frank Fenno, Lucy Cushing (Nash) Baldwin.
School: Volkmann School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Manufacturing.
Address: (home) West Newton, Mass.; (business) Taunton, Mass.

THE summer following graduation was spent in travelling west throught Canada and the United States with G. N. Hurd, '13, and J. H. Knapp, '12. We spent three weeks riding on the trails of Alberta and British Columbia, covering the region around Mount Robson. In September, 1913, I started work with Reed and Barton, Taunton, Mass., and have been with this firm to the present time. I attended the August encampment at Plattsburg in 1916.

Address: (home) 129 Columbia Heights, Brooklyn, N. Y.; (business) 20 Vesey St., New York, N. Y.

HAVING completed my undergraduate work in three years, the Dean gave me a certificate which let me into various and sundry graduate courses in economics, sociology, etc., at the University of Wisconsin where I spent the collegiate year 1912–13. I returned to Harvard that June and took my degree with my class. I went abroad in August, 1913 and travelled in England and Scotland until November. I spent the next few months in Bavaria, Switzerland, and Prussia, returning to England May 1, 1914; and came back to this country six weeks later. Two days after the war broke out I started in with the New York Evening

Post as ship news reporter. "Pete" Roosevelt was on the same assignment for the Globe and he gave me the full benefit of his experience and acquaintanceship among the other reporters while I was learning the ropes for myself. As we had never known each other at all well in College, his kindness was all the greater. From ship news reporting I was gradually shifted to general assignment with a "special story" to do now and then. Later I was put on the "city desk" where I have been for more than a year now as one of the assistants to the City Editor. In March, 1916, I took on some extra work as assistant to the editor of the Saturday Magazine section, and this position I still hold.

In 1914, I became Secretary of the National League on Urban Conditions among Negroes and of its New York local committee. We are now trying to organize a separate committee in Brooklyn, of which I am the chairman. I became a trustee of the Snow Hill Industrial School, of Snow Hill, Ala., in June, 1916, and Secretary-Treasurer of the Alumni Association of Hackley School, where I went for two years prior to my final preparatory school year at Andover.

Occupation: Draughtsman (Architectural).
Address: (home) 1571 Beacon St., Brookline, Mass.; (business) 185 Devonshire St., Room 714, Boston, Mass.

FROM 1913–1915 I studied in the department of architecture of the Graduate Schools of Applied Science.

In June, 1915, I decided to obtain a position in an architect's office without completing the requirements for the master's degree. I worked for a period with Mr. Eliot Thwyng Putnam, a Harvard graduate and former instructor in the department of Architecture. Since leaving Mr. Putnam I have been with Mr. Thomas M. James at 185 Devonshire Street, Boston, an architect who is making a special study of bank buildings. I have served Mr. James in the capacity of "office boy," junior draughtsman, and, more lately, as assistant superintendent.

Occupation: Writer.
Address: 1721 Lamont St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

BEING obliged to leave College because of continued ill-health, and in particular because of increasing deafness, I spent some time with relatives near East Aurora, N. Y. This stay was during the winter and spring of 1911. The next winter was spent with other relatives in Miami, Arizona, for the sake of the climate.

The fall of 1912 was spent in New York City doing certain literary work. After witnessing Wilson's inauguration in March, 1913, I went to Jamaica, Panama, and the Canal Zone generally. I made an extended stay in Cartagena, Colombia, with friends.

The fall of 1913 was spent at the Chevy Chase Seminary; also the winter and spring of 1914. In the summer of the last-named year I stayed with friends in the mountains of North Carolina. The fall of 1914 was also spent at the Seminary; but early in February of 1915 I went West to visit the California Expositions, whence I went on to Honolulu for a visit of some length.

Returning from the West I became officially connected with the Chevy Chase Seminary in the capacity of associate principal. This involved being the general executive head of the entire plant, overlooking the teaching departments as well as the running of the household. Because of overwork, I took a short vacation in February in the Bermuda Islands.

In the fall of 1916 I took over the course in psychology and ethics in addition to my previously-mentioned executive work. During this period, also, arrangements were consummated by which I am to retire from the school work on the first of June next (1917).

My work from the time I am released from this school will be that of authorship and possibly lecturing. I have already begun to publish in a small way, as will be seen from the details given below; and of course my work at the school has involved considerable practice in platform work.

PUBLICATIONS: "The Lawton Parker Incident at Pittsburgh," The International Studio, September, 1914; "Washington's Biennial" (a review of the Sixth Exhibition of Contemporary Painters at the Corcoran Gallery of Art) The International Studio, February, 1917; and another and different review in Art and Archaeology, March, 1917.

MEMBER: Harvard, University, and The Arts Clubs, Washington, D. C.

ELWYN LEE BARRON

Born at Chicago, Ill., Aug. 27, 1891.
Parents: Elwyn Alfred, Hannah Lee (Bird) Barron.
School: Highgate School, England.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Advertising.
Address: (home) 152 East End Ave., New York, N. Y.; (business) 244 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

I SPENT from June, 1913, to September, 1913, tutoring two brats on Cape Cod; November, 1913, to July, 1914, I was with the Thames River Specialties Company, New London, Conn. This company went into the hands of a receiver. From July, 1914, to November, 1914, I was with the Boston Post.

From November, 1914, to May, 1915, I was engaged in construction work with Aberthaw Construction Company and Holbrook, Cabot and Rollins.

From May, 1915, to date I have been with J. Walter Thompson Company, Advertising Agents, New York.

PUBLICATIONS: Illustrated "Alice's Adventures in Cambridge," by R. C. Evarts. Contributed drawings to magazines.

JOHN CHARLES PALMER BARTHOLF

Born at Plattsburg, N. Y., Oct. 26, 1891.
Parents: John Henry, Isabella Frances (Palmer) Bartholf.
School: Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter, N. H.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Degree: A. B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Captain, Aviation Section, Signal Corps, U. S. Army.
Address: (home) 25 Peru St., Plattsburg, N. Y.; (business) Signal Corps Aviation School, San Diego, Cal.

THE fall of 1912, my course at College having been completed, was spent in Washington, D. C., tutoring for the examinations for a commission in the Army which were to be held in January, 1913. In these examinations, the two Harvard men competing, each of whom had won his H, took the first two places in a class of seventy-five. In May of that year I joined my regiment, the Fifth Infantry in Plattsburg, N. Y., and during my service at this post was on detail in Vermont, Massachusetts and Maine, instructing militia.

November, 1914, found me on duty at the Panama Canal Zone, where I remained a year. During all this service I found my college training in baseball and shooting of most valuable assistance in working with the men and officers with whom I came in contact.

In December, 1915, while on leave in New York, I was ordered to the Signal Corps Aviation School at San Diego, Cal. I completed my course in July, 1916, and was retained for duty at the school as Acting Adjutant. Since my qualification as Junior Military Aviator my duties have also involved the test flying of various makes of aeroplanes for the government service.

My commission as First Lieutenant of Infantry was received in July, 1916, and my captaincy in the United States Army upon my qualification as Junior Military Aviator.

CHARLES DRUMMOND BARTLETT

Born at Bangor, Me., Feb. 1, 1890.
Parents: Charles Hammatt, Virginia Drummond (Hight) Bartlett.
School: Middlesex School, Concord, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–11.
Degree: LL.B. (Univ. of Maine) 1914.
Married: Margaret Cutter Wood, Bangor, Me., March 10, 1917.
Occupation: Lawyer.
Address: (home) 109 Grove St., Bangor, Me.; (business) 45 State St., Bangor, Me.

AFTER leaving College, the latter part of February, 1911, I returned to my home in Bangor, Me. On the first of April of that year, I went into the Hincks Coal Company, as a clerk in the yard office and worked there until the first of August. That fall I entered the University of Maine Law School, receiving my degree in June, 1914. The following August I passed the State Bar Examinations, and at the September term of the Supreme Judicial Court held at Bangor, Me., was admitted to the practice of the law in the courts of the state. Since that time I have been associated with my father.

At the present time I am Treasurer of the Jenness Land Company, a corporation owning and permitting Maine timberlands. I am clerk of the P. H. Vose Company, a corporation dealing in crockery; and also I am clerk of the Samuel F. Hersey Land Company. I am Treasurer of the Penobscot County Chapter of the American National Red Cross, and I am President of the Masonic Club of Bangor.

MEMBER: Free and Accepted Masons, Condushkeag Canoe and Country Club, and Masonic Club of Bangor.

ROLAND BROWN BATCHELDER

Born at Salem, Mass., July 31, 1891.
Parents: Henry Morrill, Martha Osgood (Horton) Batchelder.
School: Hotchkiss School, Lakeville, Conn.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Married: Mary Bond Harris, Salem, Mass., Oct. 14, 1916.
Occupation: Treasurer, Daniel Green Felt Shoe Co.
Address: (home) 7 Cedar St., Salem, Mass.; (business) 100 Summer St., Boston, Mass.

IN September, 1913, I went to the American Felt Company, from which I was transferred in January, 1914, to the Daniel Green Felt Shoe Company. I have been there since, working in the credit department with Walter Tufts, who has recently deserted us for the banking business.

RICHARD WARE BATTEN

Born at Philadelphia, Pa., March 7, 1892.
Parents: Loring Woart, Clara Belle (Ware) Batten.
School: Riverdale School, Riverdale, N. Y.
Years in College: 1909–11.
Degrees: S.B. (Hobart) 1914; M.F. (Yale) 1916.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Salesman.
Address: (home) 3 Chelsea Sq., New York, N. Y.; (business) 3144 Passyunk Ave., Philadelphia, Pa.

LEFT Harvard in September, 1911, and went to Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y., at once and finished up in February, 1914. Started in summer school of Yale Forest School, finished in June, 1916, with M.F. degree. Got job with Turkey Foot Lumber Company at Cressmont, Ky., in July, 1916, but it didn't shine up very bright, so I quit that in September, 1916, and went into the asphalt department of the Atlantic Refining Company of Philadelphia. I began on the road January 1, 1917, being the sole representative of the asphalt department in Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Prospects are good and I'm not complaining, although I regret that the openings in forestry were so limited.

EMMET LEWIS BEACH, Jr.

Born at Saginaw, Mich., June 18, 1891.
Parents: Emmet Lewis, Leah (Dudgeon) Beach.

Unmarried.
Occupation: Playwright.
Address: 902 South Jefferson Ave., Saginaw, Mich.

I WAS assistant to Prof. G. P. Baker, Harvard 1914–15–16. My pen name is Lewis Beach.

PUBLICATIONS: "The Clod" (one-act play) published by Doubleday, Page & Co., 1916; "Let's Get Married" (three-act farce-comedy) published by Walter Baker Co., 1916.

ROBERT WASHBURN BEAL

Born at Hanover, Mass., July 31, 1891.
Parents: John Williams, Mary Woodbridge (Howes) Beal.
Schools: Hanover High School, Hanover, Mass.; Thayer Academy, South Braintree, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Degrees: A.B. 1913; M.L.A. 1914.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Landscape Architect.
Address: (home) Hanover, Mass.; (business) 58 Summer St., Boston, Mass.

I FINISHED my College work in the summer of 1912 but waited to take my degree with the Class. During the year 1912–13, I was enrolled in the Graduate School of Landscape Architecture and in the succeeding year, 1913–14, took my M.L.A. degree. On June 23d, I started for a year of study abroad, intending to spend most of the time in England, Germany, France and Italy. I had hardly got settled for my three months' stay in England when the war broke out. Although I did what I intended in England, it seemed foolish to cross to the Continent for purposes of study, and in October I returned home. While in London I attended a special summer course at the University of London. The most exciting and interesting feature connected with the outbreak of the war was the Americans trying to get passage home at the American Association headquarters at the Savoy.

I have been practicing as a landscape architect in the office of my father, J. Williams Beal, architect. I have had mighty good luck thus far and have handled several large jobs. Last summer (1916) just as soon as the effects of our most successful triennial had worn off, I hied me to Plattsburg. It is a most interesting experience and everyone certainly ought to go. My office is at 58 Summer Street, (there's an elevator) and I'd be happy to see members of the Class either socially or professionally whenever they can drop in.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of Boston.

FRANK HOWARD BEALL

Born at Washington, D. C., Dec. 6, 1889.
Parents: Howard, Mary Emma (Carver) Beall.
School: Mc Kinley Manual Training School, Washington, D. C.
Years in College: 1910–13.
Degrees: S.B. 1913; M.E.E. 1914.
Unmarried.
Address: 195 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

AFTER graduating, I spent the remainder of the summer on the shores of Squam Lake at the place famed in history and known to its inmates as the H. E. C. Here I studied electrical engineering. The next winter I spent in the Graduate School and at the end of my term I obtained the privilege of calling myself an electrical engineer.

Again I returned to Squam Lake, only this time as an instructor in the electrical course, which job I kept during the following term. The next spring I left Boston, and came to New York to work for the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and have not been able to get away yet.

MEMBER: Harvard Engineering Society of New York.

BARTLETT BEAMAN

Born at Princeton, Mass., July 20, 1891.
Parents: Harry Clayton, Jennie Hoover (Bartlett) Beaman.
School: Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913 (1914).
Unmarried.
Occupation: Bond Salesman.
Address: (home) 1043 Beacon St., Brookline, Mass.; (business) 60 State St., Boston, Mass.

MY life since leaving College is more or less of a jumble, as it consists of trying the tobacco business in Connecticut, being with S. S. Pierce, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, the Standard Oil Company, the Ford Motor Company the Oldsmobile Company, the Studebaker Company, and eventually Coffin and Burr. Maybe some married members of the Class would like to hold this up as a terrible example to their sons.

RALPH BEATLEY

Born at Roxbury, Mass., Dec. 30, 1892.
Parents: James Augustus, Clara (Bancroft) Beatley.
School: Roxbury Latin School, Roxbury, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Teaching.
Address: (home) 11 Wabon St., Roxbury, Mass.; (business) Horace Mann School for Boys, New York, N. Y.

DURING 1913–14 I travelled in Europe on a Sheldon Fellowship, being at one time or another in the company of Chamberlin, Gannett, Coggeshall, Gradolph, and McGiffert. During the winter months I was enrolled at the University of Berlin, but the amount of studying I did there was slight. Instead, I spent my time to advantage in visiting the theatres and concert halls, in studying art and architecture in an amateurish fashion, and in visiting schools. During the spring months I was for the most part in Italy and Greece; Greece in particular had a fascination about it which I found irresistible.

During the two years 1914–16 I taught mathematics and Latin at Milton Academy, Milton, Mass. This year I am trying to fill Stratton's shoes at the Horace Mann School for Boys in New York City. I teach mathematics only, and play all games in season, barring basketball. In addition, I am doing nearly half a year's work at Teachers College, Columbia, studying educational psychology and the like. My tasks are numerous, but far from uninteresting.

MEMBER: New England Association of Mathematics Teachers, and Mathematical Association of America.

MYRTON FREEMAN BEELER

Born at Everett, Mass., Sept. 29, 1890.
Parents: Isaac Bryden, Addie Freeman (Higgins) Beeler.

Years in College: 1909–11.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Bank Clerk.
Address: (home) 64 York Terrace, Melrose Highlands, Mass.; (business) 28 State St., Boston, Mass.

I LEFT College in December of the year 1911 to accept a position with the State National Bank of Boston. A year later this bank consolidated with the Merchants National Bank with whom I am now affiliated.

MEMBER: Highland Club of Melrose, Bank officers Association of Boston, and Boston Chapter, Inc., American Institute of Banking.

RICHARD WILLIAMS BENNETT

Born at Somerville, Mass., Feb. 13, 1891.
Parents: Dana Ware, Nellie Lucinda (Coburn) Bennett.
School: Somerville Latin High School, Somerville, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Insurance.
Address: (home) 25 Wesley Pk., Somerville, Mass.; (business) 87 Kilby St., Boston, Mass.

THE first two years out I was with the National Biscuit Company in Cambridge, Mass. Since then, I have been connected with the Marine Department of the Boston Insurance Company, also with a local insurance agency, Bennett and McCarthy in Somerville.

ROGER WILLIAMS BENNETT

Born at Weston, Mass., Feb. 3, 1892.
Parents: Samuel Crocker, Amy Reeder (Thomas) Bennett.
School: St. Mark's School, Southboro, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Degrees: A.B. 1913 (1912); LL.B. 1916.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Lawyer.
Address: (home) South Ave., Weston, Mass.; (business) 101 Milk St., Boston, Mass.

MY senior year was spent in Holworthy Hall, trying to study law, and results showed that the two do not belong together. The following winter I went on with the law, and then spent the summer as a tutor at Camp Merryweather in Maine. As a result of such continuous work, a vacation seemed excusable so I spent the fall of 1914 travelling around the United States. Early the next January, I went into the law offices of McLellan, Carney and Brickley, where I stayed through July. In the autumn I again became a "slave of the lamp" in the Law School, and after completing the course and taking the Massachusetts bar examinations in the spring of 1916, I entered the legal department of the Boston Elevated Railway Company, where I still am.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of Boston, Bar Association of the City of Boston.

LAWRENCE BERENSON

Born at Boston, Mass., Oct. 12, 1891.
Parents: Louis, Sarah (Bernstein) Berenson.
School: Roxbury Latin School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Degrees: A.B. 1913; LL.B. 1915.
Married: Elsie Eskind, Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 18, 1914.
Occupation: Lawyer.
Address: (home) 8 West 82d St., New York, N. Y.; (business) 31 Nassau St., New York, N. Y.

I WENT to the Harvard Law School for three years and took my LL.B degree in 1915. I was admitted to the Massachusetts bar the same year and to the Illinois bar in 1916.

I was with the Department of Justice during the year 1915–1916 as secretary to Judge Julian W. Mack (LL.B. '87), of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Chicago, Illinois.

I commenced the practice of law in October, 1916, in the office of John Quinn, Esq., (LL.B. '95) in New York City.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of Boston.

Unmarried.
Occupation: Lawyer.
Address: (home) 1648 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge, Mass.; (business) 161 Devonshire St., Boston, Mass.

MY last year in College was spent, upon leave of absence from the office, in the Graduate School, where I completed the work for the degree of A.M. In September next after Commencement I entered the Law School, where I completed the three years' course, taking the degree of LL.B. cum laude in 1916. During my last year in Law School I coached the debating teams which represented Harvard in the Triangular League against Yale and Princeton; we were fortunate enough to defeat Yale, but lost to Princeton. This year I have the debating teams again: we are laying for Princeton.

In the spring of 1916 I was counsel for the Citizens' Protective Committee opposing the division of Cambridge from the Boston Postal District. The division has not yet been made.

At the close of my law course I was asked to go into the office of Brandeis, Dunbar and Nutter, which Mr. Brandeis had not then left to become associate justice of the Supreme Court. His retirement caused the firm to be changed to that of Dunbar, Nutter and McClennen, with which I am at present associated.

Publications: "Expansion of American Administrative Law," Harvard Law Review for March, 1917.

Member: Fabian Club, Boston Military Law Society.

I SPENT the early summer of 1913 working at the National Museum at Washington, and the late summer botanizing for the Gray Herbarium in New Brunswick. In December, 1913, I left for England, and spent two years in England and on the continent as a Frederick Sheldon Fellow in Botany, chiefly at Kew and at the British Museum. I got caught in Berlin when the war broke out, and returned to London toward the last of August, 1914. After that I spent a year trying to work in the intervals of dodging Zeppelin bombs and recruiting sergeants, and returned to New York in December, 1915. After the midyears I enrolled in the Graduate School as a candidate for the degree of Ph.D.

During the summer of 1916, I was employed in the Gray Herbarium, Harvard University, and I have been in the Graduate School for the first semester of 1916–17, taking my Ph.D., in Botany, on February 9, 1917.

THE day after Class Day, I began work as a reporter on the Boston Post, serving two years at special article writing for the Sunday issues. In that time I visited every nook and corner of New England and interviewed everyone from William Howard Taft to John L. Sullivan.

From the Post I went to New York and worked as a rewrite man and copyreader on the lobster trick of the Evening Telegram. The lobster trick is, I judge, so named as the hours are so bad that one must be a crustacean to endure them. I toiled from 3 a.m. to 9 a.m., played golf all day, and retired for the night at 6 p.m.

Always interested in playwriting and the stage (had been a member of Prof. Baker's English 47), I left the Telegram early in the fall of 1915 and took to the stage. I appeared in "Moloch," by Beulah Marie Dix, at the New Amsterdam Theatre, New York. It lasted three weeks and I spent the rest of the year in Miss Grace George's repertory company at the Playhouse Theatre, playing in "The New York Idea," "The Liars," and "Major Barbara." I then "toured" with Miss Margaret Anglin's company in a dramatization of "The Perch of the Devil"; I played Vincentio in "Taming of the Shrew" for the two weeks of Miss Anglin's Chicago season.

Since the spring of 1916 I have been a member of the staff of the Minneapolis Daily News in several editorial capacities.

AFTER passing sufficient courses for my degree at midyears 1913, I came down to New York and entered the office of O'Brien, Boardman and Platt as a law clerk. In the fall of 1913 I entered the New York Law School where I remained for two years, spending the following two summers in the office with sufficient vacations to keep alive. By October, 1915, I had spent the required amount of time in preparation for the bar examinations but lacked a year for my LL.B. degree. However, I gave that up, took and passed the New York bar examinations and was duly admitted in December. Since that time I have been practising, and am now with the firm of Platt and Field.

AFTER I received my sheepskin, I expected all kinds of flattering offers from J. P. Morgan, J. D. Rockefeller and a few other intimate friends. So I waited around Cambridge a few weeks with Bill Blake, for something to turn up. Bill and I roughed it in regular story-book style, sleeping where opportunity offered, but mostly at the Catholic Club. J. P. and J. D. must have heard of our plight because Dougherty turned up after awhile and I am still suspicious that he was an emissary of theirs. Jack offered us an alluring proposition in the insurance business. I was interested, but Bill held off; he was angling for bigger game. Jack was so busy getting wifie settled, for he was just married, that he forgot to keep an appointment, so I was cheated out of the Presidency of the New York Life or something. I finally wound up that summer by working a little refreshment pavilion on the Charles River embankment which is still there, I hope, the pavilion I mean.

Having had a most profitable summer dispensing ice cream cones and soda water to the elite of the west end, I was financially able to enter the Harvard Medical School. But why ruminate! To recall the many happy hours spent in singing the latest songs for the entertainment of my colleagues in medicine is a retrospect fraught with many heartaches. Wendell, Fitzgerald, Adams, Clifford, Marshall, et al, may have forgotten those dissecting room recitals, but with me they are imperishable. After a year of toilsome labor, I discovered to my great astonishment that I could not sing my way through M. S., so with the briefest farewells I followed Horace Greeley's advice.

Arriving in Chi, I went to work for Swift and Company, not because I was fond of the stock yards smell, but because I had to eat, and I considered it a good move to get close to the source of supply. Well, I have been close to the source nigh onto three years now; and, honestly, I sometimes think I got too close for the good of my stomach.

After sojourning several months in the "Windy City," I left for the southwest. Here I visited Texas and Oklahoma, working in Swift and Company's modern country produce plants. I had a delightful time feeding, dressing, packing poultry; candling, packing, storing eggs; making butter, etc. Oh, I had a splendid time down there in the desert! I often thought of Boston and how lucky all the stuff was that was being shipped to Boston from that country and how lucky I would be if I could have shipped myself along with the poultry and stuff. The only thing that prevented my doing so was the thought of being frozen to death in one of those refrigerator cars. I consoled myself with the thought that somebody had to stay in these out-of-the-way places so that plutocrats like Dougherty and a few other fellows could get enough to eat.

After languishing in the desert for several months, I got into the spirit of the country or maybe the spirit of the country got into me so I up one day and got married.

After I left the alkali country, I tarried in Kansas and Missouri, always increasing my knowledge of the business. My knowledge grew to such dimensions that I am now a regular Boss of one of Swift and Company's houses here in Newton. It's great to be a Boss, and believe me, I'm making up for the time when I was bossed.

I pulled off quite a deal here in Newton. It was a big scoop for a certain local paper and it may be you saw the Associated Press report in one of the Boston papers. It concerned the arrival of one baby Jack weighing in the neighborhood of seven pounds. The kid and his mother provide me with all kinds of fun. I'm having a swell time from early morning till early the next morning figuring out ways and means for their subsistence!

Occupation: Travelling Salesman.
Address: (home) 1058 Louisiana Ave., Shreveport, La.; (business) 246 Peachtree St., Atlanta, Ga.

AFTER leaving school in June, 1913, I pursued various miscellaneous occupations for six or eight months, during which time I was employed for short periods by the Standard Oil Company, my father, and the New England Bell Telephone Company. On March 1, 1914, I went to Akron, Ohio, where are located the factories of the B. F. Goodrich Company. There I spent four or five very pleasant months, during which I was very agreeably surprised to encounter in the "Rubber City" several contemporaneous Harvard men, who had cast in their lot with the rubber industry. At that time, mainly through the endeavors of Ver Wiebe ('08), a successful Harvard Club was initiated.

As the fall of 1914 approached it became my portion to go South and I eventually became established in Birmingham, where I was actively interested in the sale of rubber products. In early 1915 I went to Atlanta and, using that city as headquarters, travelled to various points in the Southeast. On the first of the present year, for convenience in travelling over Louisiana, my residence was changed to Shreveport, where I have now been located for a few weeks. I have no avocations and have hardly lived in any place long enough to take an active interest in outside activities.

Occupation: Secretary and Assistant General Manager.
Address: (home) 2649 Shoreland Drive, Seattle, Wash.; (business) c/o J. F. Duthie & Co., Seattle, Wash.

LEFT College upon graduation in June, 1913, and became connected with the Northwest Steel Company of Portland, Oregon, where I served in various capacities, in Engineering Department, Assistant Shop Superintendent, also in general office. Was engineer in charge of construction of new plant built in 1914. In the fall of 1914 I entered Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where I registered as a special student, taking work in structural engineering. In July, 1915, I was back with Northwest Steel Company in the Sales Department, when I became Secretary of the Company. In November, 1915, I came to Seattle as contracting representative for the Company in this state.

In August, 1915, J. F. Duthie and Company, a firm which had been engaged in shipbuilding for some years, was reorganized, and I became Secretary and Assistant General Manager, representing the controlling financial interests in the corporation.

Occupation: Architect.
Address: (home) 270 Sanford Ave., Flushing, L. I., N. Y; (business) 85 Clinton St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

SINCE leaving College I have continued my studies in architecture at the atelier of Professor Ware of Columbia. During the last two years I have been in the employ of the New York Municipal Railway Corporation in charge of the preparation of plans for their extensions and new buildings.

My work here has absorbed my thought and energy to such an extent that I have become a veritable hermit. While I feel amply repaid by way of remuneration and the experience gained for shouldering the responsibility the Company has seen fit to entrust to me, I have lost that which I cherished more than anything else, — the old time spirit and friends.

I expect to join one of the Harvard Units for Military Service. This action on my part will probably win the war for America and humanity, and stave off a premature old age.

My career, so far, has not been of my own choosing, but has been controlled by the cry of an empty and wornout pocketbook.

I am not going to be a "slacker," and am ready to dig in and "do my bit."

SOON after graduation I entered the shoe manufacturing industry as a general utility man in my father's concern, Hazen B. Goodrich and Company, where I remained until January, 1914. At that time I was given an opportunity of proving the advantages of a college education by being made General Manager of the Supple Shoe Company, an auxiliary of the Goodrich concern with a capacity of about 1,000 pairs of women's turn shoes per day. That position I have held until the present. In July, 1916, I was overjoyed in securing the services of one "Bullet" Wendell, who now has charge of his own efficiency department and is possessor of the high sounding title of Purchasing Agent as well. Percy bucks into hard-hearted leather men fully as well as the Yale line and his companionship and cooperation have meant much to me. On moving into new quarters in September, 1916, the firm name was changed to the Bradley Shoe Company and we are now aiming to do a business of a $1,000,000 a year in ladies fine turn boots and slippers. Come and see us when you're in these parts.

Address: (home) 70 Weston St., Brockton, Mass.; (business) 409 Custom House (Bowling Green) New York, N. Y.

AFTER graduation, joined the staff of the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company in Boston, remained until March, 1915, when I received an appointment as Assistant Commercial Agent in charge in the New York office of the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce. The Bureau's activities consist principally in promoting the foreign trade of the country, and it does this in several ways, one of which is by the distribution of a wide range of statistical, tariff, and special publications, and another by means of its own staff of commercial and special agents travelling abroad, ten commercial attachés stationed in various countries of commercial importance, and about twenty branch and cooperative branch offices here in the States, all working in harmony and cooperation with the Consular Service. Late in October I was sent to Washington to assist in a report on the "Navigation Laws of the Leading Maritime Nations." Then I was placed temporarily in charge of the Division of Commercial Attachés in the Washington headquarters and in March was appointed Special Agent to investigate the markets for boots and shoes in Latin America, and the markets in South America for wearing apparel.

After a month's preliminary trip to the principal shoe manufacturing centers of the country, I sailed for Cuba on May 18, just about a month too early, because it meant losing out on Triennial. Two months were spent in Cuba; next I went to Porto Rico and was there all of August on similar work. A cable came through from the Bureau in Washington to make a hasty trip to the Danish Islands, in order to report on their commercial possibilities in view of the pending negotiations for their purchase by the United States. We spent three weeks in the three islands (St. Thomas, St. Croix, and St. John) collecting information and samples of various classes of merchandise formerly imported from Europe, and then returned to Porto Rico to write up in collaboration the "Hand Book of the Danish West Indies," published by the Bureau in February. Returned to Santiago and landed in Jamaica on Thanksgiving Day morning, remained in Kingston for three weeks and on to Colon. Ten days' wait on the Isthmus for steamship connections to Ecuador. Dinner Christmas night at the American Consulate. Did not stop in Ecuador for a month as intended, on account of extremely bad sanitary conditions at this time of year. Rainy season begun and much bubonic plague, yellow fever, and typhoid. Continued by same steamer to Callao, Peru. Have been in Lima for six weeks collecting data and writing report. Expect to leave for Mollendo, Arequipo, Cuzco, and La Paz, Bolivia in ten days more. (March 7, today.) Shall return to the coast via Antofogasta and be in Chile for about six weeks, visiting next in turn, Argentina, Uruguay, Brazil, Venezuela, and Colombia. Due back in New York, in April, 1918.

UPON leaving College at the close of the academic year, 1911, I returned to Cincinnati. Until April of 1912 I did not have steady employment or look for any, as it was a question whether I should enter into my father's business, or go into business in Baltimore with an uncle. But during these months I was not idle, spending much of my time at my father's office and helping where I could. So in April, 1912, my family and myself decided upon my going to Baltimore, to try my hand in the whiskey distilling business with my uncle. I found the work interesting, it was new to me, and my business training under my uncle, during the two years I was with him, was of the best and has stood me in good stead.

The sad news of my father's death brought me back to Cincinnati. I decided to remain here, as I did not want to take my mother and sisters away from their home city, and I entered my father's business. Live stock commission has now kept me busy for three years, my interest has grown continually, and my headway has been rapid. I am and have been Secretary of the Big Brothers Association of Cincinnati for two years, this being my only office of honor to date.

MEMBER: Avon Lodge (F. and A. M.); City and Community Clubs, and Big Brothers Association, Cincinnati.

FREDERICK RHINELANDER BROWN

Born at New York, N. Y., Jan. 14, 1889.
Parents: Frederick Tilden, Mary Crosby (Renwick) Brown.
School: Ridge School, Washington, Conn.
Years in College: 1909–11.
Married: Laura Pelton Hazard, Cedarhurst, L. I., Sept. 27, 1913.
Children: Frederic Tilden, July 13, 1914; Laura Hazard, July 19, 1916.
Occupation: Commission Merchant.
Address: (home) Cedarhurst, L. I., N. Y.; (business) 79–83 Leonard St., New York, N. Y.

I LEFT College the last of June, 1911 (having just completed all my examinations) for my home at Cedarhurst, Long Island. The day after arriving there, was taken sick with typhoid fever. This kept me in bed until the latter part of October. The doctor advised me that I would not be fit for any kind of work for a year or so, so the following February (1912) I left for Aiken, S. C. Here I remained for about two months, at end of which time I returned to Cedarhurst. On August 7, 1912, I started work with Deering, Milliken and Company, and have been with them ever since. They are commission merchants, handling cotton and woolen goods.

Have been appointed Special Deputy Sheriff of Nassau County.

MEMBER: Rockaway Hunting Club and Harvard Club of New York City.

WALDO MERRILL BROWN

Born at Roxbury, Mass., July 10, 1890.
Parents: Arthur Eastman, Hannah (Merrill) Brown.
School: Wellesley High School, Wellesley, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Cotton Business.
Address: (home) 223 Washington St., Wellesley Hills, Mass.; (business) c/o Bush & Witherspoon Co., Waco, Texas.

IN August of 1913 I went to Galveston, Texas, where I started in to learn the cotton business in the employ of Bush and Witherspoon Company of Waco, Texas. Since that time I have remained with the same firm and have been buying cotton in various parts of Texas. Have been home every summer, and usually spend June and July in the vicinity of Boston.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of Boston.

WILLIAM FRANCIS BROWN, Jr.

Born at Larchmont, N. Y., June 20, 1890.
Parents: William Francis, Eugenia (Van Derburg) Brown.
School: Volkmann School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Reinforced concrete construction and operation of finished properties.
Address: (home) 32 Centre St., Brookline, Mass.; (business) 199 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

SINCE leaving College until August, 1916, I "changed hands" three or four times. During that time I picked up considerable general information which, with the knowledge obtained from the Alexander Hamilton Business Course and Service, has enabled me to hold down my present job with Burgess, Lang and Company. These people are primarily bankers. As such they control and operate various building trusts and companies. I am Assistant to the Manager of the operating department and have charge of costs in the construction department. I also do considerable buying for the construction work and various companies and trusts. I would be glad to talk to any of the fellows who are handling manufacturers' supplies or building material.

Occupation: Assistant Sales Manager.
Address: (home) 322 Locust St., Williamsport, Pa.; (business) c/o Sweet's Steel Co., Williamsport, Pa.

At present I am Assistant Sales Manager of the Sweet's Steel Company.

Member: Williamsport Country Club.

HAROLD FREDERIC BROWNE

Born at Harpoot, Turkey-Asia, April 11, 1890.
Parents: John Kittredge, Leila (Kendall) Browne.
School: Newton High School, Newton, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Efficiency Engineer.
Address: (home) 136 Montague St., Brooklyn, N. Y.; (business) Room 1522, 30 Church St., New York, N. Y.

MY first job after graduating was with Franklin MacVeagh and Company, Wholesale Grocers in Chicago. It didn't take me long to find out that that was not my line but I stayed there nine months in order to get a little acquainted with the Middle West. In the spring of 1914 I returned to the East and went with the H. B. Claflin Company, but just as I was getting a good start they were so thoughtless as to go into a receivership.

Having confined my attentions so far to wholesale business, my next venture was in the retail field. I took a position with R. H. Macy and Company, the big New York department store, and had the opportunity to study the problem of the "poor working girl" at first hand. But even this failed to make up for the many disagreeable features of the work and I was forced to conclude that I must keep on looking for my "niche." Fortunately, I found it on my next attempt. This time I landed with the Emerson Company, Efficiency Engineers of New York.

I soon discovered that at last I had found a "real" company, one which treated its men as though they were intelligent human beings and not dummies, and one which provided such interesting work that over-time work became the least of my worries. I have been with the company now for a year and a half and each month makes me more certain that I am in the right place. I cannot conceive of more interesting work than the systematic study of manufacturing and business methods to find the best, easiest and quickest way of doing things; to go into a plant and devote your whole energies to determining how waste can be eliminated, production increased while unit costs decrease, and to strive to stimulate more cordial relations betweed capital and labor. I only hope that you other fellows are as interested in and pleased with your work.

JAMES FORBIS BROWNLEE

Born at Oakland, Cal., July 29, 1891.
Parents: Malcolm Bruce, Belle (Forbis) Brownlee.
School: Middlesex School, Concord, Mass.

THOMAS BUEL

Born at Premium Point, New Rochelle, N. Y., Aug. 13, 1890.
Parents: Clarence Clough, Mary Alice (Snow) Buel.
School: Morristown School, Morristown, N. J.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Water transportation of bulk oil.
Address: (home) 130 East 67th St., New York, N. Y.; (business) 91-A Isabella St., Toronto, Ont.

AFTER taking the degree of A.B. in 1913, I spent a year and a half as a graduate student in the Harvard Engineering School. Shortly after midyears in 1915, I left the School without completing the course for the S.M. degree. During the month of March I spent my time as a bill collector for the Cambridge Board of Trade at ten per cent commission, until a better prospect turned up with the Research Department of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, acting as an assistant in an investigation of street railways and their relation to the riding public and its dollar bill.

All this time the chance to join the Standard Oil School for work in the Far East seemed attractive. Finally in May I landed in New York and again became a student, this time in the offices of the Standard Oil Company of New York. After a month and a half of work the class broke up; I did not qualify for work in China, but was offered a position with the Imperial Oil Company of Canada. During the summer of 1915 I worked in their oil refinery at Sarnia, Ontario, getting a general idea of the business; and in September, I was transferred to the main offices of the Company at Toronto, where I now have a position as Assistant in the Marine Department. We operate tankers on the Great Lakes and the Atlantic and there is every prospect of the fleet growing, barring meetings with German subs.

After missing our glorious Triennial my New Year's Resolution was to attend the next Reunion.

JOHN MORGAN BULLARD

Born at New Bedford, Mass., June 7, 1890.
Parents: John Thornton, Emily Morgan (Rotch) Bullard.
School: St. George's School, Newport, R. I.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Degrees: A.B. 1913; LL.B. 1915.
Unmarried.

Occupation: Lawyer.
Address: (home) 428 County St., New Bedford, Mass.; (business) 35 Congress St., Boston, Mass.

I LEFT College at the end of my junior year and studied law for a year at Northwestern University, Chicago. I then returned and took the last two years of my law course at Harvard, where I received my law degree in 1915. In the summer of 1915 I went to San Francisco with the Harvard Clubs on the steamship Finland. Since then I have been practising law continuously with the firm of Alger, Dean and Sullivan, in Boston, with the exception of a month spent at Plattsburg in 1916.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of Boston; County and Wamsutta Clubs of New Bedford.

WILLIAM ROGER BURLINGAME

Born at New York, N. Y., May 7, 1889.
Parents: Edward Livermore, Ella Francis (Badger) Burlingame.
School: Morristown School, Morristown, N. J.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Publishing.
Address: (home) 47 East 83d St., New York, N. Y.; (business) 597 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y.

AFTER leaving College, worked on Independent as general cub for nine months; wrote special stories, editorials, book reviews, advertisements, and letters saying "your story does not lack merit but we regret." In June, 1914, entered Publicity Department of Charles Scribner's Sons as Publicity and Book Advertising Manager where have been, on and off, ever since. When I say on and off, it means that military duties have frequently interrupted business. Enlisted in Squadron A, National Guard, New York, July, 1915, and have attended its various prescribed summer camps since, including one of six months' duration on the Styx last summer (1916) returning December 25. Since then have studied for examination for Officers Reserve Commission, and passed the other day and was commissioned 2d Lieutenant. I am now in the embarassing position of being both a private and an officer at the same time. It is difficult because Army custom prescribes that I may not sleep in the same house with myself, cannot speak to myself without permission from the 1st Sergeant, who's not available, and cannot eat at the same table with myself. However, I black my boots and perform other menial duties.

I have done nothing brilliant. I am settling down into gentle mediocrity. Other sex charms me not at all, so no danger of entangling alliances.

MEMBER: Harvard and Squadron A Clubs, and The Coffee House, New York City.

CARLETON BURR

Born at Milton, Mass., Aug. 29, 1891.
Parents: Isaac Tucker, Alice McLure (Peters) Burr.
School: Milton Academy, Milton, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Investment Securities.
Address: (home) 90 Marlborough St., Boston, Mass.; (business) 147 Milk St., Boston, Mass.

RETURNED to Boston in October, 1913, after a very successful trip through the West with G. von L. Meyer, Jr. The following year I worked in the office of Kidder, Peabody and Company, during the week, and watched my friends get married on Saturdays. In the fall of 1914 I went to work for J. Jackson in the Paul Revere Trust Company, Boston, where I remained until the consolidation of the bank with the State Street Trust Company in January, 1916. On February 12 of same year I set sail for France with Oliver Wolcott on the steamship Touraine for work in the American Ambulance Field Service on the Western front. Remained as a driver in Section Two until June and was then transferred as Director of Section Nine. Remained until January, 1917, returning on the Espagne, February 8, and entered the office of Stone and Webster on March 5, 1917.

Unmarried.
Occupation: Office Manager, F. W. Dodge Co.
Address: (home) 20 South 15th St., Flushing, N. Y.; (business) 119 West 40th St., New York, N. Y.

IN September, 1913, started as an assistant instructor in the mechanical laboratories of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Worked here during term time until January 1, 1916. In October, 1914, began as instructor in the Franklin Union night school, conducting classes in steam engines and boilers, where I remained until June, 1916. During the summer of 1914, worked in the editorial department of Sweets' Engineering Catalogue, published by the F. W. Dodge Company of New York. In the summer of 1915, worked in the Boston office of the F. W. Dodge Company as reporter. On January 1, 1916, I left Technology to work for Walter B. Snow, publicity engineer, and in June, 1916, left to work for the F. W. Dodge Company of New York, as Assistant to the President, my present position.

In November, 1915, my engagement to Miss Esther L. Yerex, of Flushing, N. Y., was announced.

PUBLICATIONS: For the use of the employees of the Dodge Co. only — "Steam Power Plants," 270 pp., 190 cuts and diagrams. Published by the Company.

MEMBER: Junior Member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

ROBERT HEYWOOD BURRAGE

Born at Gardner, Mass., March 6, 1892.
Parents: Charles Dana, Martha Wright (Heywood) Burrage.
School: Roxbury Latin School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degrees: A.B. 1913; M.E. 1916.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Mining Engineer.
Address: (home) May St., Needham, Mass.; (business) Box 553, Calumet, Mich.

I LEFT College in February, 1913, having completed the work for my degree at midyears, and entered the engineering office of the Chino Copper Company, at Santa Rita, New Mexico. In the fall of 1913, I returned to Cambridge and entered the Mining School, from which I received the degree of M.E. in June, 1916. During my several summer vacations I was employed in engineering work by the White Bauxite Company of Alabama, the Bay State Street Railway Company, and the Nevada Consolidated Copper Company. In July, 1916, I took my present position as an efficiency engineer for the Calumet and Hecla Copper Company.

MEMBER: American Institute of Mining Engineers, Sons of the Revolution, Boston Athletic Association, and Harvard Club of Boston.

FRANCIS WENDELL BUTLER-THWING
(Formerly FRANCIS BUTLER THWING)

Born at Cleveland, O., Feb. 20, 1891.
Parents: Charles Franklin, Carrie Frances (Butler) Thwing.
School: Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–11.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Lieutenant in Coldstream Guards.
Address: 11,109 Bellflaver Road Cleveland, O.

SOON after graduation Francis B. Thwing entered New College, Oxford. In February of 1915 he entered Sandhurst. After training, he was assigned to the Fifth Lancers whence he was transferred to the Coldstream Guards.

He is now a Lieutenant in this regiment and is "somewhere in France." He was wounded on one of the last days of June in the right hip and left shoulder. He made, however, a good recovery and has recently been declared fit for service, and on January 19 he returned to France.

✠ Harry Gustav Byng

Born at London, England, July 12, 1888.
Parents: Gustav, Ida Laura (Rosenheim) Byng.
School: Harrow School, Harrow, England.
Years in College: 1910–12.
Married: Evelyn Curtis, March 22, 1915, London, Eng.
Died in action, May 17, 1915, at Festubert, Flanders.

AT Harvard he was a brilliant Association football player, being a member of the team for two years and twice picked on the All-America. As captain in his last year his coaching and leadership brought the team an exceedingly successful season. His literary ability made him an editor of the Advocate, while his social gifts brought him exceptional popularity.

After leaving College he worked with the General Electric Company, at Schenectady, and then returned to England in the autumn of 1913 and entered the English General Electric Company. At the outbreak of the war he enlisted as a private in the London Artists' Rifles, and was detailed as a scout. His regiment was sent to the front in November, and he served with it until March, when he received a commission as 2d Lieutenant in the 2d Border Line Regiment. During five days' leave he was married in London to Miss Evelyn Curtis, of Boston, on March 22. On joining the regiment his resourcefulness and gallantry brought him much dangerous reconnoissance work, which he executed so brilliantly that he was commanding more than a company when he fell. On the 16th of May he was leading a charge on the German trenches near Festubert, when he was wounded twice, in the head and abdomen. He fell on the edge of the German trench and was dragged into it by his men. He would not let any of them carry him to the rear because of the danger to their lives, and lay quite uncomplaining from 3 A.M. till 8 P.M., when he was taken to the hospital. He died twenty-four hours later. One of his men wrote as follows: "He was not only our superior officer, but a true comrade. He lived well and died well."

THEODORE CABLE

Born at Topeka, Kan., Sept. 3, 1890.
Parents: George, Mary Ellen (Montgomery) Cable.
School: Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter, N. H.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Dental Student.
Address: 411 North West St., Indianapolis, Ind.

IN June, 1913, I sailed, in the company of my mother, to Liverpool. The summer was spent in France, Belgium, Switzerland and Italy. In September following, I took a position as teacher in the Indianapolis Public Schools. I taught school three years. During the past two years I have played the violin in the orchestra of a local hotel also. In September, 1916, I entered the Indiana Dental College, this being the new course which I intend to pursue.

JAMES JACKSON CABOT

Born at Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 24, 1891.
Parents: Godfrey Lowell, Maria B. (Moors) Cabot.
School: Browne and Nichols School, Cambridge, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Natural Gas and Carbon Black Business.
Address: (home) 16 Highland St., Cambridge, Mass.; (business) 940 Old South Bldg., Boston, Mass.

IN the summer of 1913, I was section assistant at the Harvard Engineering Camp at Squam Lake.

In September, 1913, I started working for my father in the carbon black and gas business. I have surveyed and laid pipe lines, made up records, made tests and experiments, tested and repaired large gas meters, and procured oil and gas leases.

In the winter of 1915–16 I was a special student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, taking the mechanical engineering course. In June, 1916, I resumed work for my father.

I have spent nearly half of my time in West Virginia since leaving College.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of Boston, Boston-Plattsburg Rifle Club.

PAUL EUSTIS CALLANAN

Born at Roxbury, Mass., July 6, 1893.
Parents: Sampson Aloysius, Mary Grace (Harkins) Callanan.
School: Roxbury Latin School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Bond Salesman.
Address: (home) 109 Warren St., Roxbury, Mass.; (business) 44 State St., Boston, Mass.

SINCE leaving College I have had a fairly uneventful life; in fact, work seems to have been my main excitement.

For a short time in 1912 I taught evening school in Cambridge. In October, 1912, I went to work for Lee, Higginson and Company, as a "boy on the bench." For the next two years I learned all sorts of wonderful things such as the fifty-seven varieties of ink and the several ways of getting into a bank after the doors were closed. In October, 1914, I was made a bond salesman and since that time I have travelled around various parts of Massachusetts and New Hampshire selling securities for Lee, Higginson and Company.

CURLE LATIMER CALLANDER

Born at Norwood, Ontario, Canada, July 6, 1892.
Parents: Cyrus Newton, Sara Ellen (Latimer) Callander.
School: Fargo High School, Fargo, N. Dak.
Years in College: 1910–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Interne, Johns Hopkins Hospital.
Address: 1112 Third Ave., South, Baltimore, Md.; (permanent) Fargo N. Dak.

FROM Class Day in 1913, I went to my home in Fargo, North Dakota. The summer was spent for the most part in assisting in my father's medical practice. The following four years I spent in the Johns Hopkins Medical School studying for the degree of M.D. to be received in June, 1917. The summers of these years have been spent about equally divided between study and recreation. A large share of the vacation period has been spent travelling about the United States and Canada, visiting medical schools and fraternity chapters. During my course at medical school a great deal of my pleasure has been derived from my club life and I was fortunate enough in my studies to stand number ten in a medical class of ninety men, thus obtaining an interneship in medicine in the Johns Hopkins Hospital. The summer following graduation will be largely spent attending my Class reunion in Cambridge and in touring throughout New England and back to my home in Fargo, North Dakota.

AUGUSTUS JUAN JOSÉ RAMUNDO CAMPRUBI

Born at Barcelona, Spain, Nov. 29, 1890.
Parents: Raimundo, Ysabel (Aymar) Camprubi.
School: Middlesex School, Concord, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: M.E. 1913.
Unmarried.
Address: 49 Huntington St., New London, Conn.

[No report of his doings since leaving College was received. Ed.]

WILLIAM HENRY CAPEN

Born at Newton, Mass., Aug. 13, 1890.
Parents: William Henry, Hattie Allen (Wiswall) Capen.
School: Newton High School, Newton, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degrees: S.B. 1913; M.E.E. 1914.
Married: Julia Raymond Schmalz, Newton, Mass., Sept. 15, 1915.
Occupation: Telephone Engineer.
Address: (home) 115 Washington Pl., New York, N. Y.; (business) 463 West St., New York, N. Y.

THE summer following graduation from the Engineering School I went abroad and was in Italy when war broke out. Although I experienced numerous inconveniences and unpleasant conditions, especially during the return trip on a Greek boat, I had none of the harrowing tales brought home by many others who were trapped in Europe. Very shortly after returning I entered the transmission branch of the Western Electric Company, where I have since been, doing research, development and telephone engineering.

HENRY REGINALD CAREY

Born at Epsom, England, Sept. 12, 1890.
Parents: Arthur Astor, Laura Mary Agnes (Whiteside) Carey.
Schools: Milton Academy, Milton, Mass.; Browne and Nichols School, Cambridge, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Diplomatic Service.
Address: (home) 50 Fayerweather St., Cambridge, Mass.; (business) American Embassy, Paris, France.

AFTER attending the Harvard Medical School for a year, Carey went abroad. At the outbreak of the war he joined the staff of workers at the American Embassy, in Paris, and has done very valuable work.

[He has not been heard from; our notices may have been lost or never reached him. ED.]

JOSEPH GORDON CAREY

Born at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., March 14, 1890.
Parents: Joseph Carey, Katharine North (Guion) Carey.

Schools: Saratoga Springs High School, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.; West Roxbury High School, Jamaica Plain, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degrees: A.B. 1913; B.D. (Episc. Theol. Sch., Camb.) 1916.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Clergyman.
Address: Trinity Church, Sixth Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.

AFTER I left College, I attended Cambridge Episcopal Theological School for three years, and received the degree of B.D., so my experience in life as yet, has not been great enough to write about.

FREDERIC GROSVENOR CARNOCHAN

Born at Riverdale-on-Hudson, N. Y., Aug. 13, 1890.
Parents: Gouverneur Morris, Matilda Grosvenor (Goodridge) Carnochan.
School: St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H.
Years in College: 1909–10; 1912–13.
Degrees: A.B. 1913 (1914); S.M. 1916.
Married: Edna Grace Russell, Hartford, Conn., June 4, 1913.
Occupation: Student.
Address: (home) New City, Rockland County, N. Y.; (business) Bussey Institute, Forest Hills, Mass.

SINCE leaving College I have been doing post graduate work at the Bussey. I am working on a small and little known family of beetles.

PUBLICATIONS: Papers on Histeridae (Coleoptera) (2) published in Psyche, 1915. In press several papers on the Histerida of the United States.

MEMBER: Harvard Club, Boston; Rockland Country Club, Cambridge Entomological Club, American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Entomological Society, New England Botanical Club.

MOSES FRANCIS CARR

Born at West Newbury, Mass., Feb. 25, 1891.
Parents: Fred Sumner, Sarah Jane (Emery) Carr.
School: Brookline High School, Brookline, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–11.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Carr Fastener Co.
Address: (home) 86 Waban Hill Rd., Chestnut Hill, Mass.; (business) 31 Ames St., Cambridge, Mass.

ON leaving College in June, 1911, I decided to learn the rubberized fabric business in my father's rubber plant at South Framingham. That end did not appeal greatly, however, and in December, 1911, I transferred to the fastener company where I now am. I am interested in the F. S. Carr Company, of Boston, but spend all my time here in Cambridge at the Carr Fastener Company plant.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of Boston, Boston City Club, Audubon Society, and Columbian Lodge of Masons.

EUGENE PENDLETON CARVER, Jr.

Born at Arlington Heights, Mass., Nov. 9, 1891.
Parents: Eugene Pendleton, Clara (Porter) Carver.
School: Brookline High School, Brookline, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Lawyer.
Address: (home) 15 Buckminster Rd., Brookline, Mass.; (business) 110 State St., Boston, Mass.

THE three years after I left College I spent at the Harvard Law School. During the Triennial I was called out with the National Guard and served on the border at El Paso, Texas, as Sergeant of Company K, 8th Massachusetts Infantry, until November 5.

In the meanwhile I had passed my bar examinations and on my return was admitted, and formed a partnership with Mr. Lindsly B. Schell for the practice of law at 110 State Street, Boston.

I am President of the Federal Lumber Company, President of the Power Heating and Ventilating Company, Treasurer of the Coast Fisheries Company, and Treasurer of the Maine Coast Company. I am also a director in each of the above mentioned companies.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of Boston and Transportation Club of New York.

THEODORE CHADWICK

Born at Brookline, Mass., Jan. 5, 1891.
Parents: George Whitefield, Ida (Brooks) Chadwick.
School: Volkmann School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.

Unmarried.
Occupation: Transportation.
Address: (home) 360 Marlborough St., Boston, Mass.; (business) 941 South Station, Boston, Mass.

I STARTED in the Traffic Department of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company, and was employed in the Boston Freight Terminal of that road, in various capacities, from October, 1913, to January, 1916. From January until June, 1916, I saw service as a travelling auditor, with duties mostly confined to the eastern end of the system.

Being a member of the 1st Field Artillery, Massachusetts National Guard, the call for duty on the Mexican Border which was received by that organization on June 19, 1916, interrupted more serious business for a period of four months.

Since December, 1916, I have been in the Express Accountant's office in the South Terminal Station, Boston.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of Boston.

STEWART WILLIAM CHAFFEE

Born at Newtonville, Mass., March 4, 1891.
Parents: William Ricker, Isabel Elizabeth (Waitt) Chaffee.
Schools: Boston Latin School, Boston, Mass.; Brookline High School, Brookline, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Degrees: A.B. 1913; LL.B. 1915.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Law.
Address: (home) 76 Quint Ave., Brighton, Mass.; (business) 73 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.

SINCE receiving my LL.B. I have been practising law, being connected with the firm of Whipple, Sears and Ogden, of Boston.

On the 17th day of March, 1916, I was elected 2d Lieutenant of the First Marine Company of Massachusetts, and have taken much interest in military and naval matters.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of Boston.

CAREY JUDSON CHAMBERLIN

Born at Denver, Col., Feb. 26, 1892.
Parents: Carey Wiard, Harriet (Rogers) Chamberlin.
School: Beverly High School, Beverly, Mass.

Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Address: (home) 53 Lothrop St., Beverly, Mass.; (business) 600 West 122d St., New York, N. Y.

THE year following graduation I spent in travel and study in Europe. Five months of this time was in Germany, where I was technically a student at the University of Berlin. Then came three months of joy in Italy, and various wanderings in Switzerland, France, Belgium, Holland, and England. The past three years I have been studying at Union Theological Seminary, New York City. In June I expect to receive a B.D. from Union, and an A.M. in Economics from Columbia. My only achievement since leaving College is my engagement, recently, to Miss Sarah E. Browne of Cambridge.

LOY CHANG

Born at Kahului, Hawaii, Nov. 7, 1889.
Parents: Chang, Cho (Goo) Chang.
School: Honolulu High School, Honolulu, Hawaii.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degrees: A.B. 1913; M.B.A. 1916.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Banking.
Address: (home) P. O. Box 39, Lahaina, Main, Hawaii; (business) First National Bank, Boston, Mass.

I BECAME a student at the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration in the fall of 1913. In the spring of 1914, I was compelled by illness to discontinue regular work at the School, but resumed study the following fall. I completed my work and received my degree (M.B.A.) in February, 1916. Beginning with February, 1916, I became an apprentice in investment banking with the firm of Lee, Higginson and Company, 44 State Street, Boston. Having completed my apprenticeship with the firm in September, 1916, I entered the First National Bank of Boston, as apprentice in commercial banking. I am at present still in that capacity in the bank.

ERNEST WILDER CHAPIN

Born at Somerville, Mass., March 25, 1891.
Parents: Herbert Allen, Mary Murdock (Granger) Chapin.
School: Somerville English High School, Somerville, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Library Assistant.
Address: (home) 82 Munroe St., Somerville, Mass.; (business) 69 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge, Mass.

FROM July 1, to November 4, 1913, I was attached to a surveying party sent out to relocate the international boundary between the United States and Canada. I was one of four Americans, representing the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, who worked with the Canadian party covering a portion of the Minnesota frontier on the Lake of the Woods and the Rainy River. Returning to Boston, I was appointed in December, 1913, assistant in charge of the Vail Library at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. This collection, the private library of the English scientist George E. Dering, was bought after his death by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, through the influence of Mr. Theodore N. Vail, and given to the Institute. It comprises about 30,000 volumes of books, pamphlets and periodicals of a technical nature, for the most part electrical, and has proven sufficient to keep me and several assistants (some of our Simmons contemporaries) busy up to the present time, classifying and cataloguing. The collection has been in circulation during the present academic year, although the cataloguing is not within many months of being finished.

The only important activity by way of avocation to which I have committed myself is the study of voice. With the cheerful consolation that there is always room at the top and that great tenors especially can be numbered on comparatively few fingers of either hand (or shall we say toes of either foot?) I forge enthusiastically ahead with more foam than speed. ("Foam" is here simile rather than allusion.)

I have several times appeared as soloist with the Herford Chorus besides singing in public on various other occasions without great apparent detriment to the morale of the audience.

I should like to extend to many of the old friends scattered beyond immediate ken the most cordial remembrances and assure those who may be still mildly interested in my fate that

I shall act with a view to making my report for the Decennial blacklist much more thrilling in comparison with the present feeble "Amen."

MEMBER: Cecilia Society.

✠ Victor Emmanuel Chapman

Born at New York, N. Y., April 17, 1890.
Parents: John Jay, Minna (Timmins) Chapman.
School: St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Died in action, flying in France, June 23, 1916.

AFTER graduation he went to Paris to study. On the outbreak of the war he joined the Foreign Legion, and later was transferred to the Flying Corps, in which service he gained a lasting reputation for bravery and ability. He was an expert pilot, absolutely fearless, and always ready and able to do more than his share. On his last flight he was carrying a bag of oranges to his wounded friend, Clyde Balsley, the only nourishment which Balsley could then take. On his way to the hospital he joined in an aerial combat in which some of his comrades were outnumbered by the Germans. He brought down one enemy plane, but the odds were too overwhelming, and he was last seen flying beyond the enemy's line. He died fulfilling the very highest ideals of Service.

BURR LINDEN CHASE

Born at Niagara Falls, N. Y., June 11, 1891.
Parents: Adin Burr, Louise (Lindenboldt) Chase.
School: Niagara Falls High School, Niagara Falls, N. Y.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Business.
Address: (home) 381 Harvard St., Cambridge, Mass.; (business) 54–60 Stanhope St., Boston, Mass.

HOW you expect to get a connected story from a fellow who is still unconnected, is beyond my comprehension. However, the best I can do is this:

On July 1, 1913, I started work in the office of the Niagara Falls Linen Company, Niagara Falls, New York. Due to my untiring efforts the above mentioned concern went bankrupt, and I quit in September. In the meantime I was a co-partner in the Niagara Printing Company, a large and thriving typographical concern on which the leading industries of Niagara Falls depended largely for their printed matter. I was in charge of the office and the selling end of the business. About a year and a half later the partnership was dissolved, and was succeeded by the Niagara Printing Company, Incorporated, of which I was — and still am — President. I remained in active charge of the business until June 1, 1916, when I returned to old haunts and accepted a position with the Stanhope Press, Boston, printers and binders of technical and music books. I don't own the business yet.

I am also a special student in the Graduate Business School, where I'm taking a course in printing and publishing.

TALBOT COGGESHALL CHASE

Born at Boston, Mass., Jan. 22, 1892.
Parents: Peleg Coggeshall, Gertrude Morgan (Talbot) Chase.
School: Milton Academy, Milton, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Bond Salesman.
Address: (home) Atherton St., Readville, Mass.; (business) 15 State St., Boston, Mass.

I ENTERED the office of Estabrook and Company, the day after taking my last midyear examination in February, 1913, and have been with them from that day to this, slightly over four years. During that time no event of any special interest has occurred so far as I am concerned. I have been through very nearly every part of the office, and have become in that way more or less familiar with every phase of the business. At present I am attempting to dispose of stocks and bonds in various small towns in this vicinity of the state. It is by no means an easy job and sometimes a rather unpleasant one. During these four years many pleasant events have occurred, not the least of which was our Triennial. I mention this more for the fellows who could not or did not attend, and I urge them strongly not to fail to attend the next Reunion, for they missed something this time. The spirit shown then was, I think, a great tribute to the Class — I know it left an impression on me that I shall long remember.

Occupation: Teacher.
Address: (home) 22 Seymour St., Roslindale, Mass.; (business) Hotchkiss School, Lakeville, Conn.

FROM 1913 to 1915 I taught at the Choate School, Wallingford, Connecticut. Since then I have taught at the Hotchkiss School, Lakeville, Connecticut.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of Boston.

FRED RAYMOND CHURCHILL

Born at Boston, Mass., July 4, 1888.
Parents: Fred Lincoln, Nellie Elizabeth (Ring) Churchill.
School: Rindge Manual Training School, Cambridge, Mass.
Years in College: 1910–13.
Degree: S.B. 1913 (1914).
Unmarried.
Occupation: Private Secretary.
Address: (home) 281 Harvard St., Cambridge, Mass.; (business) 147 Milk St., Boston, Mass.

SHORTLY after leaving College, I joined the New England branch of the Hermann Boker Company, Incorporated, as a steel salesman. The opening of the present war caused the failure of this concern and I was dropped from their organization along with other new men they had taken on at the same time I went with them.

In March, 1915, I went into the Boston office of the Library Bureau. In June of the same year, I was transferred to their New York office where I remained until January, 1916, when I returned to Boston.

In February, 1916, I was sent by Stone and Webster to the New England Manufacturing Company at South Wilmington, Massachusetts, to be the secretary to the Manager. They were making munitions for the Allies and along with the other excitement at "death valley" I just missed the blowing up of their "T. N. T." buildings.

In May, 1916, I was recalled by Stone and Webster to take my present position, that of private secretary of the efficiency division of the Engineering Corporation. The opportunities for advancement appear to be many and I have no complaint to offer. While I have not proven myself a "business whirlwind" or a "financial wizard" yet, I expect in a few years to amass a fortune sufficient to ride around like a plutocrat in my own "flivver"!

THOMAS COGGESHALL

Born at Auburn, R. I., Nov. 6, 1891.
Parents: James, Hannah Elizabeth (Harrington) Coggeshall.
School: Boys' Latin School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Married: Georgia Amos Riley, Roanoke, Va., Dec. 29, 1914.
Occupation: Teaching.
Address: (home) 222 Hale Ave., White Plains, N. Y.; (business) Roger Ascham School, White Plains, N. Y.

THREE months after graduation, I went abroad for a year of travel and study, as a Sheldon Travelling Fellow, and settled down first at Manchester College, Oxford, for the Michaelmas term, working mostly under Dr. J. Estlin Carpenter and Dr. Laurence P. Jacks. At the conclusion of the term, I had two weeks in London with my college chum and roommate, George Gifford, before crossing to Germany, December 16, 1913. The greater part of the next three months was spent in Berlin, Dresden, and Munich, and devoted to the study of contemporary social and literary conditions in Germany. On the way, visits to Leipzig, Weimar, Eisenach, Wittenberg, Rothenburg, and Nüremberg were included, and in the middle of March, I turned to Vienna for two weeks. Next came nine weeks in Italy with visits to Milan, Turin, Genoa, Pisa, Naples, Pompeii, and Paestum, though most of my time and interest were given to Rome, Florence, and Venice. Before leaving Italy, I had two delightful weeks in Verona and various lake towns, Riva, Bellagio, and Stresa. This was followed by three weeks in Switzerland at Zermatt, Martigny, Chamonix, Geneva, Montreux-Territet, and Interlaken. From here, I returned to Munich late in June, for two more weeks in Germany, including visits to Nüremberg and Rothenburg once more, Heidelberg, Frankfort, Wiesbaden, a trip on the Rhine to Cologne, after which I had a week in Belgium, little dreaming what a tragic rôle it was destined to play in less than a month. This was followed by a week in Holland, and I turned to Paris, July 25, at the time when Austria's ultimatum to Serbia was leading up to the hostilities which were so soon to break out in most of the countries where my year had been spent.

A stirring two weeks and a half followed in Paris, and I next had ten days — rather less tense — in London, before sailing for home, August 21.

In September, I took up my work as a teacher in classics and German at Middlesex School, Concord, Massachusetts, and during the Christmas holidays was married in Roanoke, Virginia, to a daughter of the South, whom I had met in Rome. My summer — 1915 — too, was spent about Boston, but in the fall, we moved to New York City, where I joined the staff of the Browning School, as a teacher in French, History, Latin, and German. Our summer was spent in Virginia, Boston, and Newport, Rhode Island, and on returning to New York in the autumn, we moved to our present home, as I had resigned my position in the Browning School, to take charge of the department of classics in the Roger Ascham School, White Plains.

EBEN FOX COREY

Born at Portland, Me., Jan. 4, 1891.
Parents: John Lincoln, Rosa (Fox) Corey.
School: Browne and Nichols School, Cambridge, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Fruit Growing and Farming.
Address: Harvard, Mass.

SINCE leaving College I have lived almost entirely in the country. I took the "Ten Weeks Course" at Massachusetts Agricultural College in 1914; and that spring I bought a farm at Harvard, Massachusetts. I have set out about a thousand apple trees, and am now waiting patiently for them to arrive at bearing age. I have had to do a good deal of building and improving on my farm and that has kept me occupied. In the winter of 1915 I took a trip to the West Indies, and whenever I get time, I take short trips into Maine or New Hampshire. Life on a farm has distinct advantages in the way of enjoyment and freedom from the restraints of office life; but whether or not it is profitable remains to be seen. There are a number of Harvard men here in town or in this vicinity, though none of our Class besides myself.

LAURENCE SAMUEL CROSBY

Born at Dorchester, Mass., July 27, 1890.
Parents: Samuel Savage Smith, Emma Jane (Wheelock) Crosby.
School: Dorchester High School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Chemist.
Address: (home) Centerville, Barnstable Co., Mass.; (business) Dept. 19 A, B. F. Goodrich Co., Akron, O.

RECEIVED third degree in Masonry on the night of Commencement Day, June 19, 1913 — a big day.

Started work as assistant chemist at the Rhode Island Agricultural Experiment Station, situated in Kingston, Rhode Island, on July 15, 1913; which position I held until December, 15, 1915. The work was chiefly analytical in connection with the bulletins published by the station on feed and fertilizer control, and plant and soil investigations. While in Kingston, I joined the local Grange, the Eastern Star, and several other local organizations, in one of which, The Tavern Hall Club, I was elected Secretary. Incidentally, I had the distinction of being the only Harvard man in town. Attendance at the more important football and baseball games, including the 36–0 christening, class days and class dinners, made up for this lack of Harvard in my daily associations.

Feeling that the prospects in my line of work were better in the industrial field, in December, 1915, I accepted the offer of a position on the chemical staff of the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, and entered their employ January 3, 1916. I am finding my work here extremely interesting and satisfactory in the way of advancement. Besides myself, there are three other Harvard men on the chemical force of the company and the Harvard Club holds its own with the Cornell and Massachusetts Institute of Technology Clubs of the city. Aside from a natural preference for life in New England I have no complaint to make.

MEMBER: Harvard and University Clubs of Akron, Third Degree Mason, Order of Eastern Star, Fourth Degree Granger, and Boylston Chemical Club.

LEFT College June, 1911, and in July, 1911, started work as bill collector for Newark Telephone Company, Newark, New Jersey. In October became contract agent in charge of Jersey City office. In January, 1912, went to New York Telephone Company. Remained there until June, 1915, as contract agent and representative of the advertising department in Riverside Commercial Office, New York City, when I entered the Advertising Agency of Delmonico and Wallace, which became Delmonico, Wallace and Cutler, and which is now doing business under that name. In March, 1917, secured a farm in Morristown and got back to the land.

THE three winters following graduation in 1913 were spent at the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, and included occasional courses at Harvard and in the Andover Seminary. During the summers of 1913, 1914 and 1915, I earned a modest but increasing salary as Counsellor in charge of the nine and ten year olds at a private camp for fifty boys, Camp Mowgli, on Newfoundlake, New Hampshire. The spring vacation of 1916 was spent in passing off the last of my examinations for the priesthood in the Diocese of Massachusetts. On Ascension Day, the first of June, the Right Reverend William Lawrence ordained seven of us Massachusetts candidates to the Diaconate. The Degree of B.D. was not conferred upon me when I left the Cambridge Theological School, because of an illness during the early part of my senior year, which caused the faculty to grant me an extension of time in which to present the degree thesis.

On July 5, 1916, I embarked on the private schooner yacht, Jeannette of Hartford, for St. Anthony, Newfoundland, where after a voyage of nineteen days, I settled down for the balance of the summer to the life of farm- and dock-hand at the Grenfell Association Hospital, running a buzz-saw or making hay and conducting Sunday afternoon hospital services.

Since my return in September, I have been serving as a curate to the Very Reverend Frederick W. Beekman, at the Pro-Cathedral Church of the Nativity in South Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. The work includes the superintendency of a Sunday School of over 300 scholars, the leadership of a troop of Boy Scouts, and the charge of a chapel where one service a week is held. Besides which I assist in all the regular services of the Pro-Cathedral. There are only two attractions responsible for the presence of some 75,000 people in the Bethlehems — the Steel Company and the Lehigh University. With the interest that Mr. Schwab is now taking in municipal improvements, there begins to be hope of eventually starting even such an innovation as a Young Men's Christian Association. If any of my classmates come to see me, I hope they will be sure to telegraph for accommodations long in advance. There is only one place outside of my own room where a fellow could put up with comfort, and he never could find that place.

HENRY DANIELS

Born at Boston, Mass., Aug. 7, 1891.
Parents: Louis, Rose (Miller) Daniels.
School: Mechanic Arts High School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College: 1910–13.
Degrees: S.B. 1913; M.E.E. 1915.

Unmarried.
Occupation: Junior Assistant Engineer, City of Pittsburgh Transit Commission.
Address: 259 Frick Bldg. Annex, Pittsburgh, Pa.

AFTER leaving College I entered the Harvard Engineering School, taking the electrical engineering course, graduating M.E.E. 1915. Was Class Marshal.

My first job was with the Pennsylvania Lines west of Pittsburgh in the valuation department, as assistant on the engineering corps. The work was in connection with the Federal Valuation of Common Carriers. I held the job from October, 1915, to January, 1917.

In January, 1917, I received an appointment under the newly organized Transit Commission, City of Pittsburgh, where I am now located. I am employed in an engineering capacity.

MEMBER: American Institute of Electrical Engineers, Harvard Club of Western Pennsylvania, and National Geographic Society.

PAUL RUTLEDGE DANNER

Born at Iowa City, Ia., Aug. 18, 1892.
Parents: William Mason, Lois (Rutledge) Danner.
Schools: East Denver High School, Denver, Colo.; Boston University, Boston, Mass.
Years in College: 1910–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Secretary, International Committee, Y. M. C. A.
Address: (home) 105 Raymond St., Cambridge, Mass.; (business) 6 Chowringhee Lane, Calcutta, India.

AFTER graduating in 1913, I went to a business school for two months, and then sailed for India, via England, France, Switzerland, and Italy. I have been one of the national secretaries of the Young Men's Christian Association in India and Ceylon, which has been responsible for Young Men's Christian Association work not only in India and Ceylon, but also for the Indian Expeditionary Army work in France, British and German East Africa, and Mesopotamia. Since the outbreak of the war we have sent from India fifty secretaries to France, twenty-five to East Africa, and seventy to Mesopotamia.

My work was of a roving nature, for although I had headquarters in Calcutta, I travelled about constantly. Four months of each year were spent in Calcutta, and the other eight in touring.

I covered about 30,000 miles every year on the railways of India, living in twenty-five cities each year.

In February, 1916, I made a business trip from India to Egypt, and then returned to India. This was the time when I got closest to the war front, for when we passed through the Suez Canal we had to have sandbags on the side of the ship, and a steel frame in front of the pilot as protection from the bullets of the Turks.

In October, 1916, I started for America on holiday, and all went well until I was torpedoed by a German submarine in the Mediterranean. I was on the S. S. Arabia when she was sunk off the Grecian coast on November 6th. As she was torpedoed without warning there was a good deal of excitement getting off. I got away on a raft, and with twenty others floated, sometimes knee deep and sometimes waist deep in the water, for an hour and a half. Then we were picked up by a British trawler, and taken 360 odd miles to Malta. After an eight day halt there we were taken by troop-ship to Marseilles.

I was the only American out of the 764 people on board, but even so I haven't been able to get anyone at Washington, D. C., awake to the fact. It seems to be a crime for an American to leave his country! For if anything happens to him outside of the three mile limit he sinks or swims alone.

PUBLICATIONS: Have been Editor of the Young Men of India, a 64 page monthly magazine published by the National Council of the Young Men's Christian Association in India and Ceylon.

MEMBER: Young Men's Christian Association.

WILLIAM MASON DANNER, Jr.

Born at Chicago, Ill., July 16, 1890.
Parents: William Mason, Lois (Rutledge) Danner.
Schools: Manual Training High School, Denver, Colo.; East Denver High School, Denver, Colo.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: House Manager, Boston Y. M. C. A.
Address: (home) 29 Morseland Ave., Newton Centre, Mass.; (business) 316 Huntington Ave., Boston, Mass.

ON September 18, 1913, when the new Young Men's Christian Association building in Boston was opened I joined the secretarial staff, assuming responsibility for the membership and office work. In a year's time the membership had increased from 3,500 to 7,000. Gradually new responsibilities were added until the entire plant of the largest Young Men's Christian Association building in the world was under my care. There are seventy-six people on my staff at present, helping to operate the equipment, including main office, telephone switchboard, dormitories for 300 men, restaurant, spa, upkeep and repairs of a floor space of 201,960 square feet, etc. Naturally this means work for twenty-four hours every day in the year, since the Boston Association is never closed day or night. But it has meant the opportunity to organize and administer the different features of a large enterprise, and to feel that in all this work a very definite, helpful service is being rendered to the community and to the hundreds of individual young men who bring to us their personal problems.

In the Young Men's Christian Association movement at large I have been at the Geneva, Wisconsin, National Conference of Association Secretaries, and have served in various capacities with the committees for state and local conferences in Massachusetts. In facing the present war crisis, the Young Men's Christian Association is well organized and prepared to meet the specific needs of Field Service with the troops, and I expect to have a definite part in this work.

In July, 1915, I was engaged to absolutely the finest girl in the world and in June of this year I hope to be married to this same Miss Sara Ethel Kolb of Mount Airy, Pennsylvania.

For mental stimulation and education I have been making an intensive study of practical psychology, especially in its relation to habit formation and induced changes. The great variety of problems brought to us in the Young Men's Christian Association by boys and young men offers an excellent laboratory field, and the excellent results obtained are in themselves repayment for the time and effort involved in the study.

WILLIAM WARD DAVIES

Born at Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 11, 1890.
Parents: John William, May Catherine (Smith) Davies.
School: Cambridge Latin School, Cambridge, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Analytical Chemist, Assistant Laboratory Manager.
Address: (home) 25 Dana St., Cambridge, Mass.; (business) 24 Thayer St., Boston, Mass.

IN the fall of 1913 I returned to College and took a couple of chemistry courses and was assistant in Chemistry A, B, and C. Was appointed Austin Teaching Fellow for the year 1914–15 to assist in chemistry, but resigned to enter business in the fall with the firm of Davies, Rose and Company, Limited, Manufacturing Chemists. At the start I worked up through the different departments where the various pharmaceutical problems are solved so as to get a general idea of the nature of the business. Since that period I have been interested in the analytical and testing work carried on, as well as assistant to the laboratory manager.

PUBLICATIONS: "Comparison of Medicinal Mineral Oils — Russian and American," with W. F. Odom, in March, 1917, Journal of the American Pharmaceutical Association. "The Use of Synonyms in the New National Formulary," with Mr. Friedenburg, to appear shortly.

Address: (home) 3450 Vista Ave., Cincinnati, O.; (business) 204 St. Paul Bldg., Cincinnati, O.

JUST after graduation I travelled around the world, returning to my home in Cincinnati towards the end of November, 1913. I immediately entered into the service of the Central Trust and Safe Deposit Company, as a messenger, where I remained for a period of six months, doing odd jobs in various departments. Since leaving that institution I have been connected with W. H. Fillmore and Company of this city, which carries on a general business in investment securities. Outside of business I have been very active, taking some part in most social and civic movements and holding positions on many civic and charitable committees.

Occupation: Community Secretary and Agricultural Director.
Address: Aberdeen, N. C.

IN retrospect, my life looks just like Job's, only it seems to have struck me other end first. Job prospered, but was later beset and upset by troubles. Up to the day I graduated from Harvard the devil tried to thwart me at every turn and succeeded in making me something of a cynic; but since leaving college, life has been a thrilling and hilarious progression and I have become such an optimist that I frequently have to sit up nights to smile.

In June, 1913, without waiting for graduating exercises, Roger Treat and I set out to save the rural world with moving pictures, and finally pushed our work into the department of agriculture. After a year of this work Treat had a theological relapse and went back to Andover. I came to the Sandhill Section of North Carolina because it offered me the opportunity for which I was looking. In the past two years we have built up a big, sensibly-organized, country-life school, a rural hospital, and have made such headway generally that Colonel Roosevelt has written an article about our work. Uncle Sam's country sections need attention if the nation is to be strong. We think, therefore, that our work here may some day be counted important. Through the organization that we have built up we are making substantial progress, and are transforming a community.

Mrs. Davis and I invite all of you unfortunates who have to live in cities to visit out country home at any time and get a square meal. The high cost of living never touches us, for the living grows in the garden and on the farm. Life is worth while in the open country and happiness is possible.

Unmarried.
Occupation: Salesman of Antique Furniture.
Address: (home) 28 North Ave., Melrose Highlands, Mass.; (business) 18 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.

IN the fall of 1913, I secured a position as assistant to the manager of a credit house in Boston.

In January, 1914, I was offered a position under the Assistant Comptroller at Harvard College which I took. Here I remained until April, 1916, when I left to take charge of a country club in North Salem, Massachusetts, and remained there until the closing, late in the fall. Then I was offered a position in Boston's most exclusive antique store, Koopman's at 18 Beacon Street, where good opportunities have been promised me for the future. This business so far is very much to my liking. It is like living in a museum surrounded by beautiful works of art which are constantly coming and going all the time.

Unmarried.
Occupation: Medical Student.
Address: (home) 318 North Newstead Ave., St. Louis, Mo.; (business) Washington University Medical School, St. Louis, Mo.

AFTER graduation, I spent the summer months at a boy's camp in New Hampshire. Then, taking the leap which had been foreseen but dimly, I entered a shoe factory in Manchester, New Hampshire, one of the many McElwain factories. From September until the following February I did anything from pushing boxes down long aisles of operatives to feeling for stray nails, and other things that should not have been in finished shoes. Those who have not spent eight monotonous hours a day probing the depths of myriads of shoes for nails with a bare hand — nothing else is quite so delicate an indicator — have much to live for.

In February, 1914, I leaped once more, this time to a tutoring position, where, as is usually the case, I lived a pampered existence until September, having taught little and learned much.

Next the Medical School, at Washington University, St. Louis. Here all went nicely, and has continued to do so, in spite of more examinations. I had celebrated the last examination of our senior year with fitting rites, hoping never to see another. I am just finishing my third year at this school, and trust that in twenty more I can settle down with a Ford and a practice, and just enough saved up to reach Cambridge for the next reunion.

Address: (home) Waltonville, Ill.; (business) 40 Wareham St., Medford, Mass.

FOR two years I have held the pastorate of the Union Congregational Church of Medford, Massachusetts. My church ranks fourth in the state in admitting new members. I have been active in civic affairs in the state and city, especially regarding the suppression of the liquor traffic. I have resigned my church to take effect soon to enter the evangelistic field. I hope some day to preach to the boys of old Harvard.

My church was one of the cooperating churches in the Billy Sunday campaign. I was accredited as one of the two men to secure the most Trail Hitters for Mr. Sunday.

Hurrah for Harvard!

MY life since leaving College has been fairly well ordered, which makes for comfort, but I fear is of little interest to the Class. I have neither driven an ambulance, hunted big game or gone into politics.

Most of the five years in which I have been at work have been spent in the every-day attempt to earn my daily bread. This is of great interest to me, but doesn't make a story book. One happening not commonplace was a business trip to England in the summer of 1915, which was less adventurous, however, than I expected and gave me no real idea of what war is like. I must confess that I had a touch of war fever at the time and begin to feel the symptoms coming back.

MAURICE FRANCIS DEVINE

Born at Manchester, N. H., Dec. 13, 1889.
Parents: Patrick Aloysius, Mary Eleanor (Murray) Devine.
School: Manchester High School, Manchester, N. H.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Degrees: A.B. 1913; LL.B. 1916.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Lawyer.
Address: (home) 138 Ash St., Manchester, N. H.; (business) 503 Merchants' Bank Bldg., Manchester, N. H.

I LEFT College at the end of 1912, having completed the requirements for my degree. For the next fourteen months I was employed by the Haskell and Barker Car Company at Michigan City, Indiana. While there I learned something about the manufacturing of freight cars. I returned to College for my degree in 1913 and went West after the exercises. I entered the Harvard Law School in the fall of 1913 and took my degree in 1916. July 1, 1916, I became associated with Randolph Branch, '11, and Fred Branch, '10, in the practice of law. We have offices at 503 Merchants' Bank Building, Manchester, New Hampshire. Just at present I am undergoing the experience common to all young lawyers who are struggling to build up a practice. I trust that in our next report, I may be able to write that my struggles have not been in vain.

JAMES AUGUSTINE DONOVAN

Born at Lawrence, Mass., Aug. 25, 1889.
Parents: James, Margaret (O'Sullivan) Donovan.
School: Lawrence High School, Lawrence, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degrees: A.B. 1913 (1914); LL.B. (Boston Univ.) 1915.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Lawyer.
Address: (home) 61 Bradford St., Lawrence, Mass.; (business) 706 Bay State Bldg., Lawrence, Mass.

I GRADUATED from the Boston University Law School in June, 1915, with the degree of LL.B. and delivered the class oration. The following month I passed the Massachusetts bar examinations and was admitted to practice in Massachusetts in September, 1915. I was admitted to the United States courts in January, 1917. Since graduation I have been associated with Hon. Frederick W. Mansfield in the practice of law in Boston and I also opened law offices in Lawrence, Massachusetts.

I have been a member of the Lawrence Public Library trustees, elected by the City Government, for nearly five years, and I have been Chairman of the Democratic City Committee for three years. I served for eight months as Assistant Receiving Teller in the Massachusetts State Treasury.

In July, 1915, Governor David I. Walsh appointed me as a member of the Massachusetts State Board of Labor and Industries, and I have the honor of being the youngest man who has ever served on a Massachusetts commission.

In June, 1916, I attended the Democratic National Convention as a duly elected delegate from my district.

Unmarried.
Occupation: Master of A. B. Bruce School.
Address: (home) 78 Salem St., Lawrence, Mass.; (business) Ames St., Lawrence, Mass.

MY life has been very uneventful since leaving Cambridge in 1912. I went direct to the Lawrence High School and taught English for five years, or until my present appointment to the administrative branch of our school system. I have had a very varied experience in school work, having been previously at the head of an elementary evening school, instructor in the evening High School, and in a special school which sought to interest the large number of unnaturalized foreigners in the advantages of American citizenship. We were pioneers in this work, I believe, as we had a splendid example of the dangers from neglecting large numbers of aliens in our strike of 1912.

In 1915 I had an opportunity to go to New Haven (! !) but declined, as I thought at the time that I would rather not continue in school work any longer. I am, however, very happy in my present place.

IN October, 1912, I went to Europe, where I taught in a French lycée and in the Berlitz School at Barcelona, and finally was cost clerk in the engineering department of a large American construction company, stationed first at Lerida and then in the hills. As it was getting along toward the middle of May, I decided to quit and get back for graduation. In Septmeber I finally was made an assistant professor in a university of the Middle West where they had a lot of work and no time to hunt for a man. I lasted one year. In July, 1914, I sailed for Germany, expecting to get my degree at Paris at some future date. The war, however, drove me back, and by luck I found an instructorship vacant at Pennsylvania. I lasted there two years. I am now at the United States Naval Academy, instructor in modern languages. Financially I've been doing pretty well, for I now get about as much as a third rate locomotive engineer. So far I haven't passed it all on to another generation, and am probably safe yet awhile.

Occupation: General Contracting.
Address: 21 Kent St., Brookline, Mass.

AFTER graduating, I immediately went to work for my father in the general contracting business, and have remained in his employ ever since. Vacations have been few and of short duration. Hours, during outdoor working season, have generally been from 6 A.M. to 8 or 9 P.M., with the exception of two nights a week. I am now acting as a general superintendent of construction, in other words, go around to jobs, get data, give instructions, and see that materials are there when needed. Most of my experience has been on landscape construction, commonly called grading, following out the plans of landscape architects. However, I have been on concrete work, sewer work, and road construction and maintenance. It is a healthy clean vocation and I am well pleased to have started in this line. Lately the recompense side has been either minus or very close, owing to the great increases in the costs, and the difficulty of securing labor or materials, coupled with the fact that competition is keen and prices given never seem enough to yield profit, better called "contractor's salary for good management."

My only claim to offices of honor or trust is the fact that I was elected a Town-meeting member from Precinct 4, Town of Brookline, for a term of three years.

THE "following space" is more than sufficient. At present I work about all the time. If there is anything left here fifteen years from now, I hope to have something to write in a similar page then, rather than in this one. Unfortuntely, war, with a possible resulting bankruptcy, and socialism are not very congenial to art, which is at best a frail sort of exotic, I am afraid.

HENRY TOWNSEND DUER

Born at Baltimore, Md., June 10, 1892.
Parents: Douglas Henry, Genevieve Leland (Blodget) Duer.
School: Marston's University School, Baltimore, Md.
Years in College: 1910–12.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Mercantile.
Address: (home) 1020 North Calvert St., Baltimore, Md.; (business) 36–38 South Charles St., Baltimore, Md.

I COMPLETED my work for my degree at the end of my junior year, but went back the senior year as a student in the Graduate School of Business Administration. Owing to the illness of my father I left College at Christmas of the senior year and went to work with the firm of John Duer and Sons, Inc., manufacturers, jobbers and importers of cabinet hardware and upholstery goods. I have been with them ever since.

I spent one of my summer vacations in England and two others camping in Algonquin Park, Ontario, Canada. Last June, I started for the Triennial, but after spending one day at it, the calling out of the National Guard took me home to join my organization, Battery A, Maryland Field Artillery. Together with seven other batteries we were sent for the summer to the school of fire at Tobyhanna, Pennsylvania. We were finally mustered out on October 7. Praise be to God from whom all blessings flow!

LEVI BIRD DUFF, 3d

Born at Portland, Ore., Dec. 26, 1890.
Parents: Samuel Eckerberger, Agnes (Eccles) Duff.
School: Alleghany Preparatory School, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Degrees: A.B. 1913 (1912); S.B. (Mass. Inst. Tech.) 1914.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Engineer.
Address: (home) 139 Lincoln Ave., Bellevue, Pa.; (business) 52 South Oakland Ave., Sharon, Pa.

AT the end of our junior year I had sufficient courses for my degree and decided to enter the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. After spending two years in the civil engineering department there, I graduated in 1914 with an S.B. in Civil Engineering.

Returning to my home in Pittsburgh, I secured a position with the Lake Erie and Ohio River Canal Commission and spent ten months as Assistant Hydraulic Engineer on the preliminary examination of the canal project. This work was completed in May, 1915, and I went to work as a field engineer on heavy construction work for Mackintosh-Hemphill and Company of Pittsburgh.

In August, 1915, I had an opportunity to go to Ellwood City, Pennsylvania, with the Shelby Steel Tube Company, and spent the next year and a half there in charge of the engineering work on the construction of large additions to the company's plant.

The Shelby Company's work was finished in January, 1917, and since February 1, 1917, I have been resident engineer on the construction of additions to the plant of the American Sheet and Tinplate Company, at Farrell, Pennsylvania.

HENRY FOWLER DUNBAR

Born at West Newton, Mass., May 31, 1889.
Parents: James Robert, Harriet Pierce (Walton) Dunbar.
School: Brookline High School, Brookline, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Married: Isla Magdalene Knauth, New York, N. Y., May 12, 1917.
Occupation: Educational Work.
Address: 30 Kilsyth Rd., Brookline, Mass.

ON graduating I took up a temporary position as companion and tutor for two small boys in New Hampshire. In the fall of 1913 I took up work with a slate company, doing publicity work with them among architects and builders. In February, 1914, I accepted a position of similar work with the firm of Bird and Son of East Walpole, for whom I travelled over New England and New York State.

In August, 1914, I had had as much of prosaic business as my Harvard idealism could stand, so procured a teaching position in the Wheeler High School in North Stonington, Connecticut, where I taught chemistry, geometry, algebra, and arithmetic, and acted as athletic director and took charge of a small dormitory for boys. The following summer I studied physics at Columbia University. The next academic year I spent teaching physics chiefly at Worcester Academy, but resigned the position in June, 1916, thoroughly weary of dormitory and other petty duties, determining to go into public school work and aim towards administration.

The summer of 1916 was spent in travelling and visiting in the South, digging clams at Hingham, Massachusetts, and persuading the young lady who graced my graduation exercises in June, 1913, to become my wife.

The winter of 1916 and 1917 was spent studying education at Teacher's College, Columbia University, with special reference to public school administration.

MEMBER: New England Botanical Society.

AFTER leaving College in February, 1913, I took a short pleasure trip South. In May, I entered the wool business in Boston. In December of the same year I went abroad to learn the foreign end of the business, spending most of my time in London, Bradford, and the north of France. Driven home by the war, I again settled in Boston until the spring of 1916.

Then I moved to New York and went into the publishing house of Doubleday, Page and Company at Garden City, where I remained for half a year.

I am now in the bond business.

TRAVELLED in Germany in the fall of 1912 with Professor G. P. Baker, studying the theatres. I wintered in Munich, travelled in Italy and France, spent the summer in England, and in August, 1913, joined Miss Horniman's Repertory Theatre at Manchester. I returned home in November, and lived in Cambridge until July, 1914; then joined the staff of Winthrop Ames at the Little Theatre, New York, as play-reader and stage-manager. In March, 1915, I produced Andreiev's "Love of One's Neighbor" for the Washington Square Players at the Band-box Theatre, and in April, joined their staff as producer, play-reader, and actor. In September, 1915, I became Director of the Little Theatre at Indianapolis, and made four productions (nine different plays of varying lengths) in five months. I re-joined the Washington Square Players in February, 1916. On leave of absence in April and May I produced "The Book of Job" for the Harvard Menorah Society.

I am still waiting and am yet to be published.

AFTER the close of College in June, 1913, I went directly to Peterborough, New Hampshire, where I lived near the MacDowell Colony and worked at musical composition with Henry F. Gilbert, a member of the colony. Learned a certain amount and derived considerable benefit to my health. Returning home to Brooklyn I entered my father's real estate business to please my family. Continued there a year studying music at odd times with Benjamin Lambord of New York. Purchased a ticket to England whither I was going with my classmate Brett Langstaff, but postponed my departure on the outbreak of the war. Continued in the real estate business for another year in Brooklyn and then in New York. Continued also to work with Lambord, but learned little. On August 11, 1915, having procured a passport with difficulty, I sailed for Marseilles shortly after the death of my teacher, Lambord. Arriving in Paris I commenced the study of composition with André Gedalge and piano with Paul Braud. Continued until the following summer, making considerable progress. My health being bad I went to England to visit my friend Langstaff, who was then at Magdalen College, Oxford. I travelled through England and Scotland, returning from London to Paris. I attempted to take up my studies with Gedalge but my health gave way and the doctor advised an operation for appendicitis. Was operated upon at the American hospital at Neuilly-sur-Seine and two months after the operation returned to New York City, whither my family had moved from Brooklyn. Arrived there in November, 1916, after a stay abroad of some fifteen months. In 1915 was elected President of the Modern Music Society of New York, which office I still hold.

Unmarried.
Occupation: Lawyer.
Address: (home) 19 Follen St., Cambridge, Mass.; (business) 84 State St., Boston, Mass.

I COMPLETED my course and left College in 1912 and started in the Law School, but was there less than a month, leaving on account of illness. Returning the following fall, I graduated in June, 1916. The Law School is hard work, and perhaps for that reason I think I got more out of it than I did out of College. In the summer I tutored, and one summer went to Plattsburg, where I saw most of the Class of 1913 in khaki; they looked pretty handsome in it. In September, 1916, I started work as a clerk in the office of Goodwin, Proctor and Ballantine, 84 State Street, Boston, attorneys at law. (Leave out that "as a clerk." It doesn't sound important enough.) F. G. Blair, '13, is in the same office. We work hard, and are conducting a rigid search for cheap and attractive places to eat. We have begun to think that the combination does not exist. This is a bully chance for Blair and me to tell the Class what good lawyers we are — but it is unprofessional to advertise. We welcome suggestions from experts Barron and Hollister who might be able to tell us how to advertise without advertising. I am not married, though I have had several attractive offers during the past Leap Year. Blair is even now considering an excellent offer from a rich, old lady of ninety-two. He is afraid she is attracted more by his beauty than his character. This is impossible, as she is totally blind. I have held no offices of honor or trust. It has been a great disappointment to me.

HENRY COFFIN EVERETT, Jr.

Born at Boston, Mass., June 6, 1891.
Parents: Henry Coffin, Ellen Crocker (Tufts) Everett.
School: Noble and Greenough's School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Lockwood, Greene & Co., Managers; Cotton Mill Management.
Address: (home) 49 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, Mass.; (business) 60 Federal St., Boston, Mass.

ON October 15, 1913, I entered the employ of Lockwood, Greene and Company, 60 Federal Street, Boston, Massachusetts, (engineers of industrial plants and managers of textile corporations) where I became connected with the management department. I became especially occupied in the work of the Lancaster Mills, Clinton, Massachusetts, manufacturers of ginghams; The Draycott Mills, public service as well as manufactures of cotton goods; and The Touraine Mills, Inc., manufacturers and converters of silks, the last two plants located in New Hartford, Conn.

In June, 1914, I became Assistant Treasurer and Director of The Touraine Mills, Inc., spending the greater part of that summer in New York in charge of its sales department. In the fall I also became Assistant Treasurer and Director of The Draycott Mills, with my headquarters in the Boston office, with weekly trips to Connecticut and an occasional visit to the mills in Clinton.

During the following summer of 1915 and until May, 1916, being particularly desirous of following the cotton end of the business rather than silk, I had the opportunity of going to the Lancaster Mills twice a week, as well as continuing my work in Boston and my visits to the other plants, and in this way spent about nine months in learning some of the manufacturing detail in the various departments of a cotton mill.

During this time I served as a member of the 1913 Class Triennial Committee.

On January 1, 1916, Lockwood, Greene and Company organized two operating companies, Lockwood, Greene and Company, Managers, and Lockwood, Greene and Company, Engineers, I continuing my same duties as a member of the former organization.

In May, 1916, I was sent south to represent Lockwood, Greene and Company in an investigation of eight cotton mills in South Carolina which the Company proposed to purchase. These were acquired in June, five of them being simultaneously resold, and the other three becoming the property of Lockwood, Greene and Company, and operated by the Management Corporation. At this time I resigned from the Draycott and Touraine Mills to become Treasurer and Director of the three southern companies, which became incorporated under the names of Winnsboro, Wateree, and Addison Mills. These new duties include frequent trips to the South, and this together with close attention and a weekly trip to Lancaster Mills, and an occasional visit to its selling house in New York, now occupy my time.

On January 1, 1917, I was elected a Director of Lockwood, Greene and Company, Managers, which at the present date operate fourteen mills in the United States and Canada.

MEMBER: Tennis and Racquet, Exchange, and Harvard Clubs of Boston; The Country Club of Brookline; Harvard Club of New York; and National Association of Cotton Manufacturers.

WORKED immediately after leaving College for Levirs and Sargent, a Lynn shoe firm. I went to Europe for them in the summer of 1913.

In the fall of 1913 I went with Howes Brothers Company, a sole leather concern. I have been with this firm and subsidiary companies ever since, working as a salesman for two years in New York City, and later as manager of a branch of one of the subsidiaries. I returned to the home office in April, 1916.

I went to the Mexican Border with Headquarters Company, First Massachusetts Field Artillery, returning in October to my former position with Howes Brothers.

Unmarried.
Occupation: Woolen Manufacturer.
Address: (home) 194 West St., Keene, N. H.; (business) Keene, N. H.

SINCE June, 1913, my life has been too uneventful to "write up." In September of that year I entered the employ of Faulkner and Colony Manufacturing Company, woolen manufacturers, and now hold a position of trust in the office of that company.

In September, 1915, on a Maine fishing trip, I caught a bigger fish than Sturgis. In June, 1916, my voice warbled to the gyrations of Torrey Ford's Florida palms. In March, 1917, Slip Rogers refused to allow me to "set 'em up" to him.

Married: Anne Nelson, Boston, Mass., Oct., 21, 1913.
Occupation.
Address: 58 Brimmer St., Boston, Mass.

IN September, 1913, I began my business career in Philadelphia, working for the United Gas Improvement Company of that city. After having been there about a year, I decided to return to within hearing distance of Cambridge, so came to Boston. I have been employed since that time by the firm of Bigelow and Harriman, building contractors. Now, with the utmost confidence in "the third time never fails," I am contemplating another change, but have not definitely made up my mind as to just what this new business will be.

Occupation: Student at Harvard Law School.
Address: 1313 North State St., Chicago, Ill.

ON leaving College, I went West to see life and make my fortune. I first tried pitching alfalfa hay at Golconda, Nevada. We worked eleven hours daily, and twelve on Sundays, at 100° F. and $2.00 per. One day the boss said: "I am going to promote you. Hereafter you are timekeeper and Assistant United States Postmaster. You can keep on with your present job and do the timekeeping and postmastering in your spare time. Your pay will not be reduced." I thanked him for his generosity. Shortly afterwards he appointed his wife to my new job, without pay; whereupon I gratefully accepted an opportunity to shovel mud in irrigation ditches until another crop of alfalfa had grown big enough to be cut. I also was teamster for about a month, and for a while was on a fencing crew, digging post holes in the desert, the desert being hard and dry, like a cement walk. After the harvest, I went to California, working on a pick-and-shovel gang for a while. At this place, sixteen men, in double-decker bunks, lived in a twenty foot square bunk-house, thus giving me a great opportunity to further one of my original objects: viz., see life — several species. I held down a job as axeman for a time, and as surveyor's helper for a couple of months. Returning to Chicago via New Orleans, I put in the rest of my first year out at teaching English, trucking barrels, being a cost clerk, and other similar pursuits. About this time I began to think with regrets of the arm-chair life of ease being led by Elliott Smith, Babe Dunbar, and others who were learning the high-toned trade of a lawyer, so I entered the University of Chicago Law School. Here I made the mistake of my life, in refusing election to a law fraternity, for I later found out that the frat-pin alone was worth the entire dues. T. Gorham used to say that a great advantage of Harvard not mentioned in the catalogue was that after you had lived in the town of Cambridge four years you would be content to live anywhere. Perhaps Tom impliedly excluded Chicago; but however that may be, I couldn't keep from coming back for my second year of law. With luck , I will be here next year.

ROBERT LEWIS FORBUSH

Born at Natick, Mass., Aug. 4, 1890.
Parents: Frank Mortimer, Annie Louise (Mead) Forbush.
School: Newton High School, Newton, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Unmarried.

Occupation: Electrical Engineer.
Address: (home) 70 Sumer St., Newton Centre, Mass.; (business) c/o Cape Breton Electrical Co., Ltd., Sydney, N. S.

AFTER leaving College in June of 1912, I went to work at once for Stone and Webster at their Brockton company, the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Brockton. While employed there I worked in nearly every department, from line gang to distribution office.

In the fall of 1913, I was transferred to the Stone and Webster Engineering Corporation, then starting on the construction of the new buildings for Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge. This work continued until the summer of 1916, when I was again transferred back to the Stone and Webster Management Association and sent to Lowell, Massachusetts.

While in Lowell I was Assistant Chief Electrician, working on engineering problems such as new substation layouts and estimates. I left Lowell on January 22, 1917, to take the position of Superintendent of Light and Power for the Cape Breton Electric Company, Ltd., at Sydney, Nova Scotia. This is also a Stone and Webster property.

NEVIL FORD

Born at Boston, Mass., April 18, 1891.
Parents: Edwin, Anne Paddock (Hopkins) Ford.
School: Volkmann School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: S.B. 1913 (1914).
Unmarried.
Occupation: Stock Broker and Bond Salesman.
Address: (home) 37 Devon Rd., Chestnut Hill, Mass.; (business) 19 Congress St., Boston, Mass.

ON leaving College I went to work as a lumper in the lumber yard of the A. H. Davenport Company, in Cambridgeport, where owing to the advantages of a college education I was soon promoted to the exalted rank of sweeper and was given sole charge of several hundred feet of floor space; a great responsibility and one requiring a quick eye and great devotion to duty. My extreme energy caused such discomfort to the workmen endeavoring to labor in the clouds of dust stirred up by my busy broom that to avoid a strike I was again rapidly promoted and became a salesman and fledgling interior decorator in the Boston office of the Company. Here I remained for a year astonishing all by my eye for beauty and my devotion to art. The A. H. D.

Co. being bought out by another concern, I remained with the new concern for six months or so and then left to take up my abode with J. J. Minot, Jr., '13, and H. B. Gardner, '13, at Jackson and Curtis, 19 Congress Street, Boston, where I still am, dispensing stocks and bonds with the aid of my aforementioned classmates. During the summer of 1915 I became imbued with a desire for the bold life of a man-at-arms, which a month at Plattsburg failed to quench and I have become a rooter for preparedness. During the following winter I was laid low in my proud career by a gentle maiden who has designated me as the provider for life, pending certain legal and ecclesiastical ceremonies at some future date. My martial ardor tempered, I fell back on the Triennial as an avocation for my chastened spirit. With the aid of my namesake Henry, I was enabled to afford the class much merriment but nevertheless they did not escape unscathed as I, being Triennial Treasurer, picked their pockets while they lay convulsed with mirth. After recovering from the Triennial and balancing my books, and my head, I spent a quiet summer in the company of the gentle maiden, who still recognized me, carrying her golf sticks instead of a gun. Politics have claimed their share of my time and having served on the Executive Committee for two years I am now Treasurer of the Young Republicans of Massachusetts. If we do not go to war I may still be found at Jackson and Curtis, where 1913 is always welcome and where we can talk over the possibility of a class report appearing before we have to write our lives again.

ACTIVITIES! Whadd'ye mean activities? Golf? Sure I play — the first time I broke a hundred, I ordered wine for the entire club; and when I fell into the eighties, I swelled out my chest and inquired if writing movie plays would injure my amateur standing. In winter I chased the pill down by the jaded blue Gulf of Mexico, and in summer I hunted some northern course where there aren't any hazards to catch a slice.

But at the reunion, my life was revolutionized. To hear my classmates talk of amassing and un-amassing fortunes, to listen to their prattle of pooling stock and stocking pool! I, too, felt the sting of ambition. I, too, wanted to go out into the world.

And so I went — far out to Madison, Wisconsin, and stayed there as Sporting Editor of the Wisconsin State Journal for a few unhappy weeks. Then back to Boston as a special writer on the Boston Herald and at this writing, as Dramatic Editor of the Boston Traveler. Thank you one and all for the "ad."

IMMEDIATELY after graduation in 1913 I entered railway service as a clerk in the paymaster's office of the Boston and Albany Railroad. Two months later I was transferred to the freight traffic department of the same road, following which I spent a few weeks in the general manager's office of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, working with a committee of operating men on a new rule book for the operating department. Since November, 1913, I have been on the editorial staff of the Railway Age Gazette with the title of associate editor.

Occupation: Private Secretary.
Address: (home) 26 Hollis St., East Milton, Mass.; (business) 78 Chauncy St., Boston, Mass.

IN the summer of 1913, Ralph Porter and I started to win fame and fortune by becoming expert watchers of the stock tickers in the offices of the Boston News Bureau. Neither fame nor fortune being forthcoming in the dull season then existing on the market, I left the News Bureau to go as private secretary with William Whitman Company, Inc., textile merchants in Boston, in February, 1914, and they are still enduring me. I have done nothing exciting or unusual, being merely an average citizen.

SINCE leaving College in 1913, my time has been passed as follows:

Two years at the Harvard Law School, one year in the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, New York, and now with Lee, Higginson and Company, New York.

Last summer I attended the August Plattsburg training camp.

Beyond these few facts, there seems little of importance to narrate.

NELSON GAMMANS

Born at Portland, Ore., May 21, 1891.
Parents: George Gordon, Laura Marion (Toll) Gammans.
School: Portland Academy, Portland, Ore.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degrees: A.B. 1913; LL.B. 1916.
Married: May Oddo, New York, N. Y., Feb. 8, 1911.
Occupation: Lawyer.
Address: (home) 300 West 101st St., New York, N. Y.; (business) 61 Broadway (room 1507), New York, N. Y.

THE first three years after leaving Harvard College I spent at the Harvard Law School. I received the degree of LL.B. in June last. Immediately thereafter I came to New York City and entered the law office of Clark, Prentice, McClure and Roulstone, acting as legal secretary to one of the partners of that firm.

PUBLICATIONS: In the January, 1914, number of the American Journal of International Law was published an article of mine on "The Responsibility of the State for Injuries to Foreigners." This article was in substance a comparison of the external liabilities of the United States for such injuries and the constitutional authority of the Federal Government to restrain them. During the latter half of 1914 and the early part of 1915, I contributed approximately fifty editorials to the editorial columns of the Boston Herald. These were all on subjects involving questions of international law and diplomacy.

LEWIS STILES GANNETT

Born at Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 3, 1891.
Parents: William Channing, Mary Thorn (Lewis) Gannett.
School: East High School, Rochester, N. Y.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degrees: A.B. 1913; A.M. 1915.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Journalist.
Address: (home) 148 Waverly Pl., New York, N. Y.; (business) c/o The World, New York, N. Y.

WENT abroad on a small fellowship in July, 1913, and stayed until after the outbreak of the war, most of the time in Germany, making a pretense at studying economics. Was in Rheims when the French mobilization began, but got to Paris the night of August 1, and am, I think, the only living American who came out of Europe without a story of horrible hardship in those first weeks of August.

Spent the next year in the Graduate School in Cambridge. In the fall of 1915 I innocently attempted to assist a few friends, and some friends of friends, to register as voters in Cambridge; as a result of which Captain Gordon of the Cambridge Police Department journeyed to New York late in November and brought me back with him just in time for Thanksgiving. Hung around Cambridge off and on through the winter, but the District Attorney did not see fit to try me immediately, and eventually, after a year, nol prossed the cases.

In the intervals between calls to Cambridge, made a trip through some of the middle western colleges, and another to the south for the American Association for International Conciliation.

Finally in March, 1916, I determined to enter newspaperdom; and wrote my first story on The World on an April Fooler who landed in jail. And it was through working on The World last summer that I met Mary Ross!

PUBLICATION: Translated A. H. Fried's "The Restoration of Europe," Macmillan, 1916.

BENJAMIN SOULÉ GANTZ

Born at Rapid City, S. Dak., June 20, 1891.
Parents: Jacob Shoop, Mary Addie (Soulé) Gantz.
School: Manor School, Stamford, Conn.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Married: Ethyle Gertrude Offutt, Washington, D. C., May 6, 1916.
Child: Benjamin Soulé, Jr., Feb. 24, 1917.
Occupation: Paymaster and Supply Officer, 6th Division Submarine Force, Atlantic Fleet.
Address: (home) 5118 Wisconsin Ave., Washington, D. C.; (business) U. S. S. Ozark, c/o Postmaster, New York, N. Y.

UPON leaving College I went into the employ of the Chicago and North-Western Railroad for several months, leaving that position to go to Washington, D. C., where I went into the employ of the Continental Casualty Company. On December 8, 1915, I took the competitive examination from civil life for a commission in the Navy and passed fifth. I was commissioned an Assistant Paymaster with rank of Ensign January 12, 1916, and after completing the prescribed course at the Naval Pay Officers School at Washington, D. C., was ordered to the U. S. S. Ozark where I am at present the Paymaster and Supply Officer of the Sixth Division Submarine Force, Atlantic Fleet.

HENRY BURCHELL GARDNER

Born at Sharon Springs, N. Y., Sept. 12, 1891.
Parents: Alfred Wild, Mary Elizabeth (Burchell) Gardner.
School: St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Married: Sarah Spencer Morgan, Princeton, N. J., Sept. 12, 1914.
Child: Sarah Morgan, July 30, 1915.

Occupation: Bond Salesman.
Address: (home) 142 Brattle St., Cambridge, Mass.; (business) 19 Congress St., Boston, Mass.

IMMEDIATELY on graduating I started work with the American Thermos Bottle Company in their New York office. In January, 1914, I went to their main office in Norwich, Connecticut, in their sales department. I left the Company in August, 1914, was married in September, and in October, 1914, started to work for Jackson and Curtis, Boston, as a bond salesman, where I have been ever since. I have made my home in Cambridge since being married. Attended Plattsburg last summer. I am a member of the Election Committee of the Harvard Club of Boston, and on the Executive Committee of the Harvard Varsity Club.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of Boston, Harvard Club of New York City, Sons of the Revolution, and Young Republicans of Massachusetts.

JOSEPH STANLEY GIBSON

Born at Beaver Dam, Wis., March 20, 1891.
Parents: Joseph S., Fay E. (Harvey) Gibson.
School: Lawrenceville School, Lawrenceville, N. J.
Years in College: 1910–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.

Occupation: Investments.
Address: (home) 1325 Berkshire Ave., Los Angeles, Cal.; (business) 621 Van Nuys Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.

I WAS in Europe during the summer of 1913 and studied law at Columbia in the fall of 1913. The winter of 1913 and 1914, was in Texas. The spring of 1914 I came to California and entered the advertising business. In 1915, drove a machine across the continent. Returned to California and went into the investment business, in which I am now engaged.

MEMBER: Dartmouth and Harvard Clubs of Los Angeles.

SAMUEL KIDDER GIBSON

Born at Lowell, Mass., Oct. 16, 1891.
Parents: John Irving, Mary Ellen (Kidder) Gibson.
School: Lowell High School, Lowell, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Degree: A.B. 1913.

Unmarried.
Occupation: Soldier.
Address: 34 Gorham St., Cambridge, Mass.

SAMUEL Kidder Gibson, after leaving College in 1912, filled several positions in Boston, in the insurance and real estate business, the last of which terminated in March, 1916. At that time, he sailed from New York, arriving in London early in April.

One week later he took a position in the advertising department of the General Electric Company, Ltd., which position he held until the early summer, when he entered the Cadet Artillery Training Unit for Officers, and on November 20 was gazetted Second Lieutenant, Royal Garrison Artillery, and assigned to a new battery. He expected to go to France the first week in April.

His position with the General Electric Company will be reserved for him.

GEORGE HUSSEY GIFFORD

Born at New Bedford, Mass., May 3, 1892.
Parents: Nathaniel William, Elizabeth Colden (Murray) Gifford.
School: Boston Latin School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Student.
Address: 98 Princeton St., East Boston, Mass.

IN September, 1913, I sailed for England to begin work at Balliol College, Oxford. I was abroad for three years, the two latter of which, of course, came in war time. My life was, I fear, singularly unadventurous, judging from the stories other people tell, but I look back on it as a very satisfying experience. Particularly I am glad to have had two longish sojourns in France, in the summer of 1915, and the following winter.

At present my work, half teaching and half graduate study, is in the Romance Department at Harvard. I expect it to be the same for next year.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of Boston.

EDWIN STUART GILES

Born at Lowell, Mass., Oct. 25, 1891.
Parents: Edwin Luther, Jennie (Stuart) Giles.
School: Lowell High School, Lowell, Mass.

Years in College: 1909–12.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Married: Helen Howe Cary, Lowell, Mass., Oct. 11, 1915.
Occupation: Fire Insurance.
Address: (home) 208 Pine St., Lowell, Mass.; (business) 117 Water St., Boston, Mass.

UPON leaving College, entered the employ of Russell and Fairfield, general insurance agents in Boston, Massachusetts, and was later appointed office manager for this concern. Resigned in January, 1916, to become associated with Henry J. Ide, New England General Agent for several prominent fire insurance companies, and have recently been appointed special agent.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of Lowell, Vesper Country Club.

CHARLES GILFIX

Born at Volhynia, Russia, Jan. 1, 1890.
Parents: Morris, Frances (Alden) Gilfix.
School: Newton High School, Newton, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: S.B. 1913.
Married: Dora Esther Aisner, Revere, Mass., June 28, 1914.
Child: Louis, May 2, 1915.
Occupation: Special Agent and Investigator for the Massachusetts Minimum Wage Commission.
Address: (home) 19 Dana St., Revere, Mass.; (business) 1 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.

FOR a short time after leaving College I was employed in the accounting department of Willett, Sears Company, 60 Federal Street, Boston. Later I accepted an appointment in the department of manufactures statistics of the Massachusetts Bureau of Statistics, as special agent. After a short while I was appointed an investigator in the homework division of the State Board of Labor and Industries. Since 1914 I have been special agent and investigator for the Massachusetts Minimum Wage Commission.

During the three years past I have been not only an interested spectator in the game of industry as played by capital and labor, but also frequently in the thick of the contest. As yet, I am not sure who will take the laurel wreath.

I am President of the Revere Credit Union Bank and a director of the Revere Cooperative Bank.

MEMBER: Boston Lodge 34, L. O. O. M., Amos Lodge, I. O. B. B., Past President Revere Lodge, I. O. B. A.

Occupation: Assistant in Marketing, Harvard Business School.
Address: (home) 383 Harvard St., Cambridge, Mass.; (business) Harvard Business School, Cambridge, Mass.

Chapter I. July 1, 1913, to September 15, 1913. Chopped wood and hoed corn with M. T. Fisher, '13, "somewhere in New Hampshire." Founded Camp Spizzerinktum (Yankee for Vim and Vigor). With the assistance of a persistent species of cynanche parotidæa and dipterous culex (known in Carroll County as mumps and mosquitoes) a swell time was had by all.

Chapter II. September 27, 1913, to April 30, 1914. Completed Business School course, specializing in advertising and selling. Can now read degrees both ways. Lost my heart.

Chapter III. May 1, 1914, to May 4, 1915. Executive Secretary, Cambridge (Mass.) Board of Trade. Twelve months as a "live wire" in Central Square! (See Cambridge Chronicle of above dates.) "Kissing the babies" — trying work. Lost my appendix.

Chapter IV. May, 1915. Married the dearest girl in the world and accidentally went on a sample honeymoon.

Chapter V. June 1, 1915, to August 31, 1916. Manager, Land Development, F. W. Norris and Company, real estate and insurance, Cambridge, Mass.

Chapter VI. September, 1916. A real honeymoon!

Chapter VII. September 25, 1916, to date. Assistant in Marketing, Harvard Business School. A sortie in greater preparedness while teaching the young idea to shoot.

(To be continued.)

IRA BOYDEN GORHAM

Born at Stillwater, Minn., Jan. 12, 1888.
Parents: George Ives, Clara Augusta (Boyden) Gorham.
School: Central High School, Minneapolis, Minn.
Years in College: 1910–13.

Unmarried.
Occupation: Advertising and Art Editor, Good Furniture Magazine.
Address: (home) Y. M. C. A., Grand Rapids, Mich.; (business) Dean-Hicks Company, Grand Rapids, Mich.

ON leaving College I entered the iron ore business in Minnesota, my home state, and for a year was General Manager of the Plymouth Exploration Company. I had entire charge of the field work with offices at Crosby, Minnesota, on the Argima iron range. In the spring of 1914 I returned to Minneapolis to engage in a different phase of the same line of work.

Being temperamentally unsuited to this line of endeavor I gave it up in March, 1915, and entered the field of architecture, for which I prepared in Harvard, and continued in this profession up to within a few weeks of the present. Believing that magazine work offers a great opportunity for service and advancement I have accepted, tentatively, the position of Advertising and Art Editor of the Good Furniture magazine. I am following a Harvard man in this office, C. Matlack Price, '09, who gave up the work for a larger opportunity of service elsewhere.

QUINCY SHAW GREENE

Born at Dresden, Saxony, Germany, July 19, 1891.
Parents: William Batchelder, Sarah Sargent (Austin) Greene.
School: St. Paul's School, Concord, N.H.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Degree: A.B. 1913 (1912).
Married: Elsa Edith Flack, London, England, Nov. 9, 1915.
Occupation: Acting Captain, 3d Battalion, Cold Stream Guards.
Address: New England Trust Co., Boston, Mass.

QUINCY Shaw Greene took his A.B. degree in 1912 as a member of 1913. After graduating he settled in Jamaica, where he engaged in the raising of sugar. He remained there a year or more and then spent his time in travelling. In England at the outbreak of the war he enlisted in a regiment of Americans resident in England, which was subsequently disbanded to avoid international complications. Returning to America he became interested in the newly formed American Ambulance and after a pleasure trip to Hawaii and the South Sea Islands he returned to Europe to become an ambulance driver. While in England he obtained a commission as Lieutenant in the Cold Stream Guards and has served with this regiment on the western front in all important engagements since the winter of 1915. Slightly wounded in the fall of 1915, he returned to England on leave and while there was married to Miss Elsa Flack of London. He returned to duty in February, 1916, and since then has been continuously at the front with the exception of various short leaves of absence. His last letter states that he is serving as acting Captain of a company in the 3d Battalion of his regiment.

THOMAS SERGEANT PERRY GRIFFIN

Born at Newtonville, Mass., June 16, 1890.
Parents: Appleton Prentiss Clark, Emily Call (Osgood) Griffin.
School: Western High School, Washington, D. C.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Married: Frances Borgman, Detroit, Mich., April 10, 1917.
Occupation: Sales Department, Chalmers Motor Co.
Address: (home) 295 Seminole Ave., Detroit, Mich.; (business) Chalmers Motor Co., Detroit, Mich.

IN the fall of 1913, I secured a position with Dodge Brothers, manufacturers of automobiles in Detroit. From a night telephone operator I was soon able to work my way into the time office, day force. When their sales department was created, I was transferred to it, and for over a year handled all sales correspondence from Maine to Florida, in the eastern states.

Then I was made assistant New York District representative for the Company, with headquarters in New York City. Sales promotion and the organization of a dealers' force largely constituted my work at that time. After about a year in this position, I was transferred to Boston, and worked as the assistant district representative for New England for about three months.

In view of the fact that I desired a more permanently located position, and to be near Detroit, I resigned my position with Dodge Brothers.

I am now an office zone manager in the sales department of the Chalmers Company.

April 10, 1917, is a most significant date for me, as I was then married to Miss Frances Borgman of Detroit, Michigan. A. D. Maag, J. T. Remey, and Watson Leonhauser, all 1913 men, assisted me in the Big Step.

MARC JUSTIN GROSSMAN

Born at Cleveland, O., Sept. 1, 1892.
Parents: Louis Joel, Lillie (Meyers) Grossman.
School: Glenville High School, Cleveland, O.
Years in College: 1911–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Married: Carolyn Kahn, Cincinnati, O., June 5, 1916.
Occupation: Attorney at Law.
Address: (home) 2127 Stearns Rd., Cleveland, O., (business) 1006 Engineers Bldg., Cleveland, O.

AFTER graduating from Harvard College with the Class of 1913, I attended the Harvard Law School for two years (1913–1914 and 1914–1915). I did not return for the third year for the reason that I was engaged to be married and on that account desired to hasten the time of my admission to the bar, and my marriage, which was immediately to follow that event. I returned to Cleveland in June, 1915. The balance of the summer was largely devoted to preparation for the bar examination, and to a study of those law courses which I would otherwise have taken in my third year at the Harvard Law School. I took the Ohio state bar examination on December 4 and 5, 1915, and was fortunate enough to receive the second highest grade of the 118 participants. My average was 91 per cent. The bar examination committee publish only the two highest grades, and thus it happened that my average was generally commented on by the newspapers. In fact the Crimson published a notice of the facts above enumerated. I was sworn in by the Supreme Court of Ohio on January 4, 1916. On June 5, 1916, I was married to Carolyn Kahn, (Wellesley, 1913). Since that time I have been practicing law in Cleveland, Ohio.

MEMBER: Civic League of Cleveland, City Club of Cleveland, Excelsior Club, Oakwood Club, and Bar Association of Cuyahoga County.

SINCE leaving College, I have led an interesting but pecuniarily unprofitable career. The first thing I think of when I remember my Class is that my dues are still due.

My first move after leaving Cambridge was to take a good long time in reaching my home here in Seattle, realizing it would be my last travelling for some time, Then when I did reach home I made a vacation of it for a while, being in a position of not knowing what to do next.

Finally, one morning I decided it was about time to go to work, so I went to a lumber mill here, found something to do, drew my pay check on Saturday night, and stayed a year at that place. I then left and went to another lumber mill. I turned my ankle one day working about the yard there, laid off and never went back. In a few weeks I had a job trucking freight in a local freight shed. From there I went to the Seattle Grocery Company, where I now am, having filled about every fellow's position in the house. I have been out selling for two years and find it very inspiring. It forces one to be alert and aggressive. I recommend it as fine schooling for most anything.

My judgment of women and my luck in being able to back up my judgment worked together, and I established a home that has been extremely happy. I might add here that early married life after graduation is not good for class dues.

We have a little boy a year and a half old, and fellows, he is a prize-winner. He can not talk, but I am teaching him the Harvard yell.

Child: Paul Colton, Nov. 29, 1915.
Occupation: Clerk, Stock Brokerage.
Address: (home) 24 Appleton St., Watertown, Mass.; (business) 74 State St., Boston, Mass.

IN the summer of 1913 I had charge of a brokerage office at Waumbek Hotel, Jefferson, New Hampshire, for Messrs. Charles Head and Company. In the fall of 1913, went into their Boston office as order clerk and statistician, and have been there practically ever since. During the four months in 1914 when the Stock Exchanges were closed, I worked in several places and capacities, being a "cheer up" man in a sanitarium, a press telegrapher and a junior public accountant. I might add that in the last job I was hardly worth my keep, in spite of hard work in Professor Cole's course.

I have a young Harvard man, Class of 1938, coming along that I am saving my money for.

ON the Monday following that Thursday in June, 1913, which saw our gallant band venture forth into the cold, cold world clad only in sheepskins and parental scepticism, I entered into my first "office of honor or trust" (how significant — that "or"!), as Industrial Secretary for Greater Boston, for the North American Civic League for Immigrants. Then the war came, and soon the League had to cut down expenses, of which evidently I was one.

The winter of 1914–15 was, as you may remember, a season of unemployment. I remember it well. I worked for two months and a half as semi-Executive Secretary of the Citizens' Committee on Unemployment in Pittsfield, Massachusetts, and later a few weeks for the Tailors' Relief Committee in Boston. Shortly after that, I became the Executive Secretary of the Central Council of Civic Organizations, a laudable but over-ambitious enterprise, aiming to collect information about all the social agencies of Boston in such a way that greater correlation of their activities might follow. By the end of June, 1915, the Council had relinquished both its place-in-the-sun and myself; whereupon I responded to the call of my Alma Mater, and spent the summer at work on a subject catalogue of the Harvard Social Ethics Library.

Very soon after that June Thursday already alluded to, I became a resident of South End House, Boston, and in the fall I joined the settlement staff for the coming year as resident-in-charge of the Men's Residence.

But as the summer approached, I saw clearly that a settlement career, rich as it might be in opportunity, was not the best path for me to follow in social work. After some thought, I selected the puplit of the college pedagogue as my ultimate goal, and now here I am as a 1G plodding along the streets of glory that lead but to the Ph.D. I now have practically all the Social Ethics courses in process of digestion, and am taking alternate bites from those two apples from the Tree of Knowledge — economics and philosophy.

By way of Epilogue: These last four years may seem to have been spent in vocational flittings rather than in diligently climbing the bottom rungs of that ladder by which Everyman is expected to ascend to heights of mature usefulness. But those flittings have had their continuity and their solid value for me as well as their various joys, and the world-rocking events of the last three years, particularly the more recent controversies in this country as to the ethics of war, the nature of patriotism and Americanism, the duties — and dangers — of nationalism, and the ideals of democracy, have made startlingly evident the need of widespread, dispassionate thought.

Even under the stress of war let HARVARD 1913 do its full share, not only in working along the conventional lines of national service (too often limited to the military), but also in bringing the common people, both rich and poor, of this nation to a higher level of intelligence, so that our democracy may be truly one of the people themselves, not a "democracy" of prejudice and passion.

Address: (home) 1784 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge, Mass.; (business) 85 Broad St., Boston, Mass.

AFTER graduation I solicited advertisements for The Boston Journal. Then I became associated with the John J. Morgan Advertising Agency, as solicitor and copy-writer. After some eight months' experience here I joined the Carter's Ink Company. In the fall of 1916, I entered the employ of The Modern Priscilla.

I am a member of the American Legion, and also of the Cambridge Business Men's Military Organization.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of Boston.

BRYAN HUNTER HANDY

Born at Philadelphia, Pa., July 4, 1890.
Parents: Harry Hunter Smith, Caroline Temperman (Craighill) Handy.
School: St. Paul's School, Concord, N.H.
Years in College: 1910–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Manufacturer.
Address: (home) 128 Dewitt St., Syracuse, N.Y.; (business) The Solvay Process Co., Syracuse, N.Y.

IN the fall of 1913 I returned to College for a half year's work in chemistry. I left College after midyears and spent six months on a trip around the world, reaching America just after war was declared in August, 1914. I had intended to return to College for a doctor's degree in chemistry, but on account of the war the outlook for the chemist in manufacturing lines was so promising that I entered the employ of the Solvay Process Company, and have been with them ever since. I have never regretted my decision as the work has been very interesting, consisting for the most part in putting new processes on a manufacturing basis. A year and a half ago I joined the local Cavalry Troop of the National Guard. When Troop D went to the Border last summer I was left behind with the depot unit because of my height. Like a good many others of the Class I missed out on the Triennial celebration on account of the mobilization of the Guard. I am Secretary-Treasurer of the Syracuse Harvard Club, which is a flourishing organization of seventy members. I am not married yet, and do not expect to be for several months anyway. Altogether I have found life well worth while since leaving College, and am looking forward to our next celebration two years from June, as there are very few of our Class around here and consequently have not had much chance to hear what the other men are doing.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of New York City, Harvard Club of Syracuse, University, Sedgwick Farm, and Onondaga Golf and Country Clubs, and American Chemical Society.

✝ Thomas Chandler Hardwick

Born at Quincy, Mass., April 24, 1891.
Parents: Charles Theodore, Lulie Emma (Baldwin) Hardwick.
School: Milton Academy, Milton, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Died at Quincy, Mass., April 20, 1917.

AFTER preparatory education in the Greenleaf School, Quincy, and at Milton Academy, Milton, he entered Harvard University in 1909, and soon distinguished himself in athletics. He was a member of the track, soccer and varsity football squads. His career was marked by his enthusiasm and determination. He was captain of the second varsity football team, and in his senior year was substitute on the first eleven. After his graduation in 1913, he engaged in the banking and bond selling business in New York. In March, 1917, he suffered a general breakdown from overwork, and was taken to the Roosevelt Hospital. His condition became worse and he was taken to his home in Quincy. His death was a great shock to his many friends and admirers.

EVERETT CLARKSON HARDY

Born at Roxbury, Mass., June 7, 1890.
Parents: Edward Everett, Isabel Gertrude (Clarkson) Hardy.
School: Dorchester High School, Dorchester, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Married: Irma Adelaide Perkins, Boston, Mass., Feb. 7, 1915.
Child: Everett Clarkson, Jr., Nov. 10, 1915.
Occupation: Salesman.
Address: (home) 19 Samoset St., Dorchester, Mass.; (business) 373 Washington St., Room 10, Boston, Mass.

SINCE leaving College I have been continuously employed in the diamond department of D. C. Percival and Company, Boston. It may not seem altogether reasonable to those of my classmates who are not informed as to the methods by which diamonds are traded, but it has been my pleasure to use a small shovel in handling gems which most people look at with awe.

My efforts in becoming experienced in my work are confined principally to the study of color and make of diamonds in conjunction with their market price — that is, aside from my position as a salesman.

At present I am leading the home life of a happy "dad" and sincerely hope that all of the boys of 1913 will come to know this great joy at some time in their lives.

ARTHUR SAUDRAY HARRINGTON

Born at Dorchester, Mass., March 23, 1891.
Parents: Arthur Warren, Flavilla H. E. (Perkins) Harrington.
School: Newton High School, Newtonville, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–11.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Lieutenant of Cavalry, U. S. Army.
Address: (home) 1 Dana Terr., Watertown, Mass.; (business) c/o War Department, Washington, D. C.

AFTER leaving College, entered the newspaper business as reporter on The Boston Journal, in June 1911. Was identified with journalistic work in Boston, with the Journal, Herald, Associated Press, and as city editor of the North Adams Herald. In 1915, took up commercial lines, and travelled until 1916. Served with Massachusetts Cavalry on the Mexican border at El Paso, Texas, in summer of 1916, and was commissioned as Second Lieutenant of Cavalry, United States Army, assigned to the Seventeenth Regiment, in November, 1916.

EUGENE SAUDRAY HARRINGTON

Born at Jamaica Plain, Mass., Nov. 3, 1891.
Parents: Charles M., Josephine (Jones) Harrington.
School: St. George's School, Newport, R. I.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Married: Gwyneth Stewart Browne, Chestnut Hill, Mass., June 3, 1916.
Occupation: Cotton Manufacturing.
Address: (home) 18 Lincoln St., New Bedford, Mass.; (business) Potomska Mills, New Bedford, Mass.

I STARTED to work in the Mount Tom Division of the American Writing Paper Company, in Holyoke, Massachusetts, with the intention of learning the paper trade. What work there was, was hard but interesting and involved a great deal of night work, for paper mills run continuously from Monday morning to Sunday morning. Business conditions, however, caused frequent weekly shutdowns of the mill for lack of orders, and I therefore decided to change the field of my activities for one more profitable, and accordingly left Holyoke in the spring of 1915. During that summer I went to Plattsburg and then came to New Bedford and started to work for the Potomska Mills Corporation, manufacturers of fine cotton cloths. I have been with them ever since.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of Boston and Country Club of New Bedford.

GROVER WILLIAM HARRISON

Born at Bernalillo, N. Mex., March 31, 1887.
Parents: George William, Guadalupe (Perea) Harrison.
School: Prepared privately.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Unmarried.
Occupation: School Master.
Address: Groton School, Groton, Mass.

MY first year out from Cambridge I passed most pleasantly as master in English at the unique Thacher School in the Ojai Valley, California. The next year I accepted a call to St. Stephen's School, Colorado Springs. In addition to my school duties there I gave considerable time to civic work of one kind and another in the Springs. I tried to be of some use to the Associated Charities, the local Probation Officer, the Colorado Prison Association, and other agencies of the sort. I was in charge of the Epiphany Mission for Colored People, Colorado Springs, and later in charge of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Colorado City — a town adjoining Colorado Springs but very much of a frontier settlement still. The summer of 1914 I passed in prowling about the West, staying for considerable visits in Santa Barbara, San Mateo, Coronado, and other resorts on the Coast, and even getting down into New Mexico on occasion. The summer of 1915 I lived among the Indians of the Southern Ute Reservation at Ignacio, Colorado, as helper to Bishop Benjamin Brewster. In July and August, 1916, I was assistant to Professor Copeland at the Harvard Summer School, and in the fall went to Groton School as master in English. I persist in putting black on white, as opportunity offers. Here is a snatch I have just happened on in a book of A. C. Benson's. I tag it on here thinking in particular of one of our classmates who met the "Great Adventure" in the noblest manner possible. (I mean Harry Byng, of course.) "Whatever happens we are not meant to find life easy and delightful; it is a discipline, when all is said and done. 'Depend upon it,' said old Carlyle, 'the brave man has somehow or other to give his life away.' "

BISHOP SEARS HARROLD

Unmarried.
Occupation: Lawyer.
Address: (home) 35 Chestnut St., Worcester, Mass.; (business) 390 Main St., Worcester, Mass.

IN Law School three years after leaving College. Came to Worcester and entered the law office of Taft and Stobbs in July, 1916. It seems to be an excellent opening and things are booming at present.

JOHN MELVIN HARTWELL, 2d

Born at Clinton, Mass., June 18, 1888.
Parents: Frank Wheeler, Grace Evelyn (Jacobs) Hartwell.
School: Clinton High School, Clinton, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–11.
Married: Natalie Sleeper, Littleton, Mass., Oct. 18, 1913.
Child: John Melvin, Jr., March 28, 1916.
Occupation: Contractor.
Address: (home) 267 Powder House Boul., Somerville, Mass.; (business) 46 Cornhill, Boston, Mass.

LEFT College at close of term in summer of 1911, and at once entered employ of The Norcross Brothers Company at Worcester, as estimator, and continued in their service until the summer of 1915, at which time I moved to Somerville and opened offices in Boston for carrying on the same work as a Public Estimator.

Although being still engaged, in part at least, in chasing that magnificent title around, I give most of my time to the more familiar occupation of building construction, having operated since the latter part of 1916, in the contracting business.

FRANCIS WHEELOCK HARVEY

Born at New Rochelle, N. Y., Jan. 10, 1888.
Parents: Charles Edward, Mary Frances (Probst) Harvey.
School: New Rochelle High School, New Rochelle, N. Y., and under Myron A. Lockman, '87.

Address: (home) 505 West 112th St., New York, N. Y.; (business) 14 Wall St., New York, N. Y.

AFTER the close of the College year 1912–13, I spent my summer vacation as cashier aboard the S. S. North Star of the Eastern Steamship Corporation. In September, I entered the Columbia Law School in New York, where I spent the following three academic years, being graduated in 1916 with the degree of LL.B.

During the summer of 1914, I was in the employ of the Boston Elevated Railway, as conductor on surface lines; and during the summer of 1915 I spent six weeks in California, Utah, and Colorado and returned to the summer session of the Columbia Law School to work in an extra course in legal drafting, not given during the winter terms.

While at Law School, I was a member of the Law Review Board of Editors for my entire second and third years.

In June, 1916, I took the New York bar examinations and was sworn in the following November.

June 26, 1916, I entered the office of White and Case, 14 Wall Street, New York, where I am still.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of New York City.

ARTHUR BLAINE HAW

Address: (home) 22 Burr St., Jamaica Plain, Mass.; (business) 100 Summer St., Boston, Mass.

ENTERED employ of Boston Young Men's Christian Association, educational department, in June, 1913, immediately upon leaving College. Worked as bookkeeper all summer and fall. In September, 1913, taken sick with general breakdown, and rheumatism in particular, and was laid up all winter.

Returned to old job on Friday, March 13, 1914. Stayed there until January 27, 1917, having the position, when I left, of Assistant Bursar. Studied accounting and allied subjects evenings at Northeastern College, School of Commerce and Finance, situated at Young Men's Christian Association, and hope to receive degree of B.C.S. (Bachelor of Commercial Science) in June, 1917.

Have been employed by the Willett, Sears and Company combination since January 29, 1917, first as clerk in the American Felt Company, and since February 1, as assistant to Supervisor of Credits of the Willet, Sears companies, my salary being paid by the Industrial Service and Equipment Company.

Nothing eventful has happened to me since graduation in 1913, except the Triennial Reunion. That sure was "some time!"

IN the fall of 1913 I sailed for England to continue my studies in metaphysics at Oxford University, and was admitted to post-graduate standing in Magdalen College. During my stay at Magdalen I took a most active part in rowing, especially in the last year before the war, when I coxed the college eight. Returning for a short time to America in the spring of 1914, I attended some philosophical courses in the Columbia Summer School. The following summer (1915), during one of my vacations, I drove an American ambulance of the Harjes Unit on the French front. After concluding my work at Oxford, I returned in December, 1916, to New York City, and entered the office of J. C. F. Hoffman, Inc. I am a director in the New York Institution for the Instruction of the Deaf and Dumb.

PUBLICATIONS: Articles in The Churchman and The Evening Post, 1914; verses in The Argosy and Town and Country, 1914, also in the collection "Oxford Poetry," Blackwell, Oxford, 1916.

PAUL MERRICK HOLLISTER

Born at Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 12, 1890.
Parents: Clay Harvey, Justina (Merrick) Hollister.
School: Middlesex School, Concord, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Married: Marion Hengerer, Boston, Mass., Nov. 22, 1915.
Occupation: Advertising.
Address: (home) 306 West 100th St., New York, N. Y.; (business) The H. K. McCann Co., 61 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

IMMEDIATELY upon leaving College, I started reporting on The Grand Rapids News, doing beats, general assignments and pinch-hitting on the desks. In January, 1915, when there was considerable agitation for increased trade with South America, I made a three-months' tour of the chief ports, coasting down the Pacific, crossing the continent from Valparaiso to Buenos Aires, and returning by way of Rio and the West Indies. The rise in the export of North Carolina short-leaf pine to the Argentine since that time is not, however, due to that trip. In May I resumed newspaper work. In November, 1915, I came to New York and started work in an advertising agency, where I have been since, excepting for a volcanic period in and near Cambridge at Triennial.

Although the allotted space is most inviting, I have written no books or plays, nor translated any articles. I have what in all due modesty can be termed the finest collection of editorial rejection slips in the Class. Of both of my poems (I have written two), and of the 130,000 words which I begged, borrowed and signed, in glorification of Western Michigan, I would prefer not to speak. I have held no positions of honor and trust save that of New York correspondent for the Baker's Dozen.

CLARENCE NEWMAN HOLMAN

Born at Allston, Mass., July 29, 1891.
Parents: Charles E., Henrietta (Newman) Holman.

MOVED to Wellesley in 1913, taking up business in the firm of E. A. Davis and Company; 1914, member of Maugus Club; 1916, Secretary of the Wellesley Village Improvement Association; 1916, member of the firm of E. A. Davis and Company.

CHARLES EDWIN HOLMES

Born at Somerville, Mass., April 28, 1891.
Parents: Charles Albert, Mary Ellen (Hughes) Holmes.
School: Somerville English High School, Somerville, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: S.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Address: (home) 265 Beacon St., Somerville, Mass.; (business) Sharon Steel Hoop Co., Sharon, Pa.

ON leaving College in June, 1913, I was employed as engineer in charge of field and office work on a very accurate and detailed plan and property allotment of the Town of Hopedale, Massachusetts. I was thus employed until June 1, 1915, when I went to work for Monks and Johnson, architects and engineers, as an architectural draughtsman and reinforced concrete designer. In October of the same year I went to Pittsburgh to work in the valuation department of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. About December 15 of the same year, I accepted a position with the American Steel Foundries of Sharon as mechanical engineer in the maintenance department. In March, 1916, I accepted a job as mechanical draughtsman and engineer with the Sharon Steel Hoop Company, with which concern I now am.

MY life since leaving College had been very uneventful, since I am still connected with the University in its Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. Although I took my A.B. degree in physics, still, in the first year of my graduate study, I was undecided as to which of the following three to choose as my life study, namely, mathematics, physics or chemistry. I took some more mathematics and chemistry, in order to qualify myself for immediate research work, if I should decide the following year to enter into such respective lines of study. The next year (i. e. 1914–1915) I decided in favor of physics, there being more freedom for imagination and philosophical reflections in physics than in chemistry, and a great deal more ground for experimental work than in mathematics. I am taking advanced physics and research in the field of radioactivity and X-rays. (Whiting Fellow in physics 1915–16, 1916–17.)

PUBLICATIONS: An article on "Atmospheric Electricity," 1916 (other installments still to appear later); a short note on "some statistical matter regarding infant mortality in France," translated and abridged from Revue Scientifique of Paris, 1916; and other miscellaneous short notes appeared in a monthly publication published by Science Society of China, Shanghai, China.

WITHOUT a doubt, perusal of the following lines will convince the reader that I am a firm believer in the old saying, "Variety is the spice of life."

About one month after the Class of 1913 had gone forth into the world to seek what it had to offer, I entered the employ of the Boston and Albany Railroad in the office of the General Superintendent. While there I gained invaluable practical experience and learned a little of modern business methods.

However, feeling that I could not hope to emulate the late James J. Hill, I decided to make a change. Thus, in the autumn of 1914 I embarked upon a private business enterprise with my brother-in-law in Montreal. The non-success of the venture can be rightfully attributed to the general business depression at the time, augmented by the great war. At any rate, I was back in the good old United States in September, 1915.

From then to January, 1916, I made a try at the shoe business and entered the employ of the Thomas G. Plant Company, and taught French at the Cambridge Evening High School. In consequence of an offer to take up special work in the export department of J. P. Morgan and Company, New York City, I left Boston on February 1, 1916, and have been with that firm since. I must admit to my classmates that, although I have been in the atmosphere of Wall Street for over a year, I am not a millionaire as yet, nor can I be classed with the so-called "male-factors" of great wealth.

PERCEVAL HOWARD KEAYS

Born at Chicago, Ill., March 31, 1891.
Parents: Charles Henry, Celia Ann (Copp) Keays.
School: Stone School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Married: Olive May Kelley, Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 7, 1913.
Child: Barbara, Nov. 30, 1916, (died) Jan. 7, 1917.
Occupation: Managing Director, National Fuse Co.
Address: (home) 36 Spruceside Ave., Hamilton, Ontario, Can.; (business) National Fuse Co., 144 York St., Hamilton, Ontario, Can.

LEFT College in February, 1912, to undertake the management of a laundry in Cambridge which was not doing well and in which I had invested money. Business did not pan out well. Sold out in September, 1912, and secured position as salesman with the Hamilton Garage Company, of Hamilton, Ontario, selling Hupmobile motor cars.

In September, 1913, I left this firm to become Sales Manager of the Dominion Tungsten Lamp Factory. In 1914 I invented a method of refilling burned-out tungsten lamps.

December, 1914, engaged in the manufacture of electric irons, heaters, etc., in addition to the lamp business. June, 1915, left the Dominion Lamp Factory to devote all my time to my own business. January, 1916, invented automatic system of electric house heating, using hot water and direct air heating systems. September, 1916, organized the National Fuse Company, to take over my business and establish branch in the United States. This Company is now engaged in making electrical devices of various sorts, all of my invention. January, 1917, invented nickel-cobalt alloy for use in electrical heating devices.

I am Captain of the Hamilton Rowing Club and was Stroke of the Canadian Championship Four-Oared Crew in 1914.

THOMAS SULLIVAN KEEGAN

Born at Nashua, N. H., July 28, 1890.
Parents: Thomas Francis, Elizabeth Alice (Sullivan) Keegan.
School: Cambridge Latin School, Cambridge, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–11.
Married: Isabelle Florence Whelan, Cambridge, Mass., June 28, 1916.
Occupation: Salesman.
Address: (home) 36 Prince St., Jamaica Plain, Mass.; (business) 123 Beach St., Boston, Mass.

SHORTLY after leaving College I solicited insurance for the Equitable Life Assurance Company at Boston. I found after six months I was not satisfied.

The leather business was recommended to me, and I was fortunate to locate with the Wm. F. Mosser Company of Boston, a branch house of the Morris and Company interests of Chicago. I started at six dollars per week and after seven months they raised my salary, at my instigation, to seven dollars per week; at the end of a year I was considered overpaid at ten. I was successful in landing a position as salesman with the M. E. Hall Company. After a year as salesman for them, I received a very good offer to go with the A. M. Gutterman and Sons Company of Boston. After about a year with them I was induced to go back with the M. E. Hall Company as Sales Manager, I also took over the Eastern selling agency for the Rochester Top Lift Company.

MEMBER: Cambridge Lodge of Elks.

RUSSELL FRANKLIN KEEHN

Born at Winchester, Mass., Feb. 2, 1891.

Child: Isabel Olive, Dec. 24, 1913.
Occupation: Teacher.
Address: (home) Pine Plains, N. Y.; (business) Madalin, N. Y.

COMPLETING my course in January, 1913, I worked three months in the Boston and Maine freight department. Was married April 5, 1913. Appointed teacher at Rock Ridge School, Wellesley Hills, Massachusetts, teaching German, French and Algebra and coaching the baseball team. Spent the summer on the farm. Taught 1913–14 at Rock Ridge. Spent summer in Boston; attended Harvard Summer School. Taught 1914–15 at Rensselaerville. Founded Boy Scout patrol. Taught 1914 to 1917 at Madalin, New York, Principal of Tivoli High School.

I have held or do now hold the following offices: Director and President of Tivoli Young Men's Christian Association; Director of the Tivoli Boy Scouts.

JOSEPH SPENCER KENNARD, Jr.

Born at Ossining, N. Y., April 28, 1890.
Parents: Joseph Spencer, Isabella (Brandreth) Kennard.
School: Mackenzie School, Dobbs Ferry, N. Y.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degrees: A.B. 1913; B.D. (Princeton Theol. School) 1916.
Unmarried.
Occupation: International Secretary of Y. M. C. A.
Address: 501 West 110th St., New York, N. Y.

I AM filling this out for my brother, as he has been one of the International Secretaries of the Young Men's Christian Association in Germany, organizing the social and religious work in the prison and detention camps of the district of Hanover. After receiving his degree from Harvard he entered Princeton Theological Seminary. He finished most of his required work by the summer of 1915. The next summer he was kept very busy with religious meetings, most of which were in the open air, sometimes as many as five a day. The next winter he was pastor of the 16th Street Baptist Church, while at the same time he completed his work for his degree. He received the reward of a $600 fellowship for his thesis, and will probably make use of it at the end of the war in studying at the Sorbonne, Paris.

He probably left Germany at the same time as Ambassador Gerard.

IRVING FULLER KENT

Born at Concord, N. H., Feb. 23, 1891.
Parents: John Fuller, Cornelia (Collins) Kent.
School: Concord High School, Concord, N. H.
Years in College: 1909–10.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Draftsman.
Address: 230 Pleasant St., Concord, N. H.

AFTER leaving College I was employed as draftsman at Blake Knowles Pump Works, East Cambridge, Massachusetts, for ten months, then at the Navy Yard, Portsmouth, New Hampshire for a year, at the Navy Yard, Mare Island, California, for next year, at the Navy Yard, Puget Sound, Washington, for next three years, at Naval Station, Pearl Harbor, Hawaii (near Honolulu), for the last year and a half, as a marine engine draftsman (civil service) for the Navy Department, coming home recently on account of sickness induced by the climate of Hawaii. Have not gone back to work yet. I have moved from one place to another to secure better positions and also to see different parts of the country. Have climbed Mount Rainier, seen the Yosemite Valley, Big Trees, Grand Canyon, Canadian Rockies, and Hawaii, and value the experience. While at Puget Sound I took a night course (university extension) at the University of Washington, Seattle, on A. C. electricity.

Address: (home) 41 Walker St., Cambridge, Mass.; (business) 14 Cypher St., South Boston, Mass.

DIRECTLY after graduation, during the summer of 1913, I worked for Barrett Manufacturing Company in Shadyside, New Jersey, as assistant chemist. I did not care very much for the position and left it and took a similar position in St. Luke's Hospital, New York. In the fall of 1913, however, I came back to Harvard as head assistant in chemistry, devoting half time to teaching and the other half to research. I assisted also in the Summer School. I kept the same position as head assistant and also assistant in the Summer School in 1914–15. I was appointed in 1915–16 Austin Teaching Fellow in Chemistry. In May of 1916 I took a position as chemist for the Boston Transit Commission of Boston, which I am holding at present. Next year I expect to go back to Harvard and finish my research towards Ph.D.

Unmarried.
Occupation: Efficiency Work.
Address: (home) 20 Ellery St., Cambridge, Mass.; (business) Boston Woven Hose and Rubber Co., Cambridge, Mass.

ON August 13, 1913, I obtained a position as cost accountant with the Boston Woven Hose and Rubber Company. After doing cost work for nine months I was given the entire charge of the estimating work and also the mechanical construction of the goods. During my spare moments I devised methods which did away with the enormous clerical work required in figuring costs. Charts, mathematical formulae, and special slide-rules are now used by the whole department. In the fall of 1914, registered myself as a special student in the Harvard School of Business Administration. In the meantime I was with the Woven Hose. In the fall of 1915, I was given the entire charge of the cost department. In the fall of 1916, I was promoted to the efficiency department.

HALE GIFFORD KNIGHT

Born at Detroit, Mich., Oct. 25, 1891.
Parents: Stephen Herrick, Elizabeth (Gifford) Knight.
School: Detroit University School, Detroit, Mich.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degrees: A.B. 1913; A.M. 1916.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Accountant.
Address: (home) 37 East Willis Ave., Detroit, Mich.; (business) 34 John R St., Detroit, Mich.; (or) 1501 Bell Telephone Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

AFTER several short jobs I worked as a clerk for the Detroit Edison Company, under the property engineer. I had been there about a year when I returned to Cambridge in September, 1914. Professor Munro had secured me an appointment as Austin Teaching Fellow in Government, and for two years I acted as head assistant in Gov. 1. In my spare time I gathered enough courses to get an A.M. in 1916. The only extraordinary excitement I experienced was getting mixed up with the wheels of justice in the voting scandal with several other members of the College, also Lewis Gannett, who was made out to be an arch conspirator. We both were duly indicted and are still awaiting trial.

My only hobby has been naval affairs. In the summer of 1916 I spent six weeks on board the battleships Illinois and Maine. I am now an officer of the Michigan Naval Militia, wondering if I am to see real service.

I support myself by working for the Bell Telephone system, at present in Detroit although my base is really Chicago in the general office of the central group.

GEORGE BOURNE KNOWLES

Born at New Bedford, Mass., June 28, 1890.

Occupation: Salesman for Mt. Hope Finishing Co.
Address: (home) 36 Prospect St., Taunton, Mass.; (business) Mt. Hope Finishing Co., North Dighton, Mass.

I CAME out of College to go to work in the finishing business and have been in it ever since.

WILLIAM CONRAD KOCH

Born at Chicago, Ill., Oct. 30, 1889.
Parents: Fritz, Gretchen (Smit) Koch.
School: Central High School, St. Paul, Minn.
Years in College: 1910–13.
Degree: S.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Vice President, Twin City Brick Co., St. Paul, Minn.
Address: (home) 759 Holly Ave., St. Paul, Minn.; (business) 7th Floor, Capital Bank Bldg., St. Paul, Minn.

AFTER graduation in 1913, I returned for a year's work in the Business School. Immediately upon returning to St. Paul I took up my work in the Twin City Brick Company, and began building on to my previous experience in the work. Old business and social acquaintanceships were renewed and new ones formed in the usual way, and I began to become part of the business and social life of the city instead of taking up the experimental nomadic life I had expected to pursue for a year or two. Then one fine day in December, 1915, I joined Battery B of the Minnesota Field Artillery, of which a great many friends and acquaintances were members. As a result I spent four months in camp at Fort Snelling, having been rudely interrupted during the first day's festivities of the 1913 Class reunion by the President's call to the National Guard. Since the first of October our regiment has been on the border and is now on the point of returning to be mustered out. I am home on furlough at the present writing and do not expect to increase my military experience unless we have to teach Germany a lesson. I am heartily inclined, however to agree with those who say that an experience of this kind is a life-saver for the average young college graduate who spends his first few years getting unwelcome experience and modestly trying to hide his conceit. Nevertheless the old Flat Top holds a mighty encouraging welcome now that it is over. From now on, barring further interruptions, I shall devote my time trying to justify a wholly undeserved (more modesty) election to the vice presidency of our company.

For some months before the call to the Mexican border came I devoted a great deal of my spare time to the cause of National Defence in the form of activity under the auspices of the National Security League. The powers that were at the time put me in charge of a dinner at which we succeeded in some measure in arousing the sleeping responsibilities of a portion of the population of this fair city. Incidentally it might be well to add, in order to correct a very logical error, that there is nothing German about me except my name.

MEMBER: University Club, Minnesota Club, Minnesota Boat Club, White Bear Yacht Club, Association of Commerce, St. Paul German (Cotillion) Club, Harvard Club of Minnesota, and Twin City Horse Battery (Battery B, 1st Minnesota, N. G., Civil Organization).

JULIUS KUTTNER

Born at Arverne, N. Y., Sept. 26, 1892.
Parents: Julius, Anna (Gayler) Kuttner.
School: Lawrenceville School, Lawrenceville, N. J.
Years in College: 1909–11.
Degree: S.B. (Mass. Inst. Tech.) 1915.
Unmarried.
Address: (home) 567 West 113th St., New York, N. Y.; (business) c/o Milliken Bros., Mariner Harbor, Staten Island, N. Y.

I LEFT College in the middle of my Sophomore year on account of illness; after recovering in the spring, I translated Dr. Sigmund Freud's "Die Traumdeutung" from German into English for Dr. A. A. Brill, at compensation by the page. In June, 1911, I entered Cornell Summer School, where I studied advanced algebra, solid geometry, and trigonometry. I entered Cornell University in the fall of 1911 and got myself transferred in 1912 to the Sophomore class in Mechanical Engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. I received the degree of S.B. in Mechanical Engineering from Tech. in 1915. I worked for over a year in the machine shop (as a machine hand) and on the erecting floor of the Busch-Sulzer Brothers-Diesel Engine Company of St. Louis, Missouri. I am now the Diesel engineer for the Century Steel Company of New York City, who are undertaking the construction of steamships and motorships in a recently acquired plant on Staten Island.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of New York City, Technology Club, and United States Naval Reserve, 3d District.

AXEL EMANUEL LANDERHOLM

Born at Portland, Ore., Dec. 11, 1887.
Parents: Charles Magnus, Christina Wilhelmina (Lindström) Landerholm.
School: Washington High School, Portland, Ore.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation.
Address: La Center, Wash.

[No report of his doings since leaving College was received. ED.]

CARL LANDERHOLM

Born at Portland, Ore., Oct. 13, 1885.
Parents: Charles Magnus, Christina Wilhelmina (Lindström) Landerholm.
School: Y. M. C .A., Portland, Ore.
Years in College: 1910–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Married: Eva Lola Sawyer, Portland, Ore., June 6, 1916.
Occupation: Principal of East Mill Plain High School.
Address: R. R. No. 1, Vancouver, Wash.

AFTER Commencement, 1913, I remained in Cambridge until August 4, on which date I started West (for home). In the course of a couple of weeks, having travelled by way of Ontario Province, Chicago, Denver, Salt Lake, and Sacramento, I reached Portland, Oregon, a typical "Oregon mist" being on hand to greet me and to make me feel thoroughly at home.

I became a teacher in the preparatory department of the Portland Young Men's Christian Association with the rank of Secretary. The next fall I secured the Principalship of East Mill Plain High School (near Vancouver, Washington) and here I am still, living in a neat bungalow across the road from my daily work. What money I have had to invest I have used in buying land and planting a prune orchard, for this is one of the best prune regions in the United States.

My aim is to get into educational work on a broader scale and at the same time to develop my "ranch."

GEORGE EATON LANE

Born at Taunton, Mass., Sept. 2, 1891.
Parents: Herbert Starr, Harriet Abbie (Harris) Lane.
School: Dorchester High School, Dorchester, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Teacher.
Address: (home) 102 Radcliffe St., Dorchester Mass.; (business) 24 Church St., Great Barrington, Mass.

FOR the year immediately following graduation, I was Principal of Troy High School, Troy, New Hampshire, 1913–14. During the summer of 1914, I took a half course in education in the Harvard Summer School under Professor Holmes, and by taking this course I received a Massachusetts State certificate for teachers

From 1914 to the present time I have been Sub-Master of the Searles High School, Great Barrington, Massachusetts. The subjects that I have taught here have been mainly latin and mathematics. For two years here I have been director of the High School Orchestra.

During the winter of 1916 I began taking lessons on the organ, and for four months I substituted as organist in the Congregational Church, Housatonic, Massachusetts. The organ upon which I had privilege to take lessons is in the Congregational Church, Great Barrington, and ranks among the first ten or twelve best organs in the United States.

MEMBER: St. James Club, Great Barrington, Massachusetts.

Unmarried.
Occupation: Chaplain to Bishop Brent of the Philippine Islands.
Address: (home) 19 Seventh Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.; (business) 567 Calle Isaac Peral, Manila, P. I.

MY first year out of College was spent at the General Theological Seminary in New York. A few weeks after the war broke out I went to England and entered my grandfather's old college in Oxford. The two years I was reading for my degree at Magdalen College are among the most memorable in my life. It was comforting to find Govy Hoffman and Scofield Thayer already in residence when I arrived. George Gifford, who had come directly from Harvard, was a member of Balliol College. But out of the three thousand undergraduates generally in residence there were only about five hundred who found it necessary to remain at Oxford.

One of the most successful men socially at Harvard whom we men of 1913 knew remarked to me, "I feel I can hardly say I made more than one real friendship before I came to Oxford." Why it is I do not know, but one can as soon forget an Oxford friend as one can a member of one's own family.

I took my degree at Oxford, returned to New York in the summer of 1916, took up my studies at the Seminary, and passed the Deacon's examinations for the Diocese of Long Island. I was ordained by Bishop Brent the day before we were to sail for England, France, and Rome. The war changed my plans at the last moment and it has not been possible for the Bishop and myself to start for the East yet.

(I should love to live long enough to read my obituary notice, but I don't like to write it.)

PUBLICATION: I have written a book entitled, "The Liturgy Called Communion," and the Clarendon Press at Oxford has promised to publish it.

AFTER a few weeks as private secretary to a retired publisher in Montclair, New Jersey, I joined the J. Walter Thompson Advertising Agency, New York. After a brief experience in each of the departments of the agency I became assistant to one of the solicitors, launching small advertising campaigns, also building up a statistical department. After a year in the New York office, I was transferred to the Toronto office of the company, where I became an "outside man." At the end of six months an opportunity presented itself for entering the advertising department of the Canadian Ford Motor Company, which I accepted. I had charge of the sociological booklet issued monthly to the men, and also wrote stories and articles for the Ford Times. I became motion picture advertising manager, and routed the pictures to a majority of the motion picture theatres throughout Canada.

After a year with the Canadian Ford Company, the call of the United States became too strong and I left to accept the position of salesman with the H. A. Jones Real Estate Company, Detroit, Michigan. After about three months with this company, I accepted a similar position with the Houseman-Spitzley Corporation where I now am. I am in the brokerage department, engaged in the selling of houses and lots, and have charge of the North Woodward District of the department. I am enthusiastic about the business conditions and future of Detroit, and about my present work.

MEMBER: Boat, Town, and Tennis Clubs, and New England Society, of Detroit; Pi Eta Graduates' Association, and Harvard Club of New York City; Old Club, Ste. Claire Flats, and Column Club of Toronto, Ontario.

LEFT College in spring of 1911, tutored during that summer in the family of Walter S. Crane of Westwood, and in September of that year entered the employ of the American Sugar Refining Company, at 117 Wall Street, New York City. Taken severely sick with rheumatic fever, February, 1913, went to the Presbyterian Hospital in New York. Left hospital in April, 1913, being obliged to give up my position with American Sugar Refining Company and returning to Walpole, where I recuperated during the next six months. Worked for American Felt Company from October, 1913, to March, 1914, leaving them to join the Braves on their training trip to Macon, Georgia. Got the can just previous to the opening of the season, and joined Fred Lake's Fitchburg team in the New England League. Held on there for six weeks and then he was good enough to advise me to seek other fields; left this in June, 1914. Follows another period of idleness, or watchful waiting, during which dabbled in baseball some and coached the Volkmann School football team to a league championship, until December, 1914, when I took a position at my present address, since that time being a salesman of the best car in America.

THEODORE BURNHAM LEWIS

Born at Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 14, 1890.
Parents: Theodore Justice, Anna (Burnham) Lewis.
School: Haverford School, Haverford, Pa.
Years in College: 1909–13.

Degree: A.B. 1913.
Married: Mary Barnes Long, Corpus Christi, Texas, March 25, 1916.
Child: Frances Patricia, March 7, 1917.
Occupation: Farmer.
Address: Star Route, Freehold, N. J.

MY first position after leaving Cambridge was that of courier to my own family during the summer of 1913. The trip included a month in Norway, where the disregard for small countries by the German Kaiser and his naval minions was apparent in the "tramped-over" fields of the Norwegians, then on through Sweden, Denmark, Germany, Holland, and England.

Upon arriving home in these United States I set out for Raymondville, Texas, our much-abused border country, to show the greasers how much a Harvard A.B. does not know about raising grain, cotton, and hogs, and fattening steers. In a year I had shown them what I didn't know, had learned to converse in Mexican a little more readily than the members of Spanish 1, and could ride a Ford as efficiently as any cowpuncher.

The spring of 1915 saw the outbreak of the Mexican bandits, with the attendant theft of horses, guns, saddles, etc., and a little later the killing of peaceful Americans. This event brought on armed "Mexican hunts" in Fords and on horseback. A goodly number of bandidos "stubbed their toes" to their eternal injury. The coming of the Texas Rangers had the situation in hand by the time our Government saw fit to send us several thousand regulars.

Incidentally, I shot myself through the leg, which caused much merriment among my Eastern friends!

In spite of being occupied on the ranch, shooting myself, and chasing bandits, I managed to persuade Miss Mary Long that an effete Easterner after a two years' Texas training might make a passable husband, so after attending the short courses in agriculture at New Brunswick, New Jersey, last winter, and having the fortune to win the highest honors for the course, I was married in Corpus Christi, Texas, March 25, 1916. Since then I have been raising the rare and valued potato here near Freehold, New Jersey.

EDWARD ANDREWS LINCOLN

Born at Raynham, Mass., Oct. 3, 1889.
Parents: Minot Jackson, Helen Sampson (Andrews) Lincoln.
Schools: Oliver Ames High School, North Easton, Mass.; Bridgewater Normal School, Bridgewater, Mass.
Years in College: 1911–13.
Degrees: A.B. 1913; A.M. 1916.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Teacher.
Address: (home) R. F. D., Raynham, Mass.; (business) 19 Lawrence Hall, Kirkland St., Cambridge, Mass.

SOON after graduation I accepted a position as teacher in the High School at Middletown, Connecticut. Although I nearly died of ptomaine poisoning in the summer, I was able to take up my work in September. I had classes in chemistry, geometry, and English history, besides the coaching of the football and baseball teams.

This position I left to become the head of the science department in the Natick, Massachusetts, High School during the following year (1914–15).

In the fall of 1915, I came back to Harvard and began studying for the Master's degree, which I received in June, 1916. In May, 1916, several of us who were graduates in the Division of Education were employed by the Carnegie Foundation to make, under the direction of Professor W. F. Dearborn, a study of the work in the training schools in Missouri. This opened a new field to me in which I have since done considerable work.

At present I am working for the doctorate in the Division of Education while carrying on quite a bit of survey work in several schools and school systems.

LEAVING College in February, 1914, I started in the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, as a day laborer in the electrical department. About two weeks later I inadvertently touched a live wire and got 850 volts shot through me. I left the Interborough and tutored a boy during the spring of 1914 at Tuxedo, New York. During the summer I tutored two other boys at Southampton, Long Island. On October 1, 1914, I went to work in the office of Lovejoy, Mather, and Hough, public accountants, at 55 Liberty Street, New York, and stayed with them until January 1, 1917. During that time I went twice to Cuba and learned the beauties of Basardi Rum. During the mobilization of the summer of 1916, I spent from June until the middle of August as a private in the First Motor Battery, N. G. N. Y., at Peekskill, New York. On January 2, 1917, I had the honor of entering into the work of the Church Pension Fund to assist Bishop Lawrence, the president, and Monell Sayre, the secretary. I am still there and hope to continue for some time to come. Aside from these few brief facts, I attended the 1913 Triennial in June, 1916, and didn't feel right for two weeks thereafter.

AFTER graduating at midyears, I decided to join an expedition that was about to start for a nine months' cruise to Northeast Siberia and Northern Alaska, by way of the Aleutian Islands and Kamchatka. Accordingly, about April 1, 1913, we sailed from Seattle in an auxiliary schooner, eighty-six feet over all, called the Polar Bear. Our course was north through the "Inside Passage" so-called, considered one of the most beautiful waterways in the world, to Juneau; then westward, touching here and there at various points along the Alaskan Peninsula to shoot ducks, ptarmigan, or an occasional caribou for meat, until we came to the Aleutian Islands. These islands are very barren, grass and moss only, and give one the gloomy impression that it must rain there most of the time. Between constant wind, rain, and snow, we were very glad to leave them behind and reach Petrovpovlovsk, the capital of Kamchatka, early in May.

Our reception here was not cordial. The officials evidently thought us suspicious characters and treated us accordingly, even refusing us permission to hunt sheep in the country, one of the main objects of the trip. So, naturally, we moved up the coast and became poachers, expecting to find a revenue cutter after us at any minute. The sheep were in great numbers on the cliffs along the water's edge, as there was too much snow on the hills for them, and we shot several from a dory.

From this point we sailed north to Bering Strait, and spent the early part of June among the Siberian Esquimaux, sitting on ice cakes shooting eider ducks. It was light, of course, all the time and the weather was perfect, still and warm.

About July first we crossed to Nome, an extraordinary city of one street stretching for two miles along the beach, with every other building a bar. For two weeks we waited here for George Silsbee, '13, and two others, and found Nome a very pleasant place, as the whole town apparently stays up all night.

Leaving Nome we went North once more to latitude 73°, and finally about August first struck the pack ice off Point Barrow, the northernmost point of Alaska. Without stopping to shoot any walrus, a very simple thing to do once you get where they are, we rounded the Point and sailed for Bank's Land, obsessed with the unfortunate desire for musk-ox and whales, only to be found in that region. If ice conditions are right one has no trouble in going in around Point Barrow to Bank's Land and returning the same season. We managed to choose the wrong season, and before we even reached the mouth of the McKenzie we realized we could not make it, for the ice was tight up against the beach. We therefore tried to return, but found that the pack had closed in behind us. In our efforts to find a lead out we very nearly lost our boat, for the ice froze fast about us and caught us seven miles off shore. As the rule is to keep close to the beach all the time, where the heavy ice cannot go because of the shallow water, our position looked very serious, but a heavy blow fortunately broke us loose and allowed us, by the narrowest margin, to work the boat in to the shore through the moving ice. The power of the ice pack when it gets in motion is beyond imagination, and that day the mass was moving four or five miles an hour.

As there was now no hope of return in the boat that fall, four of us decided to make the trip across Alaska to Cordova. We accordingly started about the first of November with two dog teams, up one of the coast rivers, crossed the Endicott Range, and down a River on the other side, finally reaching Fort Yukon on the Yukon river a month later, after a trip of about 450 miles without guides through an unexplored country. To show how inaccurate the maps of this country are, we hit the Yukon 150 miles west of where we expected to come out.

From here on we had an easy time, and could gauge our progress from the lengthening hours of sunlight, which were less than four when we started from the boat. We arrived at Boston the day before Christmas, eleven months before the return of the rest of the party.

I then began work with Parkinson & Burr, where I remained until Jan. 1, 1917. Since then I have been with William H. Randall & Co.

Occupation: Attorney at Law.
Address: (home) 916 South Westlake Ave., Los Angeles, Cal.; (business) 615–624 Union Oil Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.

AFTER visiting with friends and relatives for several months, I came out to California in April, 1914, and in June took up the study of law at the College of Law, University of Southern California, Los Angeles, California.

In July, 1915, I was admitted to the California and Federal bar by examination, but decided to continue my studies at the Law School and receive my degree, instead of immediately taking up the practice of law.

In July, 1916, after completing the three year course in two school years and three summer schools, I received the degree of Juris Doctor, and soon after went to Canada to spend the summer at Victoria, B. C. Upon my return to Los Angeles in September, 1916, I entered the firm of Crail and Crail, Attorneys, with whom I am now conducting a general practice of law.

As I am able to talk Japanese, part of my clientele consists of Japanese residents of this state.

Occupation: Teacher of Spanish.
Address: (home) 108 Highland St., Boston, Mass.; (business) English High School, Boston, Mass.

I FINISHED College in June, 1912, completing the course in three years. I did not change my class, which is 1913. In 1912 and 1913 when my classmates were in their senior year I was taking a year's course in the Boston Normal School in preparation for teaching.

From 1913 to 1915 I served as substitute teacher in the Boston high schools. I was appointed a regular junior master in the Boston English High School to take effect September, 1915. I have since been there teaching French and Spanish, having specialized and received a degree with distinction (cum laude) in romance languages. I am teaching languages only.

In the summer of 1914, I went to Europe, visiting Ireland, England, France, and Spain. I spent the greater part of the summer at the summer school in Madrid. I was in Madrid when the war broke out and got home after many trying experiences. While in Spain I met several Harvard men, some of them my own classmates.

AFTER finishing my finals in February of 1913, I went to Florida and Havana, and on my return to New York sailed for England on the R. M. S. Olympic. From May on through August I took a motor tour through England, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, up the Rhine to Switzerland, over the Alps, and finally landed in Venice. Returned in July by motor to Paris and sailed for New York soon after on the R. M. S. Oceanic. Spent the college year of 1913–14 at the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. Loafed the summer of 1914, and in September started a three months job at Middletown, New York, in the factory of the Favary Tire and Rubber Company. In February of 1915 I entered the Superior Thread and Yarn Company's plant at Pluckemin, New Jersey, where I took charge of the pay-roll and learned the business. Left that job in October, 1915, and started work in February, 1916, in the New York office of Stone and Webster. In June of the same year, was mobilized as private in the Armored Motor Battery, N. G. N. Y., and spent two months at the State Camp, Peekskill, New York. Came to Boston in September and took position with Arthur D. Little, Inc., 93 Broad Street, chemists, engineers, managers, where I am now.

ARTHUR LEONARD McGRATH

Born at Fall River, Mass., Dec. 13, 1891.
Parents: Thomas Francis, Mary Elizabeth (Roe) McGrath.
School: B. M. C. Durfee High School, Fall River, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Degree: A.B. 1913 (1912).
Married: Dagmar Agnes Hall, New York, N. Y., April 19, 1915.
Occupation: Instructor in English.
Address: (home) 42 Richmond St., Fall River, Mass.; (business) B. M. C. Durfee High School, Fall River, Mass.

AFTER being graduated in 1912, I was elected Principal of the East Lyme, Connecticut, High and Grammar School, where I taught and supervised for two years. During this time, I acted on various committees interested in civic progress, holding different positions.

In the fall of 1914, I entered B. M. C. Durfee High School, my alma mater, as instructor in English, a position I now hold. Since returning to Fall River, I have acted as coach of the baseball team, and faculty manager of athletics, accompanying all teams on the road. In 1914, I was chosen treasurer of the junior class in Durfee High; and in 1917, treasurer of the senior class. The latter office I declined, and was immediately chosen censor of our annual literary and class book, "The Record Book."

I am greatly interested, also, in the work of the Knights of Columbus, and devote all my spare moments to thoughts and acts which may be helpful to the order.

I may add that for the years 1914 to 1916 I was Principal of the Borden Evening Grammar School, and in 1916 was elected to the staff of the Technical Evening High School. During the summer of 1916 I had sole charge of the Summer School for Pupils Deficient in English.

Member: Harvard Club of Fall River, Knights of Columbus.

Children: Lee, April 9, 1914; Marian, Sept. 13, 1915.
Occupation: Poultry Breeding.
Address: "Willow Tree Farm," Beverly Farms, Mass.

AFTER leaving College I started poultry breeding on my place at "Willow Tree Farm," Beverly Farms, Massachusetts. I was interested in the market end of the business, but found same unprofitable and uninteresting. I then took up breeding in earnest and chose the S. C. White Leghorn. I purchased a few very choice specimens as breeders and have pedigree-linebred them since 1914. From time to time I have bought birds of exceptional quality and to-day I have gotten together one of the few really high class Leghorn flocks of the country. My wins at the best shows have proven their show value and reports from my many customers have proven that my strain is productive as well as beautiful to look at.

Until now I have been collecting my flock and have refused many tempting sales. I have at last gotten together so many good birds and so many pens that consistently produce the best class of chicken that I am now in a splendid position to sell. The best Leghorns bring from $50 to $1000 apiece and it takes only a few sales to yield considerable profit. I have found this business most absorbingly interesting, and from now on it promises to be very lucrative. Therefore I believe that I shall continue as a poultry breeder.

DAVID JOHNSTON MALCOLM

Born at St. John, New Brunswick, Canada, May 26, 1888.
Parents: John Anderson, Maria (Carr) Malcolm.
School: Rindge Manual Training School, Cambridge, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: S.B. 1913.
Married: Mary Lockwood Skinner, Montreal, Que., Dec. 24, 1915.
Child: David Donald, Dec. 1, 1916.
Occupation: Superintendent of Schools.
Address: Granville, Mass.

UPON leaving College in 1913 I went to Peekskill, New York, as Principal of a sixteen-room grammar school on the Hudson. Here I spent two very delightful years in the Drum Hill School and then returned to Cambridge to teach mathematics and English at the Rindge Technical School. While teaching in Cambridge, I took graduate work in education at Harvard.

In November, 1916, I was appointed Superintendent of Schools in the towns of Southwick, Granville, Tolland, and Sandisfield, Massachusetts, four towns stretching westward along the Connecticut border. I have twenty-nine, one-room rural schools, under my jurisdiction, some of which have three or four pupils and a teacher, a dictionary and a box of maps. My work is spread over the southern Berkshires, and if any of the boys happen to see a covered buggy on the road, look twice, for it may be I. Probably it is safe to say my district covers all of four hundred miles.

In December, 1915, I journeyed to Montreal, Quebec, and met Old Saint Nick, who gave me the best of gifts. We have lived happily ever since, and a year later, when the doctors, nurses, mothers-in-law and grandmothers quieted down, I realized what it was to be the father of a future Harvard man in these H. C. L. days. We call him Donald after his Uncle Donald Malcolm who is somewhere in Belgium feeding hot rations and iron biscuits to Fritz.

WRITING one's autobiography is a fascinating pastime. I suppose everyone who has ever dabbled at the writing game, not to mention a great many who haven't, has had visions of an overwhelming demand pouring in on him from an admiring and ardent public, for a truthful and picturesque account of his early life. But it is vouchsafed to few writers who are painfully conscious of having no public at all, to have any interest shown in how they have lived or, in fact, whether they are alive or dead. Thus, it will be easy to imagine with what avidity the present opportunity is seized upon. Not only is there here presented a chance for literary achievement, but also by the grace of God, a reasonable assurance that one's humble effort will actually see the light of the printed page.

Speaking of autobiographies, once upon a time I did — But that, after all, is my own secret and one I am trying hard to forget. Let us, without further delay, pass to the spring of 1912, at which time I had the good fortune to squeek by my final examinations and the questionable pleasure of diving off into the real sea of life.

My first few strokes took me only as far as southern New Jersey. I am astonished now at my amazing confidence in my ability to swim before I was put to it as a matter of necessity. I got a job, experimentally, as a salesman for a map concern. I have forgotten, at this writing the very name of that institution, but I recall vividly the quality of the maps which I was required to foist upon the unsuspecting Jersey farmers. It is not at all improbable, also, that the quality of my salesmanship was on a par with that of the maps. At any rate, my summer's campaign was not a success from any point of view and I was glad enough to get back to a job that was waiting for me in New York on a weekly paper, then The Market World and Chronicle, since changed to The Economic World.

In my new environs, where I stayed roughly four years, my experiences ran the gamut from printer's devil to business manager, with a good deal of stray editorial work thrown in. In all truth, I believe I did everything on that paper at one time or another except operate the linotype machines.

During the summer of 1916, I was impelled by one reason and another to resign my position on The Economic World for the considerably more precarious occupation of "free-lancing." In my own defence, I wish to emphasize the fact that I did resign. Whether or not the step was a wise one, it is for posterity to judge. At present, it must be admitted, the editors of the country do not exhibit any wild enthusiasm over what I have to offer.

For the time being, I have ensconced myself in the back woods, some distance out of New York, at a little village called Woodstock, with which, if any of our classmates have sought the tortuous ways of art, may not be wholly unfamiliar. Here one cooks one's own meals (such as they are), saws one's own wood, and performs other menial tasks, the while one waits patiently for Dame Fortune to smile. There is one good thing about it, however, it keeps one out in the open air.

AFTER Class Day I sailed from San Francisco for a year of foreign travel, intending to continue my studies at the universities en route. Visited the Hawaiian Islands where Pop Lowrey, '13, was just winning the tennis tournament; and reached Tokio in time to attend the banquet of the Harvard Club of Japan; Asano, '12, was not there as he had recently sailed for San Francisco. After three months at the University of Tokio and University of Kyoto, I went to China and from there to the Philippines. Made a research expedition through the Igorote district of northern Luzon with Warwick Greene, Harvard, '01, and played second base at the annual Fourth of July Harvard-Yale Baseball Game. We lost. Proceeded to the Malay States and Burma and was in India when the war began. Met Paul Danner, '13, Jatindra Nath Set, '13, and Hira Lal Roy, '13, and gave a talk before the students of the Bengal National College on "American Ideals as typified by Harvard University." Was received by Rabindranath Tagore at his school at Bolpur. Left Bombay and was at Cairo at the time of the Turkish attack on the Suez Canal. Later arrived in London where I met Lee Ustick and Brett Langstaff who gave me my first news af Harvard's dedication of the Yale Bowl. Enrolled at the University of Paris in February, 1915, but left in May to enter the French Military Hospital Service at Paris and in northern France. Attended the banquet of the Harvard Club of Paris in honor of the Harvard Unit at the Ambulance Americaine. Later became associated with the American Commission for Relief in Belgium, and returned to the United States in time for Christmas, 1915. Since then I have done some journalistic work (nothing important) and have just finished organizing the Kansas Belgian Children's Relief Fund, and at my own expense giving a series of lectures throughout Kansas on "Personal Glimpses of the War and Relief Work in France and Belgium," by which I raised $15,000 to turn over to the American Commission for Relief in Belgium with which to buy food for the starving Belgian children.

On March 25, 1917, my engagement to Elizabeth Woodbridge Metcalf, Wellesley, '15, was announced by her parents; and the Harvard men, of whom Hale Knight, '13, and Watson Leonhauser, '13, were the ringleaders, gave a dinner in my honor at the University Club.

At present I am working for the James B. Welsh Realty and Loan Company of Kansas City and am living at the Hotel Carlton, though there will be a real home waiting for Harvard '13 men before next Christmas.

After having met and been entertained by Harvard men all over the world it is my pleasure to state from actual experience and observation that Harvard's influence is indeed world-wide and that there is something very real about the "Harvard Spirit."

MY life since College days has been extremely simple, and I might almost add, monotonous, since the locality wherein I reside is not heavily populated. Of social clubs there are none, and what little social life there is seems to center around an academy, located at Ashburnham.

The business of installing this system has occupied my time to such an extent that I have had no time for other activities.

COMPLETED College course in spring of 1912. In July, 1912, went back to Picatinny Arsenal, Dover, New Jersey, as laboratorian. Was married in October. Left Picatinny Arsenal in July, 1913, to go with the Tennessee Copper Company, at Copper Hill, Tennessee, as assistant chemist. Did not like the place, position, or company, so left on July 29. Went to Knoxville, Tennessee, and hunted for a position. At end of one month obtained position as chief chemist with the Embre Iron Company, Embreville, Tennessee.

Worked there as chemist and later as chemist-engineer until the war broke out in the fall of 1914, at which time I left and went back with the government at Picatinny Arsenal, where I worked during the month of January, 1915. On February 1, 1915 came with the DuPont Company, as chief chemist at Carney's Point plant, New Jersey, which position I have held since then.

THE summer of 1913 I spent "discovering" the West with Carleton Burr. In November I resigned from the life of ease, and started in to work for Lee, Higginson and Company, where I am still employed. Was married on December 20, 1913, to Frances Saltonstall, and have lived at Hamilton, Massachusetts, (Essex County). Harry McKean lives nearby, and will be glad to sell anyone any quantity of high priced eggs. He has several thousand hens, and knows each one by name. Who said that our Class was not one of "geniuses?" Bayard Warren has dogs, also for sale, and so does Shaw McKean. Personally I have trees, all kinds, all colors, all sizes and all prices.

There have been three great events since 1913: (1) The War, (2) the Triennial, a modified form of war, (3) The arrival of G. v. L. M., 3d.

Quite a few of the Class took an active part in the political campaigns last fall. We started, two years ago, an organization known as "The Young Republicans of Massachusetts," membership open to anyone between the ages of twenty-one and thirty. We have now over 400 members in Boston. We hold noonday rallies and night rallies, we register voters, and assist in every way we can to elect the Republican candidate. It has been most interesting work. Last fall I was chairman of a committee that organized a Hughes torchlight parade here in Boston. The last parade held in this city resulted in a free fight (between Harvard and Tech I believe) and since then parades of this nature had been frowned on. In spite of this, and with the assistance of The Young Republicans, we pulled off a successful parade of some 9000 marchers, all carrying torches and flags. It was about three miles long, and looked, as the newspapers said, "like a river of fire flowing through the city." The effect it had on the crowds which jammed the sidewalks, was as desired, but I fear they did not hear about it out in California!! We may be parading again soon, but this time we will have a more serious look on our faces, and will have something heavier to carry, both on our backs and in our hearts.

However, we will all meet again soon. Good luck to you!!

Occupation: Insurance Engineer.
Address: (home) 46 Walker St., West Somerville, Mass.; (business) Continental Ins. Co., 80 Maiden Lane, New York, N. Y., and Room 2, 70 Kilby St., Boston, Mass.

AFTER a short vacation in the summer of 1912, I went to work for the Boston Port Directors, who at that time were making preliminary surveys for a belt line railroad which has not yet materialized. In December, 1912, I became an Inspector for the New England Bureau of United Inspection, an organization formed and supported by about forty insurance companies, with which I remained three and one-half years. In April, 1916, the Continental Insurance Company of New York, one of the companies supporting the Bureau, invited me to join its engineering department. I accepted, and since then have been "on the road" most of the time in New England, New York, and Pennsylvania.

The nature of my business is such that I have had neither the time nor the opportunity to engage in many outside pursuits. My recreation has consisted chiefly of week end camping trips, and short tramps in the mountains. In 1913 I enlisted in the First Corps Cadets and have been to three camps. During my enlistment I was pleasantly associated with several classmates and numerous other Harvard men. Last December I passed into the Reserve. Occasionally, in my wanderings, I meet by chance or appointment some other member of the Class of 1913, and the meeting is almost always productive of pleasant evenings of reminiscence and Class gossip.

HENRY DUDLEY MINICH

Born at Indianapolis, Ind., June 19, 1889.
Parents: Charles Allison, Bessie (Martin) Minich.
Schools: Shortridge High School, Indianapolis, Ind.; Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind.
Years in College: 1909–11.
Married: Grace Susan Coffin, Nashua, N. H., Oct. 12, 1910.
Child: Henry Dudley, Jr., May 29, 1912.
Occupation: Consulting Engineer.
Address: 511 Cannon Place, Troy, N. Y.

IN the fall of 1911, I went to Indianapolis and became private stenographer to the secretary of the Citizens Gas Company. When Mr. F. W. Collins, consulting engineer, was employed by them professionally, I became his assistant on certain efficiency investigations, finally spending considerable time in learning each operation in detail. On leave of absence, I assisted Mr. Collins on several other engagements in different parts of the country, finally taking several jobs on my own account, including the Globe-Wernicke Company, of Cincinnati.

In January, 1914, I became associated with C. H. Scovell and Company as industrial engineer and cost accountant, occasionally on audits. Had numerous important engagements in many industries and in developing all phases of efficiency work or industrial engineering. Have personally directed several plants, advised the management, reported to courts in bankruptcy cases, outlined policies, developed cost accounting practice, introduced profit sharing and bonus schemes, standardized methods and products, etc. Have unintentionally specialized in the shirt and collar business, having served one client ("Lion" collars) for over three years, and three others at various times.

In September, 1916, I opened my own office in Troy, New York, and am continuing to serve a number of large companies in a consulting capacity in Troy and other cities.

HENRY DAVIS MINOT

Born at Jamaica Plain, Mass., Dec. 15, 1890.
Parents: Robert Sedgwick, Abby Howe (Manning) Minot.
School: Noble and Greenough's School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Married: Harriet Mitchell Northrop, Waterbury, Conn., Dec. 4, 1915.
Child: Otis Northrop, Nov. 2, 1916.
Occupation: Architectural Draughtsman.
Address: (home) 261 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.; (business) Room 70, 67 Milk St., Boston, Mass.

ON July 1, 1913, I entered the office of Guy Lowell, architect, as a draughtsman, where I stayed nine months. The next April I sailed with members of my family for Madeira; stayed there two weeks, and took the Canopic for Naples. On the steamer I met Miss Harriet Northrop of Waterbury, Connecticut, now Mrs. Minot.

We were in Germany when the war broke out and experienced some unpleasant conditions. I came back in September, and after a year at the Harvard Architectural School returned to work as a draughtsman.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of Boston.

JAMES JACKSON MINOT, Jr.

Born at Boston, Mass., Nov. 17, 1891.
Parents: James Jackson, Elizabeth (Whitney) Minot.
School: Noble and Greenough's School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Bond Salesman with Jackson and Curtis.
Address: (home) 188 Marlborough St., Boston, Mass.; (business) 19 Congress St., Boston, Mass.

I FINISHED the requirements for an A.B. degree at midyears of our senior year, but stayed on in Cambridge, taking one course in the Business School, and attending Bryant and Stratton's. Immediately after Class Day I went abroad and was joined by O. Wolcott in August. Together we went from London to Munich, from there to northern Italy, and then through Switzerland by foot, carriage, rail, and boat. At Aix-les-Bains we started on a motor trip through southern France, making a great loop and ending at Macon, Paris, London, and then back to Boston. Completed my travels, and I have been here pretty much all the time since.

I entered the employ of Jackson and Curtis in October, 1913, and after passing through the messenger boy stage, started selling bonds in January, 1914. I am still there doing the same thing, and any member of our Class who has achieved the dignity of becoming a bond buyer will find me there with a desk next to N. Ford, '13, and H. B. Gardner, '13. Between us we feel capable of relieving anyone of his money in exchange for the very best securities.

My outside interests have been neither large nor varied. My life has been of the typically Boston variety. From about October, 1914, to October, 1915, I served as Treasurer of the Boston Casualty Company in my spare time, and still remain a director. I was a member of Company G, First Training Regiment at Plattsburg in August, 1915, and D. Lockwood, '13, and I shared the capacious interior of a "pup" tent. In July, 1916, after leading my squad into a stone wall or two, I decided I was meant for an artilleryman and transferred into the Second Training Battery at Plattsburg. My section was composed exclusively of Harvard men with W. A. Barron, '14, as our Corporal. As a military genius I do not conceive myself to be a success, but I am a strong advocate of compulsory military service and preparedness.

In politics I am thoroughly a Republican, and always expect to be. My activities in this line have consisted in serving for a short time on the Executive Committee of The Young Republicans of Massachusetts. I am treasurer of a fund to erect a statue of Anne Hutchinson in the Boston Public Library, and have recently been appointed chairman of the Committee in charge of the Boys' Clubs at Dennison House.

My chief recreations are squash racquets, golf, and a very occasional short cruise, but my best recreation has been the Triennial. Yes, I was there: talking of war, and advising the United States how to capture Villa, while so many of our classmates missed that fun, but seemed to have made it up in Texas. I narrowly escaped receiving a Carnegie medal for rescuing J. M. A. Dougherty from drowning. Well, if I don't fall victim to a minnenwerfer, or more likely die from eating American Army contractor food (I hate poor food), I look forward to an even better time in 1919.

Address: (home) Craymere Pk., Mahwah, N. J.; (business) 56 Pine St., New York, N. Y.

AFTER leaving College I worked with O'Brion and Russell, 108 Water Street, Boston, selling insurance. I went abroad in March, 1914, where I visited France and England. I returned to live in New York in November, 1914, and worked with Messimer and Carreau, 101 Park Avenue, New York, soliciting real estate.

In July, 1915, I became Treasurer of the Courtessis Cigarette Company, Inc., 56 Pine Street, New York, which position I still hold. Last summer I served at the Mexican border with the Seventh Regiment of New York.

JULY, 1913, to October, 1913, employed as mechanic in Long Island City, New York, service station of Packard Motor Car Company. October, 1913, to November, 1914, employed by the General Vehicle Company, Inc., Long Island City, New York, first as demonstrator on Mercedes trucks, then in test department, then on outside service work, then in office of service department. November, 1914, to January, 1915, employed as salesman in New York City office of Commercial Truck Company of America. From January, 1914, worked nights and spare time on plans for tractor. January 1, 1915, left Commercial Truck Company to test out first experimental tractor built from plans in small machine shop in Flushing, New York. January 8, 1915, with two other men, founded the Transport Tractor Company, Inc., capital stock $100,000, a private corporation of

New York State, to manufacture five ton capacity road tractors. We spent the next year in comprehensive experimental work, and in September, 1915, moved into our present factory in Long Island City, starting regular production in February, 1916.

John B. Judkins, 1913, has been particularly indispensable to the new enterprise. Under the name of Purchasing Agent he has handled also a great deal of other work in a very able manner for the Company. Since its incorporation I have been Vice President and a director in this concern, actively engaged at the factory and in sales organization work. A Boston office has been recently opened at 161 Summer Street.

Occupation: Bond Salesman with Stone & Webster.
Address: (home) 925 Park Ave., New York, N. Y.; (business) 120 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

UPON finishing my courses in Harvard in 1912, I attended the Bryant and Stratton Commercial College, Boston, Massachusetts, for a year, and obtained the diploma given to students who complete the general business course. I then went West to see something of this country. I visited the placer mines at Ruby, Montana, and the famous Anaconda Smelter. I went to Priest Lake, Idaho, where I camped for two weeks. From there I proceeded to Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles, the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, and finally returned to New York. Here I was fortunate enough to get a position with Stone and Webster, where I am now working as a bond salesman.

In the summer of 1915, I went to San Francisco on the S. S. Finland to the meeting of the Associated Harvard Clubs.

In January, 1916, I joined Battery B, First Field Artillery, N. G. N. Y. Consequently I went to McAllen, Texas, with my Battery this summer. While on the border I was Mess Sergeant for a time and secretary to General McNair at Field Artillery Brigade Headquarters. The regiment was ordered home in October and we arrived in New York October 26, and were mustered out November 1. Since then I have enjoyed city life greatly and appreciate little old New York more than ever.

I am again at work and am looking forward to our Sexennial reunion, where I expect to make up for the loss of our Triennial.

SINCE leaving College my life has contained few thrills. I entered Harvard Law in the fall of 1913 and went peacefully through the course, getting my LL.B. in June, 1916. I found little opportunity to acquire honor or offices, unless managing the Harvard Typewriting Bureau and taking charge of the gates at Soldiers' Field would come in that class. These, with tutoring and proctoring brought a fair income in cash, but a sad outgo in time.

I arrived in New York jobless after the first of October and found rather meagre picking in the field of law openings at that late date. About the first of November the chance came. Since then the maze of New York practice has considerably occupied my attention, and will probably continue to do so for some time to come.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Advertising.
Address: (home) 286 Sterling Pl., Brooklyn, N. Y.; (business) 600 West 43d St., New York, N. Y.

A sober, industrious, willing, and ambitious young man. Not afraid of work — in fact I'll walk right up and lie down alongside it.

Principal amusements, movies and golf. Go to work via Times Square, Forty-second Street, Broadway, etc., every day, so the romance which it holds forth for the outlanders means nothing to me. It's a tough life, but it could be worse. I might be married.

EBEN LAWRENCE NORTON

Born at Norwood, Mass., Dec. 14, 1890.
Parents: Eben Carver, Eliza Bogart (Lawrence) Norton.
School: Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter. N. H.
Years in College: 1909–14.
Degree: S.B. 1913 (1914).
Unmarried.
Occupation: Tracer.
Address: (home) 38 Cottage St., Norwood, Mass.; (business) General Railroad Offices, New Haven, Conn.

HARVARD NORTON

Born at Milton, N. H., Dec. 24, 1891.
Parents: William Kimball, Lilla (Marion) Norton.
School: Boston Latin School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degrees: A.B. 1913; M.L.A. 1915.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Landscape Architecture.
Address: (home) 7502 Carnegie Ave., Cleveland, O.; (business) 1900 Euclid Ave., Cleveland, O.

AFTER graduating with the Class of 1913, I completed two years of study in the Harvard School of Landscape Architecture.

In February of 1914 I won the trophy cup in a competition open to all the members of the Landscape School for the best design for development of a five-acre country estate.

During the year 1914–15 I held the office of Secretary-Treasurer in the Topiarian Club, which is composed entirely of landscape students at the Harvard Landscape School.

In June of 1915 I received the degree of Master in Landscape Architecture (M.L.A.), and was chosen with one other classmate, to represent at the Sander's Theatre exercises the members of the class receiving M.L.A. degrees in 1915.

The summer of 1915 I spent in California with my father, studying parks, boulevard systems, private estate development, and other features pertaining to the landscape profession.

Late in August (1915) I started work in the office of Albert Davis Taylor, landscape architect, Cleveland, Ohio.

I have continued to the present time in Mr. Taylor's employ, and have had the satisfaction of constantly receiving more and more responsibility and personal dealings with clients. Everything looks prosperous for the immediate future. Landscape business is booming here, and we're the boys who "put across" the work!

In the spring of 1916 I joined the Harvard Club of Cleveland, and have enjoyed the influence and the acquaintance of the men I have met there.

MEMBER: The Harvard Club of Cleveland.

SEYMOUR HATCH OLMSTED

Born at Buffalo, N. Y., April 2, 1891.
Parents: John Bartow, Clara A. (Morgan) Olmsted.
School: Lafayette High School, Buffalo, N. Y.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Financial Secretary and Assistant Treasurer, Charity Organization Society.
Address: (home) 183 Bryant St., Buffalo, N. Y.; (business) 181 Franklin St., Buffalo, N. Y.

HOW well I remember the days of 1909, the days ruled over by the great Daily Theme. I recall the last few hastily penned lines somehow stretched out to reach the bottom of the page, the careful fold and proper inscription, and then that wild rush across the Yard to get inside Sever gates and up to the multi-slotted door before "Mem" clock finished striking five. Already I've almost forgotten it until now comes Assistant Professor Tufts demanding a "What I am and why I ever left Harvard," and if I don't get it in on time I am "lost."

About two months after graduation I began working in an aluminum foundry in Buffalo. There I discovered that molasses has other uses than on bread and fried apples, which I had not learned in Cambridge. I found also that there were several other things worth knowing, and not the least of them were the blessings of bath and bed. The following winter I was sent to Detroit in the employ of the same company and was given more foundry experience there. While in Detroit I was lucky enough to live near Hale Knight and believe me, his house was the nearest thing to home I knew of. I guess he thinks I made it so, but anyway I appreciated it.

The next spring (1914) I was working in and out of Chicago, through Illinois and southern Wisconsin, as a castings salesman. I was a better traveller than salesman though, and all the time would have been happier back in the shop. The next summer brought me back to Buffalo, and late in the fall the company employing me decided to continue operations without me. I concurred in this decision.

After about one month's residence at the Henry Street Settlement in New York, I began service with the Buffalo Charity Organization Society as a visitor in December, 1914, and have been here in one capacity or another ever since. For the past year I have been Financial Secretary, but am still not sure that I shall be able to keep on in this field, the newest profession. The personal difficulties are partly financial: even Philosophy 4 instructs one that moderate income is essential to happiness, so the question is as to what is Moderate. Philosophy 4, by the way, stays with me as the dearest and most serviceable college course for me (if there was any one), though in my business I often have flashes back from Economics 2 and Economics 9.

Aside from regular business, I have found a lot of pleasure, and gained some experience, in local political campaigns, especially in connection with Buffalo's first grapple with commission government. Also there have been peace as well as preparedness demonstrations, and there is apt to attack considerable ridicule thereto on the part of many friends. So the long and skinny pacifist seemed to contradict himself when he slipped off up to Plattsburg last summer. That was a wonderful experience (that's what they all say, and it's true); I never got more out of a vacation. It was a lot of help to skinniness and not much hindrance to pacifism, a help to that too, I think. And I wasn't even in the same regiment with Murray Quigg. Also, I was mighty glad to be able to vote for a second cup of coffee for Mr. Wilson.

Somebody seems to have discovered the fitness, if not willingness, of the young graduate to do clerical dirty work. I have been Treasurer and various committee chairmen and later Secretary of our Buffalo Social Workers' Club; and more recently Secretary also of the Buffalo Social Welfare Conference; also new Secretary of the Buffalo Harvard Club this year.

MY first year was passed in the Graduate School at Harvard with the double purpose of studying and deciding on my life work. The following year I entered the Episcopal Theological School from which I expect to graduate this June. Last summer my father, an '88 man, who is Bishop of Spokane, ordained me, shortly after which I returned to Cambridge to complete my course and work on the staff of St. Paul's Cathedral. In June my work will take me out to the State of Washington as missionary. My permanent address will then be 2303 West First Avenue, Spokane, Washington.

NATHANIEL EMMONS PAINE, Jr.

Born at Westboro, Mass., Oct. 1, 1890.
Parents: Nathaniel Emmons, Harriet Banks (Gould) Paine.
School: Newton High School, Newton, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–11.
Degree: A.B. 1913.

AFTER three years of College and two years in the Graduate School of Business Administration, I went to Chicago in July, 1914, and have lived there ever since.

From August, 1914, until March, 1916, I was in the wholesale department of Marshall Field and Company, working in the warehouse department, and also as salesman and assistant buyer in the main wholesale building.

From March, 1916, until July, 1916, I was employed in the farm mortgage department of the New York Life Insurance Company. In June, I returned to our 1913 Class Reunion, enjoyed one day of the same, and was called to serve with Battery E, Illinois National Guard, in Texas. We summered at San Antonio, which is part of the very sunny South. The work of the Battery consisted in daily drill in riding and handling the guns for about a month; daily practice for about five weeks in approaching supposed enemy positions and using up on these our 264 rounds of ammunition; and finally the taking part in a divisional march. The division of about 15,000 National Guard and Regular troops marched from San Antonio to Austin and back, a distance of 160 miles.

Since November, 1916, I have been with the Autopiano Company as salesman.

Chicago has always appealed to me as a very wide-awake and busy, typically American city, and a very pleasant place to live in. My first impressions were agreeable, since as my train entered the station in Chicago Elliott Smith rushed onto the platform and welcomed — a very attractive young lady, who came on the same train. However, he had time to greet me, and give friendly advice as to how to get to the part of the city I wished.

After a few weeks spent in New York at the head office of the Autopiano Company, I expect to return to Chicago about March 1, and stay there for some time to come.

FRANKLIN HALL PALMER

Unmarried.
Occupation: Manufacturer.
Address: (home) Lancaster, Mass.; (business) Clinton Wire Cloth Co., Clinton, Mass.

THE day following our Commencement in June, 1913, I left with my parents for Newchwang, Manchuria, to visit my brother, William Morgan Palmer, who was at that time in the employ of the Chinese Government there.

We crossed the continent by way of the Canadian Rockies and sailed from Seattle for Yokohama. We spent a few very pleasant weeks in Japan visiting Tokio, Nikko, Osaka, and Kobe, then crossed over to Korea and spent a few days in the capital, Seoul, a most interesting city. From there we proceeded to Mukden and Newchwang, where we spent six months, thoroughly enjoying the novelty of the country and the wonderful shooting. Manchuria is a perfect paradise for the sportsman, as snipe, ducks, geese, pheasants, and turkey bustards (the king of game birds) are there in unbelievable numbers.

As the cold weather came on in the autumn we moved south, visiting the principal cities of China, i. e. Tientsin, Peking, Hankow, Shanghai and Hong Kong. We sailed in February for Marseilles via Singapore, Malacca, Colombo, and Suez, stopping at Cairo, for a visit to the Pyramids.

We spent the spring travelling in France, Italy, Austria, Switzerland, Germany, Belgium, and England, and returned to America after being away almost exactly a year, and having had a most delightful trip.

In the following September, 1914, I accepted a position with the Clinton Wire Cloth Company of Clinton, Massachusetts, and am still with the same concern. I am living in Lancaster, and while the simple life of the country is not tremendously exciting, on the whole it is pretty satisfactory.

School: Pomfret School, Pomfret Center, Conn.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: S.B. 1913.
Married: Dorothy Hyde, Southampton, Long Island, N. Y., Sept. 19, 1914.
Children: Darragh Anderson, Jr., Aug. 15, 1915; Dorothy Hyde, Dec. 2, 1916.
Occupation: Bond Broker.
Address: (home) Roslyn, Long Island, N. Y.; (business) 49 Wall St., New York, N. Y.

SHORTLY after leaving College I applied for work on one of New York's leading evening newspapers as I felt sure that my literary abilities would there be appreciated. Having a pull, I was employed at ten dollars a week, and after receiving in all twenty dollars was requested to leave because a certain accident I was sent to cover failed to take place. The subway that was to cave in is still in operation.

Feeling that literature was not in my line I undertook banking and started licking stamps for Colgate, Parker and Company. I have been there since and have been promoted; I am now allowed to answer the telephone.

On September 19, 1914, I took a short vacation from business and got married and moved to a small house at Westbury, Long Island. There is now a son and heir in the family who shows promise of having red hair and already has three teeth with more coming. I believe, according to latest reports, also a daughter, without teeth as yet.

Have just lately moved into my new house at Roslyn, Long Island.

Address: (home) East Gloucester, Mass.; (business) J. Smith Hall, C. 21, Cambridge, Mass.

THE four years since graduation I have spent in the Harvard Medical School from which I hope to graduate this June. I have lived at Cambridge during the school term and acted as a proctor in Randolph for two years and in Smith Halls the last two years.

I have assisted in coaching the University football team regularly every day, handling chiefly the centers and some of the line men. Last August I spent a month at Annapolis helping with the football work there.

I have received an appointment as Interne on the Medical side in the Massachusetts General hospital which begins in January, 1918, for eighteen months. Unless the unforseen happens, I expect to be in or around Boston for the next two years.

Occupation: Farmer.
Address: Edmands St., Framingham, Mass.

FINISHED College course in the spring of 1912, on leave of absence 1912–13, graduated with Class of 1913. Have been working as foreman and manager of my own fruit farm at Framingham, Massachusetts, near Wayside Inn on the state road to Worcester. Have at present about 12,000 trees set out, apple, pear, peach, quince, etc. Am specializing on fruit.

Have been to Washington, 1916 and 1917, as a delegate of National Security League from Massachusetts. Have worked considerably last year getting members for National Security League and Plattsburg. Went to Plattsburg, July, 1916. Came back a pacifist, due to feeling that the whole movement was from the top down and that the average man and his best interests were perhaps not represented. The movement is being agitated largely by people who have breakfast about eight o'clock. The interests of the average man should be considered more. Am very much interested in Universal Military Training, and would like to see it in America, provided it could be brought about without having a military spirit here.

Years in College: 1909–11.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Salesman.
Address: (home) 631 Wick Ave., Youngstown, O.; (business) Aurora St., Ironwood, Mich.

AFTER leaving College in June, 1911, I went to work with the Republic Rubber Company of Youngstown, Ohio, at first in the office as "general office help" and later in the shipping department of the factory. The first of December, 1911, I left this concern and went into the cost department of the General Fireproofing Company at Youngstown. Ten months of this was enough so I went into the order department and later, in August, 1914, into the sales department of the same organization. In March, I was sent to Louisville, Kentucky, to conduct a sales campaign in steel filing cabinets lasting two months. From there I was sent to the Chicago office of the General Fireproofing Company, selling in the city until January 1, 1917. A picture theatre in Ironwood that I had put some money in was not doing well and so I gave up my position with the General Fireproofing Company, and went up to Ironwood to get it in better condition. I expect to stay here until I can get rid of the theatre and then go back to Youngstown, Ohio.

THE power of love overcame my thirst for knowledge, so with vorpal sword in hand, I ventured forth into the world to seek my fortune. We all know that it is money and not love that makes the world go 'round, so it was up to me to get my fingers on some of the filthy lucre. I left College after the Easter hour examinations. I went to work with Fayette R. Plumb, Inc. My first job was to lay out orders in the shipping department; in this way I learned the names of the tools, the catalogue numbers and their sizes. In June I decided that it would be better for me to get some experience with a concern "outside." I took a position with the United Shoe Machinery Company at Beverly, Massachusetts. In the fall I returned with Fayette R. Plumb, Inc., after having learned some of the requirements of a draftsman and the fact that I could hold a job successfully with a company where I was unknown. The next two years I spent "going through" the factory. As grinding, forging and polishing is for the husky lad, when I was through my apprenticeship, I had to have my shoes lined with lead to keep me from blowing away. I took about eight months vacation, returning early in January, 1916. At that time I was made Assistant Superintendent. In May, we formed an employment bureau and the management of it was given to me, besides my other duties. These new duties proved to be an advanced course in "Phil. E."

Yes, rustling the almighty dollar is my chief indoor sport.

Occupation: Engineering.
Address: (home) 35 Bank St., Batavia, N. Y.; (business) 52 West Eagle St., Buffalo, N. Y.

AFTER finishing my work at Harvard in February, 1913, I entered the employ of The Churchill and Alden Company, shoemakers, of Brockton, Massachusetts. Of course, I came back to Cambridge for the graduating exercises in June. My work at Brockton was pleasant as well as instructive, and I became well acquainted with several Harvard men of other classes. I liked my employers and think that they liked me, but the bane of the one-arm eating joints caused me to leave the shoe business at Christmas, 1915, and go home to get a fresh start.

The spring following, I entered the employ of Ellsworth, Barrows and Reeves, civil engineers, of Buffalo, engaged in appraisal and valuation work. I am still with this firm.

GODFREY PRIESTER

Born at Lautzkirchen, Rheinpfalz, Germany, Sept. 12, 1878.
Parents: Gottfried, Dorothea (Worm) Priester.
School: Grammar School, Lautzkirchen, Germany.
Years in College: 1909–13; 1915–16.
Degree: S.B. 1913 (1917).
Unmarried.
Occupation: Business Manager, Fall River Amusement Co.
Address: (home) 5 Trinity Hall, Cambridge, Mass.; (business) Lincoln Park, Dartmouth, Mass.

RECEIVED the S.B. in February, 1917, (cum laude in German) as of the Class of 1913. Was registered in the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, 1916–17.

President of the Harvard Deutscher Verein, 1914–15, 1916–17, Vice President, 1913–14. Have played a part in the following Verein plays — "Der Bibliothekar" (1910), "Der ungläubige Thomas" (1911), "Zwei Wappen" (1912), "Flachsmann als Erzieher" (1913), "Die Journalisten" (1914), Der Hypochonder" (1916). Vice President of the Harvard Cosmopolitan Club, 1914–15.

Since 1914 have been Vice President and General Manager of the Fall River Amusement Company.

I entered Harvard at the age of thirty as a special student with very little academic preparation. It was my intention at first to take a few courses in engineering, having had some practical experience before entering Harvard. After two years' work, encouraged by my friends, I decided to change my program with the view of obtaining a more general education and eventually a degree. This was not an easy task. It was necessary to remove gradually all entrance conditions, and I was compelled to burn a good deal of midnight oil. Financial difficulties were still more serious. I could not entertain hopes for a scholarship and I had to support my mother. I was confronted with the problem of finding a position during the summer months that would yield an income of considerable magnitude. I started a business of my own. I bought a number of so-called penny-in-the-slot machines from a junk dealer, repaired them and placed them in different locations; the profits were bigger than I expected, but it required too much of my time. So I sold out. About this time I met the proprietor of a number of "Scenic Railways." This man offered me a position with an income big enough to keep me above water. But I had great difficulties in keeping up with my work. I lost two and a half courses on that account.

After managing the "Scenic" for three seasons, I decided to organize a company of my own. I acquired a ten years' lease for the construction and operation of a "Scenic Railway" in Lincoln Park. I bought, at a very low price, a complete outfit of machinery and cars. I thought it an easy matter to raise money for the construction work. But I suffered the greatest disappointment of my life. With every cent I possessed invested in the outfit, and after spending a month or more in a vain attempt to raise money, I landed in Cambridge in September, 1913, practically penniless. To register under these conditions was out of the question. I had not money enough left to hire a room for a week. After struggling along for a month or so, I succeeded in interesting a big New York concern in my enterprise. Lease and machinery were taken over by this firm and I was given the management and a substantial interest in the new company. The enterprise turned out to be a big success the first season. I was able to return in the fall of 1914 to complete my College work. Since then I have held the office of Vice President and General Manager of the Company incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts as the Fall River Amusement Company.

DIRECTLY after leaving College I was elected President of my high school fraternity, an organization of about thirty chapters and thirty-five years of vigorous existence, Gamma Eta Kappa. The term lasted two years, and in 1915 I went to San Francisco to preside at the biennial convention of the fraternity and pass the gavel on.

I returned via the Canal, spending six days on the Isthmus and getting a good idea of what is one of the many American contributions to world prosperity, and especially to those influences for international sympathy and dependence which is overcoming the prejudices, fears, and idle ambitions that breed international hostility.

The last three years have passed in qualifying to be an attorney and studying to be a lawyer, not necessarily the same thing, and in controversy with people who believe that we should not employ force to protect our rights against each and every violator of them and those who believe that we should use force to help another nation end a war which, however unjustly waged by its adversary, it has justly brought upon itself. And meanwhile I watch my friends get married, while watchfully waiting myself.

MY career since I left Harvard has been humdrum. I have been with one concern since that time and while I have received a good education in the sole leather business, I am still in the class which looks forward with trepidation to the time when a raise in salary is due and sighs with relief when the raise has been received. Neither have I been identified in any way worthy of mention with any affairs of social, public or intellectual interests.

I LEFT College in May, 1912, and continued in the work of experimenting in various mechanical ideas regarding automobiles. Moved to Pasadena, California, in May, 1913, and entered the employ of Thomas D. Campbell Company, Los Angeles, real estate, that same month. Remained with them for eleven months and left to finish a series of experiments on bearing metals. These being satisfactorily concluded I began to manufacture the same commercially in July, 1914, in Los Angeles. Was joined in this during August, 1914, by J. W. Brooks Ladd, '11, and we moved business and established same at 422 South Robey Street, Chicago, Illinois, in June, 1915, under the name of Amalgamated Metals Company. In January, 1916, I was elected President of this company holding office for one year and was re-elected to same office in January, 1917.

THE three academic years following graduation I spent at Harvard, doing graduate work in economics; holding in the first two years an assistantship and in the last an instructorship and a tutorship in the department. I was, during this time, and am still, a candidate for a Ph.D. in economics. My doctoral thesis is "The Copper Industry of the United States, 1845–1915." In connection therewith I was granted a small Sheldon Travelling Fellowship for the summer of 1915, for a trip to the chief copper-mining camps and copper smelteries of the United States. I had planned to stay at Harvard until I had received my doctorate, but in May of last year (1916) I was offered the position I now hold and accepted it. I now hope to come up for my degree in 1918.

During the summer of 1914, I carried on a little investigation into the seasonal character of the employment of labor on municipal work in and around Boston. This was done under the auspices of the American Association for Labor Legislation and a committee of the Boston Chamber of Commerce. It resulted in the first of the two articles mentioned below.

I am engaged to be married to Miss Eutha C. Downs of Baltimore, Maryland.

PEARCE CODINGTON RODEY

Born at Albuquerque, N. M., Nov. 8, 1889.
Parents: Bernard Shandon, Minnie (Codington) Rodey.
School: Mercersburg Academy, Mercersburg, Pa.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Degrees: A.B. 1913 (1912); LL.B. 1915.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Attorney at Law.
Address: (home) Casa de Ora, Albuquerque, N. M.; (business) 3-4 Law Library Bldg., Albuquerque, N. M.

LEAVING College in June, 1912, I spent the summer working for the New England Telephone Company, and was engaged most of the time travelling for that Company in Vermont. In the fall I entered the Harvard Law School and took my LL.B. degree there in June, 1915. The summers of 1913 and 1914, I also spent in the employ of the New England Telephone Company. After finishing the Law School in June, 1915, I worked for Raymond and Whitcomb, conducting tours during the summer to the Panama and Pacific Expositions, also touring the Canadian Rockies, the Yellowstone Park, and the general scenic parts of the States. In the fall of 1915, I came to New Mexico, simply at that time intending to visit, but liked the country so well I formed a law partnership and have since been constantly at the law practice, being junior partner in the firm of Rodey and Rodey at Albuquerque, New Mexico. Incidentally, I secured the opportunity to try my first case in the State Supreme Court two months after being admitted to practice and won my first decision in the court of last resort of the state. Practice here is the most general; taking in mining, irrigation, criminal, some corporation, and even divorce cases at times, although our practice consists mostly of corporate and probate work.

Taking considerable interest in politics, I was on the Republican Young Men's Executive Committee, and have in local matters been Secretary of the Municipal Ownership League, which successfully won the fight to purchase the city waterworks. With the aid of some other younger lawyers, we organized the Legal Aid Bureau of the Civic Betterment League, and I am Chairman of that Bureau. Incidentally, I have been working consistently in the State Legislature of this state for the measures advocated by the Commission on Uniform State Laws, and am on the Advisory Committee of the National Municipal League for the state. It looks as if there were a good opportunity here for the young lawyer and the growth in the practice has justified that belief. During the past year I have been Secretary of the county Bar Association and am now the Treasurer thereof and a member of its Executive Committee. I was appointed by the district court as receiver for the Albuquerque Wool Scouring Mills, which enabled me to get into considerable business from the start here.

Am President of the Sigma Chi Association of the University of New Mexico; President of the University of New Mexico Alumni Association; President of the Saint John's Men's Club, and Treasurer of Bernalillo County Bar Association.

MEMBER: St. Johns' Men's Club, Talkers' Club, Bernalillo County Bar Association, Civic Betterment League, and Commercial Club.

Occupation: Cotton Broker.
Address: (home) 79 North St., New Bedford, Mass.; (business) 108 Union St., New Bedford, Mass.

AFTER leaving College in June, 1913, I spent the summer travelling through the West and Northwest. In the fall of 1913, I entered the employ of E. A. Shaw and Company, 18 Post Office Square, Boston, cotton merchants. In the fall of 1915 I was transferred to the New Bedford agency of this same Company, and in November of this same year was made agent of the New Bedford office.

My main interest outside of business is in the Boy Scout movement. I organized the New Bedford and Fairhaven Council last year and am Secretary-Treasurer of this Council.

RALPH BENJAMIN ROMAINE

Born at New York, N. Y., Oct. 29, 1891.
Parents: Louis Tyson, Hannah (Cole) Romaine.
School: Middlesex School, Concord, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–12.

Unmarried.
Occupation: Lawyer.
Address: (home) 290 West End Ave., New York, N. Y.; (business) 27 William St., New York, N. Y.

I SPENT one year at the Harvard Law School, and the following October enrolled at the New York Law School, a few weeks later entering the law offices of Messrs. Burlingham, Montgomery and Beecher, 27 William Street, New York City. I continued working in the office in the day time and attending the Law School in the late afternoon and evening until October, 1915, when I left the office in order to study at the Columbia Law School in subjects in which I was most concerned in practice. I left the Columbia Law School in June, 1916, and was admitted to the New York bar in that month, at the same time resuming practice with the above firm. I have been chiefly interested in the law of carriers, particularly in the practice of Admiralty.

In January, 1916, I enlisted as a seaman in the First Battalion, Naval Militia, New York. After making the Federal cruise aboard the U. S. S. Kentucky last summer, on February third last, the First Battalion was suddenly mobilized and despatched on guard duty on the bridges over the East River from New York to Long Island, the destruction of which would block the approaches to the Navy Yard at Brooklyn. I have been on duty continuously from that date to the present time, and the end seems not in sight. When the time comes, I expect to return to the practice of law.

Married: Margaret Richardson, Boston, Mass., June 17, 1912.
Children: Margaret, March 11, 1913; died May 5, 1913; Henry Parish, April 11, 1915.
Occupation: Electrical Engineer.
Address: General Electric Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

TRAVELLED in Europe during 1912, visiting London, Paris, and Venice. Assistant in Harvard Graduate School of Engineering, 1913. After receiving my M.E.E. degree at Harvard in 1914 I spent one and a half months in Wyoming, riding through the Indian Reservations and Yellowstone Park. After that I went to Dawson City by way of Skagway, White Pass Railway, over the Chilkoot Pass, then down the Yukon River. After arriving in Dawson I worked first for the Dawson Electric Light, Power, and Coal Company as electrician. Next I acted as operator and repair man for the Canadian Klondike Power Company. During the winter I did electrical work as partner in a repair shop in the city. During the winter and spring I made two trips, one with a dog team to the Forty-Mile Gold Camp on the Alaskan side of the boundary, and the other in poling a boat up the White River prospecting for mica.

After leaving Dawson I walked over part of the proposed route of the Alaskan Railway from Seward to Anchorage, and had the opportunity of seeing a mushroom town of 1500 inhabitants housed in canvas tents. The town was only a few months old at the time of my visit, but it is being used by the Railway Commission as the port of supply for building materials and coal export at the present time. The port is not open in winter, but it is used in summer and eliminates a stretch over two divides, 1500 feet, on Kenni Peninsula.

I visited the Panama-Pacific International Exposition on my return trip, and after a short period in the East entered the General Electric Company, testing department. I am now engaged on special work in the power and mining department of this company.

PHILIP JAMES ROOSEVELT

Born at New York, N. Y., May 15, 1892.
Parents: W. Emlen, Christine Griffin (Kean) Roosevelt.
School: St. Mark's School, Southboro, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Degree: A.B. 1913 (1912).
Unmarried.
Occupation: Editor and Publisher.
Address: (home) 804 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y.; (business) 120 West 32d St., New York, N. Y.

AFTER leaving College in the spring of 1912, I immediately began an active participation in the political campaign then in progress as a Progressive. After the campaign I went to work for McClure's Magazine where I spent six months, at the end of which time I decided to go into daily newspaper work and got a job with The Globe (New York) for which I worked for about two years. In August, 1913, The Globe gave me a lay-off because the owners wanted to save money, and I went to Europe, with J. A. Cook, '13, bicycling through France and the continent. Returning in about six weeks, I found The Globe unable longer to dispense with my invaluable services. In May, 1914, I was assigned to cover the wedding of one of my cousins in Madrid, Spain. In February, 1915, I left the newspaper business because of eye trouble and worked for the Elizabethtown Water Company, Elizabeth, New Jersey. I took a small part in the organization of the first Plattsburg camp, which I attended in August, 1915.

I founded and edited American Defense, a monthly magazine devoted to the subject of preparedness, in November, 1915. At this time I also joined the First Aero Company, N. G. N. Y., and began to learn to fly at Mineola, Long Island. I was called to arms (cries of, whose arms?) at the time of Triennial last June but I never got any nearer to being a hero than Mineola, where I stayed until September. I was then thrown out of the flying corps on account of defective vision. I have an honorable discharge with the rank of Sergeant from the United States Army. I never knew I was in the United States Army until I got the discharge. Returning to business I found very little business to return to and decided to give all my assets to National Service, the magazine which the Military Training Camps Association was about to start. I then was hired by the Gardner Moffat Company to take charge of the editorial end of its magazine, Aviation and Aeronautical Engineering.

For the past four years I have averaged about 500 words sent to the printer daily, either for newspapers or magazines, practically none of which has been signed.

IN September, 1913, I went abroad, and for the four following months was attached to various departments of W. and J. Knox, Ltd., at Kilbirnie, Scotland, one of the large factories of the Linen Thread Company, Ltd., of Glasgow, Scotland. My work took me to other mills of the Company in England, Scotland, and Ireland, and my time was spent chiefly in the raw material departments of the various mills. In late January, 1914, I was sent to Belgium, and spent three months in Courtrai, the center of the flax industry in Flanders, and during this time made frequent trips to the cities and principal towns of Belgium and Holland, learning the methods of buying, selecting and judging flax in its various forms and types. I returned to the United States in the spring of 1914 and entered the raw material department of the Linen Thread Company, dividing my time between the Boston office and the mills of the Company in New Jersey, New York, and Massachusetts.

Due to the war breaking out in August, 1914, a second trip to the flax-producing countries abroad was impossible, and I therefore took up another branch of the Company's raw material department, and at the present time have complete charge of the buying of raw cotton for the three mills W. and J. Knox Net and Twine Company of Baltimore, Maryland, the R. W. Lord Company of West Kennebunk, Maine, and The American Net and Twine Company of Anniston, Alabama, with office, at 575 Atlantic Avenue, Boston.

On March 31, 1916, I was married in Medford to Lydia G. DeCamp, and in April took up legal and permanent residence in Hingham, Mass.

ONE week after graduation I started in the bond department of the Harris Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago. After a few months at "polishing brass," I was put into the municipal department, where for a year I did municipal investigation work and municipal buying. Then followed a few months as assistant to the Sales Manager (quite different from Assistant Sales Manager) and after that the "road." I travelled for a while in Kentucky and Tennessee and spent some time in Omaha and Kansas City. A year ago I was given the state of Wisconsin as my "permanent" territory. In spite of hotel food I'm "happy and well."

Occupation: With New England Telephone & Telegraph Company.
Address: (home) 30 Brooks St., Maynard, Mass.; (business) 25 Allerton St., Roxbury, Mass.

LEFT College in May, 1914, shortly after recovering from the scarlet fever with its incidental six weeks of solitary confinement with a lovely (?) nurse in Stillman Infirmary.

Since that time I have directed my efforts toward wrenching sustenance from the coffers of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, as supervising clerk of conduit construction. Outside of this diurnal struggle with the H. C. L. my routine has been unbroken except for the Big Commotion in June, 1916, the memorable Triennial.

Am writing this on the date of the Declaration of the War of 1917. Here's hoping the dark days to come will have passed into history by the time the 1913 Sexennial comes around, and that we'll all be back for the next real Reunion.

LIKE the majority of my classmates, I stepped forth from College full of vigor, youth, and fight. I was going to conquer the world — but I went to Law School.

How unlike College is the Harvard Law School! Work and grind, grind and work, and see to it that you don't flunk; I did! Becoming discouraged, I set out to conquer New York City, but I found soon that New York was a cruel, heartless place, and that for me to lie down cold was an acknowledgment of unfitness, and rather than let it be said that I was a "quitter," I decided to go back to Law School and see it through.

Consequently, I went back to the law "factory," finished in June, 1916, and went into the law offices of Horblet and Wasserman, where I may be found to this very day. I have passed the bar examinations and have been admitted to the practice of law. If my little story teaches anything at all, it certainly does teach one to "stick to it." I have learned much since June, 1913, and may we all live to learn, "so that we may die," as the old biblical scholars put it, "wise fools."

Occupation: Export and Import Business.
Address: (home) 118 East 39th St., New York, N. Y.; (business) 82 Beaver St., New York, N. Y.

THE first five months after graduation I spent as a gentleman of leisure, enjoying life and doing nothing useful whatever. This ceased at Thanksgiving, when I began work with Brown Brothers and Company, of New York. At the outbreak of the war I was holding down a desk in the travelers credit department, probably one of the busiest and most frenzied places in the city, under the circumstances.

In March, 1916, I enlisted in the First Motor Battery, N. G. N. Y., at its formation, attended the provisional company training camp at Peekskill in June, and returned just in time to be called out in the mobilization of June 19th. The Battery thereupon spent eight weeks in service, mostly in camp, but was not sent to the Border.

Three months later I left Brown Brothers and Company, and in January of this year became connected with the exporting and importing house of C. N. Volckmann and Company, Inc. Such are the chief features of a very pleasant three years.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of New York City and First Motor Battery, N. G. N. Y.

CHARLES SCHWEINFURTH

Born at Brookline, Mass., April 13, 1890.
Parents: Julius Adolph, Fannie (Bellows) Schweinfurth.
School: Brookline High School, Brookline, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913 (1914).
Unmarried.
Occupation: Botanical Assistant.
Address: (home) 33 Main St., North Easton, Mass.; (business) Ames Botanical Laboratory, North Easton, Mass.

AFTER graduation I returned to the Harvard Graduate School and took further courses in chemistry and education. A chance offering to gain teaching experience, I accepted a temporary supply position in the Searles High School at Great Barrington, Massachusetts.

Following this experience a year and a half ago, I went as laboratory assistant to Professor Oakes Ames in his private botanical laboratory at North Easton, Massachusetts. The scientific work entailed is largely the classification and identification of wild orchids from dried specimens, particularly the complex groups of tropical species, especially noteworthy being those of Borneo and the Philippines. In the identification of these plants, frequent reference is made to Latin, German, and French literature, all original descriptions of species being necessarily written in Latin.

Complementary to this work is the care of a large library, herbarium, and extensive card catalogue of all references to the orchid family.

Economic botany, or the study of useful plants, is the other chief interest of this laboratory, much time being given to preparing economic specimens for Professor Ames' class-room demonstrations, together with the occasional chemical work accompanying this study.

In these connections there is also considerable correspondence of a more or less wide nature, both domestic and foreign, while exchanges are carried on with most remote countries.

MEMBER: Association of Harvard Chemists, New England Botanical Club, Men's Club of St. Mark's (Episcopal) Church of North Easton, and Easton Club.

ERNEST GRANT SEIBERT

Born at Berwick, Pa., Nov. 25, 1884.
Parents: Albert Weston, Lydia Alice (Hosler) Seibert.
School: State Normal School, West Chester, Pa.
Years in College: 1909–11.
Married: Mildred Rice, Brooklyn, N. Y., May 5, 1916.
Occupation: Prosthetic Dentist and Dealer in Dental Supplies.
Address: (home) 609 Quincy Ave., Scranton, Pa.; (business) 201 Carter Bldg., Adams & Linden Sts., Scranton, Pa.

ENTERED College in 1909 with no money, very little preparation, and all my conditions to be removed. During the following two years I earned my own way, (receiving no assistance from the College by way of scholarships, loans, or employment) finished nine courses in addition to English A, and removed all conditions except two points in mathematics, which I was prepared to remove on my return the following year. My father, however, was stricken with paralysis in the summer of 1911 and I became the sole support of my people at home. In view of this additional responsibility and the fact that my health had not been very good the previous winter, I felt that I dared not venture on my third year's work in College. Since that time I have been trying hard to smother the greatest ambition of my life; that of finishing my college course and entering the study of law. With the advantage of previous experience in dentistry and not feeling that I could earn sufficient salary as an employee, I decided to go into business. I succeeded in borrowing some money and bought out a half interest in the Scranton Dental Laboratory, and then on the very day when my heart called me to again register at dear old Harvard with my classmates I found myself taking over my duties as junior partner in the firm of Hall and Seibert. For two and one-half years this partnership continued and I am glad to say that I made good. We then saw the advisability of going into the dental supply business in addition to our laboratory and we took in a third partner familiar with this work. We have formed a corporation known as the Scranton Dental Company, and we now have fourteen people in our employ. The next important event in my life was my marriage, a step which I highly recommend to every young man.

Though my friends here tell me I am very successful, I am sorry that I could not have finished my work at Harvard and followed the profession for which I believe I was called.

Address: (home) 469 Fourth St., South Boston, Mass.; (business) Room 16, Y. M. C. A. Bldg., Gary, Ind.

WHEN at last I was informed that I was educated in June, 1913, I immediately made plans to take up metallurgical work in Anaconda, Montana, but these plans were agreeably shattered when I was appointed to the Edward Dyer Scholarship in the Harvard Mining School. This entitled me to two years' work in the Graduate School, and I thoroughly enjoyed them, spending my spare time as a captain of the Boston Lacrosse team, and the summers as a leader in Brantwood Camp, Greenfield, New Hampshire.

In May, 1915, I was recommended to the position of metallographist in the Gary Works of the Illinois Steel Company, which is the largest and most modern mill of the United States Steel Corporation, in fact it is the largest mill of any description in the world, now holding the world's record for the largest steel production in one month.

After fifteen months of microscopic work in the metallurgical laboratory, I was appointed metallurgist in the Open Hearths, which position I now hold.

Gary, Indiana, where I live, is often called the "Magic City." It grew to a population of 60,000 in eight years, and is known all over the world on account of its modern methods and equipment, especially the so-called "Gary school system," and this system I can not praise too highly, as one of its most important constituents has just promised to travel life's paths with me.

BEGAN work at once, on finishing College work, with the Union Pacific System, as clerk in the office of the Comptroller. In August, 1914, I accepted a position as statistician for the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, being in the office of the General Superintendent. In August, 1915, I was made travelling statistician in the accounting department and remained in this capacity until November, 1916, when I was made special accountant. In January, 1917, I became chief clerk to the General Manager and with luck will remain in this capacity for some time. As to the rest of my life it has been uneventfully busy, with a little study, a little travelling, and much more than one man's share of happiness.

Address: (home) 6107 19th Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.; (business) c/o New York Telephone Co., 15 Dey St., New York, N. Y.

SINCE June, 1912, I have been following the profession of accountancy in New York City. In addition to my study at Harvard during my three undergraduate years, I have now completed the course in accountancy given by the Pace and Pace Institute of Accountancy in this city. I have been employed since the summer of 1912 as accountant in the organization of the Bell System of Telephone Companies, for the first two years with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and with the Eastern Group of Bell Telephone Companies to date in the capacity of staff accountant. I have accounting clientile who give me a public accounting practice of my own. The New York State degree of Certified Public Accountant is what I am now striving for to crown these activities.

The Boy Scout movement has interested me very much and I have participated in it to the extent of being a Scout Master and a Scout Troop Advisor.

Years in College: 1909–13.
Unmarried.

Occupation: Electrical Sales Engineer.
Address: (home) 33 Andrew Rd., Swampscott, Mass.; (business) 10 High St., Boston, Mass.

MOST of the first year after leaving College was spent in electric underground construction work for the C. H. Tenney Company, of Boston, Massachusetts. After the big fire in Salem, Massachusetts, on June 24–25, 1914, I spent several months in relief work and electric central station construction work. Following this work in my home town, I worked for six months in the construction of large transformers, generators, and locomotives for the Norfolk and Western Railroad in the shops of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company at East Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Three months following this construction work were spent in testing of large rotary converters, railway equipment and railway motors. I then spent three months studying sales promotion and selling methods of the internal departments of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company at East Pittsburgh. In September, 1915, I was transferred to the New England sales office of the above concern where I entered into the selling of electrical equipment to industrial plants of all description. In July, 1916, I was made special representative covering textile mills for sales of electrical equipment in the states of Rhode Island and eastern Connecticut, the position which I now hold.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of Boston, Harvard Club of Western Pennsylvania, National Electric Light Association (New England Section), and the Providence Engineering Society.

STUART PAUL SPEER

Born at Oil City, Pa., July 29, 1892.
Parents: Peter Moore, Isabella Agnes (Paul) Speer.
School: Oil City High School, Oil City, Pa.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Lawyer.
Address: 108 Cowell Ave., Oil City, Pa.

THE summer of 1913 I spent as counsellor in a boys' camp at East Boothbay, Maine. In September, I went to Lakeville, Connecticut, to become a member of the faculty of the Hotchkiss School, filling the position of tutor in Latin, French, and German. I had never intended to go into teaching permanently, and the following year, 1914, I returned to Cambridge, and entered the Law School, from which, if all goes well, I will be graduated in June. While in Law School I have been a member of the Harvard Legal Aid Bureau. My present intention is to practise law in New York City.

I have been for two years and a half a member of Company D, First Corps of Cadets, Massachusetts National Guard. We were not ordered to go to the Border last summer, and my only duty, outside of the usual routine, to date, has been to march in the Inaugural Parade, March 5, 1917, at Washington as part of the escort to Governor McCall.

TIMOTHY MATHER SPELMAN, 2d

Born at Brooklyn, N. Y., Jan. 21, 1891.

Degree: S.B. 1913.
Married: Leolyn Louise Everett, Willoughby, O., July 7, 1915.
Occupation: Musician.
Address: Philipse Manor, N. Y.

AFTER graduating in the Class of 1913 and receiving the Naumberg Fellowship in music I went to Europe and studied under Dr. Walter Courvoisier in Munich, remaining abroad until December, 1914. In December, 1915, my pantomime, "The Romance of the Rose," was produced in St. Paul under the auspices of the People's Institute, and I conducted three performances there and one in Minneapolis. In April, 1916, I gave a recital of my own compositions at the Punch and Judy Theatre, New York, playing and singing the entire program. I spent the summer of that year in California and since then have devoted my time entirely to composition.

Married: Rhea Welsh, Ada, O., Jan. 11, 1917.
Occupation: Farmer.
Address: (home) 419 Johnson St., Ada, O.; (business) McGuffey, O.

SHORTLY after leaving College I formed a partnership with my father in operating his hundred-acre onion farm. This was very profitable, and at the end of the first year my interest was transferred to another farm which my father and myself purchased. I am specializing in the growing of onions and hemp fiber.

Recently, considerable of my time has been occupied with the promotion of a hemp decolorating business, the factory for which we have recently established on the farm which I am managing.

HAROLD EDMUND STEARNS

Born at Barre, Mass., May 7, 1891.
Parents: Eugene Herbert (stepfather), Sarah Ella (Doyle) Nerhall Stearns.
School: Malden High School, Malden, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Journalist.
Address: (home) 112 Washington Pl., New York, N. Y.; (business) 1492 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

I HAVE been a journalist on various New York papers and magazines as regular writer and contributor since leaving College: Sun, Times, Globe, Press, Dramatic Mirror, Forum, Harper's Weekly, New Republic (regular contributor). I was in rather bad odor at College as author of "The Confessions of a Harvard Man," now happily forgotten. I should like to point out that this article was submitted to President Lowell and Dean Briggs before being published — assez! I was in France and England before and during the early part of war as correspondent on the labor movement. I occasionally write book reviews for The Boston Transcript.

Occupation: Lawyer.
Address: (home) 464 Marshall St., Milwaukee, Wis.; (business) 927 Wells Bldg., Milwaukee, Wis.

SINCE completing the course for my A.B. in 1912, I have spent my time as follows: 1912–13, Harvard Law School; 1913–14, University of Wisconsin Law School; 1914–15, University of Wisconsin Extension Division, field organizer, Milwaukee office; 1915–16, Harvard Law School. Since July, 1916, I have been with the law firm of Upham, Black, Russell and Richardson, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

DANA ALLEN STEELE

Born at Cincinnati, O., Nov. 25, 1891.
Parents: Frederic Lincoln, Alice Howitt (Allen) Steele.
Schools: Walnut Hills High School, and Franklin School, Cincinnati, O.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Secretary and Treasurer, The Fulton-Greuter Engineering Co.
Address: (home) 235 McCormick Pl., Mt. Auburn, Cincinnati, O.; (business) 6th Ave. & Baymiller St., Cincinnati, O.

WHEN June, 1913, came around I found that I did not have any very definite purpose in life, in fact was rather hazy as to what line of endeavor to tackle. In this frame of mind I spent half of the succeeding summer pleasantly at Camden, Maine, and the other half not so pleasantly, but more beneficially, as an instructor at the Engineering Camp at Squam Lake. September presented the same problem as had June. This time, however, I returned to Cincinnati and immediately got a job with the Fleischmann Company of this city, manufacturers and distributors of high grade compressed yeast and other kindred products. (Persons of slow but sound humor invariably congratulate employees of this firm on being in a rising business.) In diversified capacities I served here for about two years when I became interested in a proposition to develop, manufacture, and market a new carburetor for gasoline motors, particularly automobile motors. This led up to our forming the present company of which I am Secretary and Treasurer. This company has been running about eighteen months at present, and has succeeded in developing what promises to be the most powerful and efficient carburetor yet produced.

As a member of the University and Harvard Clubs of Cincinnati, I have served on several committees and am at present chorister and a director of the Harvard Club here.

As I am writing this brief report on the day that the lower house of Congress has declared this country to be in a state of war with Germany, I would like to be identified with those people who heartily approve of this move and are supporters of the propaganda for universal military training.

SAMUEL TAGART STEELE, Jr.

Born at Baltimore, Md., March 6, 1891.
Parents: Samuel Tagart, Mary (Thompson) Steele.
School: Marston's University School, Baltimore, Md.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Clergyman.
Address: (home) 20 West Madison St., Baltimore, Md.; (business) St. Clement's Clergy House, 2013 Appletree St., Philadelphia, Pa.

LEFT College February, 1913, and worked temporarily as helper in the office of the Secretary of the Equitable Mortgage and Trust Company, Baltimore, Maryland. In March, I accepted a position as Assistant Manager in the Baltimore office of Whitehouse and Company, of New York, stock brokers; and in September, 1913, entered the General Theological Seminary, New York City. I graduated from there in May, 1916, and was ordained deacon by Bishop Murray at the Pro-Cathedral in Baltimore on June 11. On June 18, I came into residence as one of the clergy of St. Clement's Church, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. The date for my ordination to the priesthood is set for June 11, 1917.

SOLOMON STEINBERG

Born at Boston, Mass., May 14, 1891.
Parents: Michael Steinberg, Rachael (Rosenberg) Steinberg Silverman.

School: Mechanic Arts High School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Degree: S.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Travelling Salesman.
Address: (home) 76 Waumbeck St., Roxbury, Mass.; (business) 612 Dexter Bldg., Boston, Mass.

UNTIL last May my life since graduation was very unsettled. My interest was centered mainly on getting properly placed in business. I was forced to drift from one occupation to another for almost four years, occupying only minor positions. For two years I was in the wholesale and the retail shoe business. I acted in the capacity of office manager in a relatively large clothing establishment for fifteen months in Boston. None of these occupations were congenial, nor did they pay at all well. Finally at the beginning of 1916 I started on the road, and in May, 1916, I connected with Louis Kreamer and Company, Reading, Pennsylvania, a large pant house, whom I am now representing as salesman in the New England states. My present position is entirely satisfactory, and I am earning a substantial living.

Last summer, unfortunately, I was taken down with infantile paralysis, and though I am recovering from the effects nicely, I am still lame.

I have done a bit of settlement work in New York City. I was a resident at the University Settlement for almost a year and did some successful boys' club work.

The future seems to hold forth much promise and I may be able to report more definite advancement in a few years.

Address: (home) 133 Bay State Rd., Boston, Mass.; (business) 87 Milk St., Boston, Mass.

AFTER taking my degree in June, 1913, I travelled abroad during that entire summer, visiting Spain, France, Italy, Austria, Germany, and England. In the fall of 1913, I took a position with Hayden, Stone and Company, and I have been with that investment house ever since. I am now associated with their bond department in the capacity of salesman. This business, like almost all others, I suppose, has been remarkably active during the year 1916.

I notice in the information blank which has been submitted me to fill out, that there is a space reserved for the name of my second wife. Personally, this makes me feel distinctly old. I think that the moral which should be drawn by all bachelors of the Class is to the effect that it is distinctly desirable to pick out the right girl without delay.

I LEFT College in 1912, in the fall of which year I entered the Harvard Law School. After spending three years there, I returned to my home town, where I immediately began the task of preparing for the final bar examinations of the state of Pennsylvania. I took these examinations in December of 1915. I was notified at the end of January, 1916, that I could practise law in Pennsylvania, and on the 28th day of February, 1916, I took the oath that gave me the right to accept clients.

I have been at it for a year now and I like it first rate. My income for the past twelve months can't compare with a novitiate's in the movie or baseball world, yet it has been enough, and I have a very hopeful future. The practice is intensely interesting to me, and at times I get the feeling that I am doing some positive and worth-while service.

GRADUATED in spring of 1913. Syd Guild and I raised potatoes and chickens that summer in Maine, and not being quite cured I took a short course in agriculture at Cornell; that effected the cure.

Spent summer of 1914 at Burlington, Vermont, at student military camp and then in the fall drifted to Technology.

After two years of civil engineering and spasmodic efforts on the track team, I spent the summer in the Connecticut Valley Logging and Driving Company camp at Connecticut Lake, and in the fall of 1916 accepted a living wage with the Riter Conley Manufacturing Company of Pittsburgh.

SAMUEL SPRING TALBOT

Born at Portland, Me., Feb. 12, 1891.
Parents: Thomas Lincoln, Alice Bradford (Spring) Talbot.
School: Middlesex School, Concord, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Married: Dorothea Dudley, Portland, Me., Oct. 4, 1915.
Child: Dudley, Aug. 22, 1916.
Occupation: Paper, Retail and Wholesale.
Address: (home) 28 Carleton St., Portland, Me.; (business) 16 Exchange St., Portland, Me.

ON leaving Cambridge in 1912, I spent that summer in gaining much-needed rest, and that fall went into the employ of the Canada Paper Company, Windsor Mills, Province of Quebec. After several months in that mill, I removed to the mill of S. D. Warren and Company, Westbrook, Maine, where I pursued the art of paper-making in grease and overalls. In different departments, I assisted that firm to prosperity until the late summer of 1914, when I moved to the Forest Paper Company's pulp mill at Yarmouth, Maine.

From there I transferred my skill early in 1915 to the interests of the Great Northern Paper Company, at Millinocket, Maine, where I remained far from the world until June of that year.

In that fatal month, I finally landed in the selling end of the business with Clement and Stockwell of Beekman Street, New York City. The following Labor Day, I became engaged to a most delightful companion and lady of character, whom I subsequently married October 4, 1915, and took to Flushing, Long Island.

We remained there until June, 1916, when we returned to Portland, Maine, and I once more bestowed my invaluable services, this time upon C. M. Rice Paper Company of Portland, where I still remain to date.

On August 22, 1916, we announced the birth of our son, Dudley, whom all will know some day as a presidential candidate or a son of such an illustrious father and mother.

I hold no positions of trust or honor as I wait for the people to seek me out.

JULIAN KIMBALL TEBBETTS

Born at North Adams, Mass., Nov. 20, 1891.
Parents: John Clough, Elizabeth Glover (Kimball) Tebbetts.
School: Hoosac School, Hoosick, N. Y.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Buyer, Leather Goods.
Address: (home) 1 Frost Terrace, Cambridge, Mass.; (business) 288 Fairfield Ave., Bridgeport, Conn.

UPON leaving the quietude of Cambridge, after examination for degree with distinction cum, laude in economics resulting, I entered the employ of R. H. Stearns and Company, of Boston, (June, 1913), where I had worked during vacations while in College. I started, with my coat off, sweeping out the receiving room and checking packages at the princely wage of eight dollars per week. I stood it for four weeks, and then told the manager, a magnate from Amherst, that I had to have ten dollars to live. I got that and a little responsibility thrown in. In three months I was shifted to the linen counter and subsequently sold cottons, linens, yard goods, and toys. Then I entered the tourists department and in six months was assistant buyer, purchasing most of the merchandise. I stayed in this capacity until after a very strenuous Christmas season of 1915 when I nearly had a nervous breakdown and had to take a vacation. I decided to go to Cuba with friends, for my mother was interested in some fruit lands in that fertile island. I sailed for Nuevitas January 29, 1916, and spent three delightful months in that happy land. I bought a good horse for thirty dollars and rode over sugar-cane fields and grapefruit groves, mountains and valleys, with the official photographer for the Cuba Central Railroad. I completely recovered my health and returned to Boston in April.

I then decided that as long as I had elected the mercantile business, I might as well learn it where it was conducted scientifically and according to modern-day methods, so I entered the employ of Wm. Filene's Sons and Company. To learn the system I worked in their research department, waist department, and merchandise manager's office, when I received a good offer from the Ambrose Luggage Shop of Bridgeport, Connecticut, to buy the merchandise and manage the store. I am at present located in Bridgeport and business is running nicely. I go over to New York to buy goods about every month and take in a show.

So far I have resisted the charms of the softer sex.

There seem to be few college men, except Yale men, here, but I have met Charlie Findlay, '12, who is doing a fine, noble work here as assistant rector of St. John's Episcopal Church and I am helping him out in church work.

I forgot to mention that I spent two weeks on the muster field at Framingham in the uniform of the First Corps Cadets.

In Massachusetts I was a rooter with the Young Republicans of Massachusetts but in Connecticut I don't vote.

Married: Helen May Breed, Lynn, Mass., Oct. 21, 1916.
Occupation: Experimental Engineer.
Address: 22 Monument Ave., Swampscott, Mass.

AFTER leaving College, I spent the summer for the most part automobile touring and in the fall entered the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, at which institution I was for one year a special student studying mechanical engineering. The next summer I took as a vacation, and in the late fall joined a new concern for the manufacture of electric automobile trucks. I was with this concern nearly two years as an assistant engineer, but, as the concern in that time had not yet passed the experimental stage, I left and went into some experimental work of my own at which I am now engaged.

Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913 (1914).
Unmarried.
Occupation: Medical Student.
Address: 12 Marshal St., Brookline, Mass.

THE summer after leaving College, 1913, I toured Europe. Returning in the fall I went to the Pilley's Island Hospital, Newfoundland, for the winter and spring. This is one of the Grenfell Hospitals and offers, as do the others, exceptional opportunities for young medical men. A young doctor there is, moreover, on his own responsibility, very much more so than in the others. There are many things which make the work not only valuable but also interesting; these are the people, the country in general and the many new experiences, such as riding in dog teams, visiting patients by motor boat in spring, etc. The people are extremely hospitable and always ready to have a chat with the doctor. In the fall of 1914 I started in at the Harvard Medical School, where I have been studying ever since. During the summer of 1916 I visited the Canadian Rockies, the Pacific Coast and Glacier Park. There is no doubt about it, America is worth seeing, and seeing first.

Years in College: 1909–10; 1911–13.
Degrees: A.B. 1913; A.M. 1915.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Instructor in Botany.
Address: Connecticut Agricultural College, Storrs, Conn.

MY first summer out of College was spent in Cambridge as an assistant at the Gray Herbarium. During the following academic year, 1913–14, I divided my energies between that assistantship and graduate work in botany. The summer of 1914 was spent in Newfoundland in an investigation of the mountain cranberry with a view to its cultivation. September saw me back in Cambridge, this time as an Austin Teaching Fellow in botany. At the end of the year I was offered the opportunity of coming to the Connecticut Agricultural College with E. W. Sinnott, '08, to share with him the work in botany. I have thoroughly enjoyed the work of the past two years. Although I should not care to remain here indefinitely, I have found the college singularly free from the diasdvantages of most small institutions, such as lack of opportunity for research. As an avocation I hold the job of organist at the College Church.

Married: Mae Sarles, Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 26, 1916.
Occupation: Minister.
Address: R. D., Warehouse Point, Connecticut.

FOLLOWING June, 1913, I spent a year and a quarter in connection with the Federal Department of Agriculture and the Rockefeller Sanitary Commission, producing educational motion pictures for extension work. In the employ of the Rockefeller Sanitary Commission I produced the first motion picture showing the life history of the hookworm, and methods of treatment. A good share of this film was made possible by the use of an ultra-microscope.

In October, 1914, I returned to Andover Theological Seminary where I graduated last June with a degree of S.T.B.

I was called to the pastorate of the First Congregational Church of East Windsor, Connecticut. My work began here in the middle of September, although I was not ordained and installed until December 7, 1916.

IN September, 1913, I was called to the University of Pennsylvania and here I have been since. During that summer and fall life seemed a bit fleetfooted for graduation came in June, my appointment in September, and marriage in October. But the life of a teacher and poet, of a lover of books, of so domestic an animal as I, is not particularly eventful or exciting and scarcely makes for interesting "biography." The thrill which one experiences when he discovers how little he has succeeded in teaching his students, and that which one experiences when his "inspired" verses return with the editor's rejection slip, become diluted by dint of repetition and leave one incapable of further excitement. Yet there still remain to him a good pipe, memories of Harvard days, comforting books, lovable housemates, and the capacity for growing tolerant and tolerable. In the direction of the last-named I am earnestly trying to direct my steps.

Address: 572 Andover St., Lowell, Mass.

AFTER leaving College in the summer of 1913, I entered market gardening as a business, going in with my brother under the general direction of my father. For two years and a half we continued the work of tilling one hundred acres of vegetables until the death of my father in December, 1915. Then my brother and I carried on the business with marked prosperity during 1916. But death claimed him in January, 1917, leaving me in charge of this large farm of two hundred acres. Everything looks bright for a prosperous future.

IN August following my graduation I went to work for Winslow and Company, a Boston wool house. In July of the following year I was transferred to the Daniel Green Felt Shoe Company as Treasurer, this concern being owned at that time by the same interests. I pursued this work until February, 1917. I am now with the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, in the bond department, working in their Boston office. The hardest work I have done has been my effort to get out this report started a year ago, and now brought to a successful conclusion by the Harvard Alumni Association.

I RETURNED to Harvard in the autumn of 1913, and in June, 1914, took the master's degree in English. The summer of 1914 I spent in England, Scotland, and Wales, and was in London in August when the war broke out. From that time until January, 1915, I was in England, for the most part studying at the British Museum in London. In January, 1915, I crossed to France. I was in Blois and Tours for three months, studying French, and spent two months in Paris where I attended lectures at the Sorbonne and College de France. In June I sailed from Bordeaux, was in the United States until October, and then sailed for Rotterdam, whence I went to Munich. I remained in Munich from October, 1915, to April, 1916, studying German and attending lectures at the University. From May to August I was matriculated at the University of Berlin. The first of August I attempted to go to Switzerland, was refused permission at Lindau on account of a new military order, and was obliged to return to Berlin. There I got permission to leave Germany via Denmark, went to Copenhagen the middle of August, and sailed from there for New York. From September, 1916, to the present time (March, 1917) I have been master of French and German at the Riverdale Country School in Riverdale-on-Hudson, New York City.

MY life since leaving College may be briefly told. It has been dominated by three strenuous endeavors: to pay up my College debts, to keep from falling in love, to find my life work. These are all inextricably mixed; so the regular chronological treatment will serve here.

Directly after leaving College I went for a week to the Northfield Conference, and there I got an inspiration. Then I went home and worked a year in the Norwood, Massachusetts, National Bank. This did not satisfy me, and in September, 1914, I secured a position as teacher in the Dexter School for Boys, Detroit, Michigan. Financial ill luck followed me to Detroit and made my first endeavor fruitless for a long time. A busy life made my second endeavor easier for a time. The third desire lay in abeyance during that first year of teaching.

It began, however, to come to life, for I soon became identified with two agencies of some importance. The first was the Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian Church, where I found friends and inspiration. The second was the Detroit Young Men's Christian Association, where I found both of these, and more, too, for the next year I became a teacher in the Detroit Technical Institute of the "Y", and the following year I became a teacher in the newly organized Hudson School for Boys, a branch of the Institute. On the side I studied law in the Detroit College of Law, but not to the exclusion of my aim, which is the ministry, preparation for foreign service.

This in brief is the story of my life. The debts are paid; I am not in love; my life work is resolved upon.

Unmarried.
Occupation: Attorney at Law.
Address: (home) 5 Morris St., East Boston, Mass.; (business) 73 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.

IN 1912 I received my degree. The next three years I spent at the Harvard Law School, graduating in 1915. In September of the same year I was admitted to the Massachusetts bar. I began the practice of law in the office of George H. Russ at 43 Tremont Street, Boston, where I remained until May 1, 1916. Now I am associated with Arturo De Filippo at 423 Tremont Building.

Since my graduation from College, I have been fairly active in the Young Men's Hebrew Association, having been the President of the local organization during the year of 1915 and 1916. A considerable part of my time was devoted to showing to foreigners the advantages of citizenship in this country. I have travelled throughout New England in my efforts to reach these people and I am now association director of naturalization of the Young Men's Hebrew Association.

MEMBER: Lord Beaconsfield Lodge, Independent Order Brith Abraham.

ROBERT GREENE VICKERY

Born at Boston, Mass., May 5, 1891.
Parents: Herman Frank, Abby (Davis) Vickery.
School: Noble and Greenough's School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Cotton Manufacturing.
Address: (home) 263 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.; (business) 70 Kilby St., Boston, Mass.

SPENT July and August, 1913, on a Western trip, most of the time near Puget Sound, Washington. Returned to Boston in September, and at once started work in the Farwell Cotton Mill at Lisbon, Maine. Remained there a year, going through the various departments in an effort "to learn the business." In September, 1914, moved to Lawrence, Massachusetts, and worked in the Farwell Bleachery. Stayed there until July, 1915, and then came to the Boston office of these two concerns, where I have since remained.

Attended a Plattsburg camp in August, 1915, and became sufficiently interested in military affairs to join Troop B the following winter, the result being a five months' trip to El Paso, Texas. Hope to see the militia system abolished, and compulsory military training take its place.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of Boston, Union Boat Club, Boston; The Young Republicans of Massachusetts.

RODERIC PAUL WADE

Born at Lima, Ind., Jan. 4, 1891.
Parents: Alfred Allen, Sarah Eliza (Hawk) Wade.

Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Teacher.
Address: (home) Howe, Ind.; (business) Howe School, Howe, Ind.

IN September, after my graduation from College, I accepted a position as instructor in English at Howe School, Howe, Indiana, and I have served here in that capacity since that time. At the end of my first year of teaching, I was appointed to the position of Registrar, which office I still hold. During the early months of the year 1915 I took the work of the first three degrees of Masonry in Howe Lodge 698, F. and A. M. Recently, too, I have become a non-resident member of the Harvard Club of Chicago.

MEMBER: Howe Lodge 698, F. and A. M., and Harvard Club of Chicago.

FRANK BROOKES WALLER

Born at Cooperstown, N. Y., July 2, 1890.
Parents: Frank, Almira Stone (Canning) Waller.
School: Morris Academy, Morristown, N. J.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Banking.
Address: (home) 27 Franklin St., Morristown, N.J.; (business) 22 William St., New York, N. Y.

AFTER leaving College in June, 1912, I began work with the firm of Smith, Hogg and Company, 115 Worth Street, New York City, wholesale cotton commission merchants. After a year and a half of various clerkships I left on account of ill health. After a short visit to Bermuda I returned to New York and joined the Clover Farms, Inc., wholesale milk distributors, as assistant manager of the milk station department. In that position I came in very close contact with the Department of Health in their fight for pure food and sanitary conditions. A change in ownership made it impossible to continue, and I took a position with the Farmers Loan and Trust Company, in June, 1916, two months after leaving the Clover Farms, Inc. I am now in the bond and mortgage department of the Trust Department of the above mentioned firm. My public duties are limited to local and New York City work in regard to the Hughes campaign.

MEMBER: Morristown Field Club, Whippany River Club, and Harvard Club of New York City.

JOHN GAYNOR WALSH

Born at Albany, N. Y., May 19, 1891.
Parents: Michael Francis, Margaret (Gaynor) Walsh.
Schools: Christian Brothers Academy, and Albany High School, Albany, N. Y.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Address: (home) 275 Madison Ave., Albany, N. Y.; (business) 2d District Public Service Commission, Albany, N. Y.

UPON leaving College I became associated with the Division of Capitalization of the Public Service Commission for the Second District of the State of New York. I have been engaged continuously since that time in the examination of the books, records, and affairs generally, of corporations subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, who apply for authority to issue securities for any of the purposes which may be done under the statute. In addition there has been occasion to make such examinations in connection with proposed increases in rates by companies subject to the Commission's regulation. At the present time there are slighlty more than one thousand corporations which must approach the Commission in connection with the above matters, the capitalization of such companies ranging from a minimum of $10,000 to an amount in excess of $1,000,000,000.

ANDREW WILLIAMS WELCH

Born at Boston, Mass., Nov. 30, 1890.
Parents: William Joseph, Annie Adeline (Williams) Welch.
School: Roxbury Latin School, Roxbury, Mass.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913 (1915).
Unmarried.
Occupation: Foreman.
Address: (home) 133 Blue Hill Ave., Roxbury, Mass.; (business) Center and Bickford Sts., Boston, Mass.

ON June 19, 1913, I faced the cru-el world without a degree, (due to failure in passing an entrance examination in plane geometry), all dressed up in my cap and gown, and no place to go. This deficiency, by the way, has long since been made up, and I have received from Terry, I mean the faculty, my degree for four short years of residence in Cambridge.

With farsightedness, born of a college education, I had not made any definite arrangements about my future work, and the following week resumed my duties of the previous summer at City Hall, Boston. This served as a gradual step-down to real work.

In the fall I gave up my lucrative, short-hours, position to take up a job with the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company, Manchester, New Hampshire, cotton and worsted manufacturers. I experienced many thrills heretofore denied me. I never had had occasion to arise and greet the morn at six A.M. On several occasions in the past I had found myself headed for home at that hour, but this other was wholly a new experience.

Diversions in this lazy and indolent life were varied. I have indulged myself with reckless abandon, accompanied by two other 1913 castaways, in many Young Men's Christian Association orgies and debauches.

The following September I came up for air, and it effected me in such a manner as to suffer a complete lapse of memory. Finding it impossible to recollect my former place of employment, I sought another position.

My second venture was in the purchasing department of the Thomas G. Plant Company, Boston. I have since been in their employ.

From June 19, last year, to November 8, I was with the Ninth Massachusetts mounted orderly section, at El Paso, Texas. I participated to some extent in the social life, being elected a member (along with other members of the Class) of the Del Norte Bar Club. I am patiently waiting for the exodus of winter, in order that I may be able once more to take a few swings at the old pill.

EDWIN SESSIONS WHEELER

Born at Brooklyn, N. Y., July 11, 1891.
Parents: Edwin Merriam, Clara Fisher (Sessions) Wheeler.
School: Washington School for Boys, Washington, D. C.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: S.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Assistant to Superintendent.
Address: (home) 173 Amity St., Brooklyn, N. Y.; (business) The International Nickel Co., Bayonne, N. J.

I RETURNED to College in the fall of 1913 and stayed until midyears of that college year. I then returned to Brooklyn and got a position as engineer on the construction work of the new Brooklyn Rapid Transit subway. I stayed there until the first of August, 1914. At that time, I went with the company I am now connected with, The International Nickel Company. My work here has been chiefly educational for the two and a half years that I have been here, though I have charge of most of the routine work of the department with which I am connected. I have also had charge of the work at the rolling mill to a great extent. About a year ago I was in the refinery to learn how the metal was refined and also to learn to know the laborers. I have been sent out of town several times to settle complaints, travelling through the Middle West for about two months. This fall I have been doing some work at the School of Mines, Columbia University, in connection with the work at the Nickel Company. My work at Bayonne has also included all the testing for the United States Government and also certain foreign governments, chiefly the English, French, Italian, Japanese, and Argentine. I have also done considerable research work for the company.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of New York City.

CHARLES WHITMORE WHITALL

Born at Geneva, Switzerland, June 7, 1890.
Parents: Thomas Wistar, Sarah (Whitmore) Whitall.
School: Choate School, Wallingford, Conn.
Years in College: 1909–13.
Degrees: A.B. 1913; S.M.E.E. 1916; S.B. (Mass. Inst. Tech.) 1915; S.M. (ibid.) 1916.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Research Assistant in Electrical Engineering.
Address: (home) 71 Larch Rd., Cambridge, Mass.; (business) Room 10–338, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Mass.

ON leaving College, I entered the course in electrical engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and took three years' work, the last year being an advanced course for the degree of Master of Science. This year I have been working as research assistant in electrical engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. My work consists of investigations into the mathematical theory of electric power transmission lines, telephone and telegraph lines. Most of this work, at least that relating to telephone and telegraph lines, is done in cooperation with the large telephone and telegraph companies, who keep numbers of investigators at work in the same general field.

At the Harvard Commencement exercises in 1916, I had the honor of being marshal for the candidates from Technology for the Harvard Master of Science degree.

Occupation: Medical Student.
Address: 151 Humboldt Ave., Roxbury, Mass.

AM finishing my work at the Harvard Medical School, which has kept me busy for the last four years excepting for the summer vacations. The first summer out of College I spent as Manager of the Mount Vernon Golf Club. The next summer (1914) was spent with the Massachusetts Highway Commission as an instrument man in one of their surveying parties. The summer of the year 1915 was spent at a United Fruit Company hospital in Quirigira, Guatemala, as a medical interne. Last summer, in addition to a month at the Haymarket Square Relief Station, I held the position of camp doctor at a boys' camp in New Hampshire.

My plans for the coming summer have not been formed definitely, but I begin a twenty months' medical service at the Boston City Hospital in November.

MEMBER: Boylston Medical Society.

THE log of an engineering history teacher who does his graduate work in a newspaper office so efficiently that the paper jumps to double its price and gains in circulation while his students send a stream of prayers to Heaven that over-work may kill him:

Because I hated mathematics more than the devil, I jumped into the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania as an engineer three days after leaving Cambridge. In a year I knew every pole and strand of wire by its first name, and they gave me charge of the girl operators. Many would have envied, but it left its enduring mark — I've never married. In December, 1914, I left by mutual consent. It had nearly killed me and almost ruined the Company. It actually had to issue bonds, presumably for my mistakes.

Enter the active reporter on an evening paper. Fires, murder, divorce, commencements, sporting expert, high-brow, drama, music, and the like, a giddy round of corroding dinners and stupefying speeches. They gave me Bill Taft to cover as a first job and the curse has held. I'm still there, still polluting the public mind, waiting for some of that subsidizing gold the press ought to get. There's no money but I have a stand-in with the cops and the booze is free.

Someone told me school teachers get long vacations so I plunged in; history and civics to an immigrant crowd whose idea of heaven is to grab the mitt of Louis Brandeis. Been there two years, teaching by morn, journalizing by night, and filling in afternoons and Saturdays pulling a master's degree at the University of Pennsylvania.

Working my head off in the winter, fall and spring, but, ah, in sultry summer months there's a nifty little sailboat by the sea, at Brigantine, New Jersey, where no one speaks of Ibsen, and even a soft collar is too dressed up. Nothing but me, the 'skeets and a boat, and whatever girls will dare the conventions to fry the festive egg.

The gods are ever with me, probably because I'm the only Harvard man who never tried to write a play. Never married, though perilously near once or twice; never converted, despite my covering Billy Sunday; never missing the four square meals a day. The bottom of the pocket-book's always in sight, but its never yet been inside out, stone dry. We hope it never will be.

Unmarried.
Occupation: Importing and Exporting.
Address: (home) 37 East 60th St., New York, N. Y.; (business) 50 Church St., New York, N. Y.

AT the end of the college year of 1913, after a short vacation, I entered the Turner Construction Company, a firm engaged in the construction of concrete commercial buildings. For seven months I lived at Quincy, Massachusetts, and after that at Brooklyn, New York, for four months. My work was chiefly that of surveying, the running of lines and grades, etc., in which the Squam Lake training came in most handy.

Leaving that line of work in the summer of 1914, I entered the real estate business, in the office of my brother, Charles E. Williams, '93. After two years I accepted a position in the chemical department of Frazar and Company, where I am now busily engaged. Our business is manufacturing, importing, exporting, largely along the lines of the rubber industry.

For two years I have been living at 37 East 60th Street, where I have a small bachelor apartment, two rooms and bath, but there is space for a big chair, plenty of books, and endless comfort. My favorite sport continues to be tennis, both indoor and outdoor.

IN June, 1912, I received from Harvard my degree of A.B. "as of 1913," and in the fall of 1912, I entered the employ of Brown, Durrell and Company, of Boston. In February of the following year I commenced the study of law at Columbia Law School and graduated from there in June, 1915, with the degree of LL.B. During my last year at Columbia Law School I was an editor of the Columbia Law Review. In December, 1915, I was admitted to the New York bar and have since then been practising law at 23 Liberty Street, New York City.

Years in College: 1909–13.
Degree: A.B. 1913.
Unmarried.
Occupation: Medical Student.
Address: 336 East Buchtel Ave., Akron, O.

ARMED with my degree from Harvard I went to Baltimore, Maryland, where I entered the medical department of Johns Hopkins University. After spending three arduous years studying medicine I learned that the pursuit of a medical knowledge is far less important that the attainment of good health. Hence it is that the present year finds me roaming the fastnesses of the Rockies and enjoying the sunny climate of southern California.

Occupation: Lawyer.
Address: (home) Readville, Mass.; (business) 60 State St., Boston, Mass.

I WENT through College in three years and then entered the Law School, where I was an editor of the Harvard Law Review. After graduation I entered the office of Ropes, Gray, Boyden and Perkins in Boston, but in February, 1916, obtained leave of absence and went to France, joining Section 2 of the American Ambulance at Verdun. In June I was put in command of the Section, but was called back by the mobilization of the militia, and spent four months at El Paso as a First Lieutenant in Troop B, First Massachusetts Cavalry. On our return I re-entered the law office.

MY activities since leaving College comprise earning a living — it requires more action than any other activity I have ever heard of and leaves no time for anything else. At present I am travelling through New Hampshire for the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, although I may be shifted to any part of the country at a moment's notice. I recommend the Firestone most highly and if you know of any college man who wants an opportunity as well as a job, let him write the Firestone Company or get in touch with me, and I will see what we can do for him.

ONE of the things I learned in College is that it is a mistake to finish the course in three years if the fourth year is to be spent away from Cambridge. That last year is really the most valuable one, but unless it is missed this fact is not brought home so forcibly.

When I left in 1912 to go to New York City, I was about as green as they make them, but was willing to learn and ready to be shown. The machine shops of R. Hoe and Company offered a good opening to gather experience. For a year jumper and overalls were my principal costume, but I got out of it all an experience which I shall never forget, an experience which brought me into contact with the workers in a way I never could have done in any other manner. I was then transferred to the office and for three years worked in different departments. For two years I was also supervisor of apprentices. This position brought with it the entire responsibility of about 125 apprentice boys in the shops.

A year ago I left R. Hoe and Company and have been floating a little, looking for the particular opening which I want. It has been found at last I think.

I expect to be married very shortly to Miss Gertrude F. Lewis.

Occupation: Cost Accountant.
Address: (home) 36 Kilsyth Rd., Brookline, Mass.; (business) Bird & Son, East Walpole, Mass.

AFTER spending the year 1913–14 at the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, I began work in the accounting department of Rice and Hutchins, Inc., at the home office in Boston. Six months later when the head book-keeper became manager of the Cleveland agency, I was appointed to his place. A year later, when Rice and Hutchins bought a sole leather tannery at Stoneham, I was given in addition the position of representative of the Treasurer at that tannery, with special regard to keeping the costs.

On December 1, 1916, I left the employ of Rice and Hutchins to become Head Cost Accountant for Bird and Son at East Walpole, Massachusetts.

Born at Cincinnati, O., July 8, 1891.
Parents: Lucien, Katharine Elizabeth (Roelker) Wulsin.
School: St. George's School, Newport, R. I.
Years in College: 1909–12.
Degrees: A.B. 1913 (1912); M.C.E. 1914 (1915).
Unmarried.
Occupation: Civil Engineer.
Address: Madison Rd., Cincinnati, O.

I RECEIVED my degree in 1912, as of 1913, and immediately entered the Graduate School of Applied Science, where I took the Civil Engineering course, getting through in 1914. In June, 1914, I went to Guadaloupe on a collecting trip for the Harvard University Museum of Comparative Zoölogy, with G. K. Noble, '17. I had just returned when the European war broke out, and instead of travelling peacefully across the Pacific en route for Borneo and Madagascar, to do some more collecting, I dropped everything to rush to Paris, where my mother was at that time. We travelled from Paris to London during the Battle of the Marne, with considerable difficulty. In October, 1914, I left London, via Cape Town, for Mombasa and British East Africa. There I cruised around the wilderness very comfortably, with a caravan, and engaged in making collections, until May, 1915, when I moved over to the French colony of Madagascar, and continued the same work. I came home in November, 1915, via the Suez Canal, considerably thinned by heat and exercise, and having had a very pleasant and successful trip.

After two months of vacation at home, I registered in the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences (February, 1916), and undertook to study zoölogy scientifically. I soon found out that I was much better fitted to run a caravan. Therefore, I departed in May, 1916, to the Federal Training Camp at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., and then went to work for the Allied Machine Company of America, 120 Broadway, New York. They sent me to Milwaukee and Cleveland, where I spent the summer working in machine shops. In September they attached me to their Paris office, 19 rue de Rocroy, Paris, where I worked until April 15 as an engineer and in various capacities. I resigned and came home at that time to join the army, and am now in an R. O. T. C. camp.

Unmarried.
Occupation: Principal.
Address: (home) 284 South St., Needham, Mass.; (business) 27 Park Ave., Stoughton, Mass.

WORKED at home on the farm all summer of 1913 and in the fall went to teach in Kentucky Military Institute, Lyndon, Kentucky. Experience very monotonous and deadening there, so gave it up at Christmas time and came North again. Procured another teaching position at Stoughton High School, Stoughton, Massachusetts, in February, 1914. Taught until March, 1915, and was made Principal then, which position I have now. Last summer I went to Plattsburg and spent a very stimulating and satisfactory summer. Am not particularly fond of the teaching profession, but trust that it may lead me eventually into something which will claim my interest more genuinely. The cause is very worthy, nevertheless.

Occupation: Public Accountant.
Address: (home) 259 West 92d St., New York, N. Y.; (business) 55 Wall St., New York, N. Y.

AFTER graduation in 1912, I entered the Harvard Business School, but because of illness lasting over a period of several months I did not receive my degree until June, 1915. I specialized in accountancy work and shortly after graduation from the Business School I became connected with Patterson, Teele and Dennis, public accountants, of New York City. In June, 1916, I accepted a position as office manager for the Westfield River Paper Company, Russell, Massachusetts, but in the fall decided to return to public accounting work so resigned in order to accept a position on the staff of M. and L. W. Scudder, certified public accountants of New York City, with whom I have since been connected.

AFTER leaving College, I went into the rubber business, starting with Diamond Rubber Company, of Akron, Ohio. I was later with Hood Rubber Company, of Watertown, Massachusetts, and Seamless Rubber Company of New Haven, Connecticut; in all, six years. During this time I travelled in all parts of North America as a salesman. This work broke down my health and made it necessary for me to remain in one place until I could regain my strength. The present writing finds me finishing a course in scientific agriculture, which I hope I may be able to follow in some capacity.

THE TRIENNIAL — 1916

TRIENNIAL COMMITTEES

H. B. GARDNER, Chairman	NEVIL FORD	R. B. BATCHELDER, Chairman

THE great Triennial movement just caused a stirring among certain far-sighted members of 1913 early in the fall of 1915. After distributing a calendar to let us know what year it was, our esteemed Class Committee appointed a committee of keen and altogether charming young men to act in their stead. This committee, laboring constantly, untiringly, succeeded without loss of eye or grave injury in publishing six numbers of The Baker's Dozen during the winter, thereby inflaming the Class with the Triennial lust, and notifying the Class of the following program for the reunion.

On Monday, June 19th, assemble at Young's Hotel at 9 A.M. to get costumes, etc.; 10 o'clock, march behind a band to Nantasket boat; 11 o'clock, sail to Nantasket; 12 o'clock, swimming at Nantasket beach; 1 o'clock, lunch at the Palm Garden in Paragon Park; afternoon, entertainments and sports in Paragon Park; 6 o'clock, supper in Palm Garden; 9 o'clock, sail for Boston.

Tuesday, June 20th, march to Stadium with other classes for exercises; evening, attend Class Day functions.

Wednesday, June 21st, 10 A.M., assemble on Soldiers' Field to compete with Class of 1910 in baseball, track, rowing, tennis, etc.; 12 o'clock, lunch at Hasty Pudding Club; 2 o'clock, Harvard–Yale Game; 7 o'clock, Class Dinner at Hotel Lenox.

Thursday, Commencement, lunch in Harvard Yard.

Friday, boat races at New London.

Saturday, home.

To resume the story — on Monday, June 19th, 1916, there assembled in Young's Hotel, Boston, 200-odd divers youths, clad in the scarlet blazer of '13. Such a crowd if placed end to end would go twenty times around the Young's Hotel bar, if the beer held out.

STARTING OFF

THE ONLY DISASTER

With a sound of martial music these 200 young heroes marched in flashing array to a palatial ocean — going, sea-trolley which conducted them over the bounding billows to Nantasket Beach. There, Ulysses-like, they defied the "sirens" while their noble and still distinguishable countenances were filmed for the education and delight of future generations. At this point occurred the only unfortunate incident of the whole gathering; the failure of Dougherty's attempt at suicide. Crazed by the sight of so much water, he leapt all at once into the ocean and sitting on the bottom composed himself for eternal sleep. Classmates, mistaking him for some strange aquatic animal, pulled him to shore where to the great relief of the disappointed crowd he soon went down for the third time in a mug of the brew. Refreshed, the Class returned to the Palm Garden for lunch, and the afternoon was spent in Paragon Park in the roguish sport of dancing, shooting, (clay pipes and drinks), etc., interrupted at times by the wrangling of Stitch Everts and Jim Donovan, who never can agree on anything except prohibition. After supper the tired heroes left the rocking shores of Nantasket and returned to town and bed.

Tuesday was spent attending the festivities of Class Day, at the Stadium and elsewhere, the unmarried classmates trying to find the "One Girl," and the married ones trying to dodge the One Wife.

Early Wednesday morning the athletes of the Class, composed of all members still moving, assembled on Soldiers' Field to combat 1910 in all outdoor games of sport and chance. Trainer H. B. Gardner, '13, soon had the 1910 athletes under control at his training keg, and 1913 walked off with baseball, crew, tennis, etc., all the events except the track meet, where our representatives were outrageously put off the track for going too fast. Late in the afternoon when the first 1910 sprinters finished they claimed to have won the meet. But 1913, after lunching at the Hasty Pudding Club, was then enjoying the victory of the Harvard Nine. That evening the Triennial closed with the Class Dinner at the Hotel Lenox, at which members of the Harvard and Yale Nines were our guests.

Thursday was Commencement and after lunch the hardier spirits went to New London, while the rest of us stayed in bed, explaining to anxious relatives what a great time we had had.

The success of the Triennial was due in the main to the careful planning of the entertainment committee, Gardner, Everett, and Ross. Through their efforts we were enabled to conduct the Triennial on the economical basis of $11.00 apiece for each man attending. So exact were their estimates that when all bills were paid the balance of receipts over expenses amounted to but a few cents.

The thanks of the Class are due these men, to Batchelder, who edited The Baker's Dozen, and to George Meyer, the chairman.
